Northeast's 125th: Campus to Celebrate First Classes on Sept. 2

On Sept. 2, 1867, Northeast's founder Joseph Baldwin opened the doors to his new school in Kirksville. There were five faculty members and 140 students present for the first day of classes.

On Wednesday (Sept. 2, 1992), a celebration to commemorate Northeast's opening will be held from 3:30 to 5 p.m. on the mall for the entire University community. All students, faculty and staff are invited to attend.

The festivities will include refreshments, entertainment and a short program, which will begin at 4 p.m. The program will feature remarks by President Warren, Student Senate President Joe Bamback, SAB President Eric Laverentz, and a reading by Jim Thomas, professor of English. The Student Activities Board will offer sno-cones and mini-golf on the mall as well.

ROTC Command Change

There will be a change of command ceremony on Sept. 3 at 4:15 p.m. at the Reiger Armory for incoming commander Maj. Dee C. Christensen. Christensen replaces Lt. Col. Ralph P. Cupelli, who will retire from the Army effective Oct. 1. He is now serving as assistant to the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Born in Alaska, Christensen attended New Mexico Military Institute. He received a bachelor's degree from the University of Washington in 1977 and a master's from the University of Southern California. Christensen has completed Infantry Officers' Basic and Advanced Courses, Airborne School, Combined Arms Services Staff School and Command and General Staff College.

His awards include the Meritorious Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Army Achievement Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Cupelli has served as head of the Division of Military Science at Northeast since July 1989. He earned a bachelor's degree from Ohio University in 1969 where he received a Regular Army Commission through ROTC, graduating as a Distinguished Military Student. He has a master's from Indiana University of Pennsylvania and is a graduate of the Infantry Officer Basic and Advanced Courses, Ranger School, Airborne School, and Command and General Staff College.

Cupelli's awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, Meritorious Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Army Commendation Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Air Medal, Combat Infantrymen's Badge, Ranger Tab, Parachutist Badge, and Army Staff ID Badge.

Gorman Receives National Leadership Award

Matt Gorman

Matt Gorman, a senior pre-medical/biology major from Downer's Grove, Ill., has been chosen as a recipient of a 1992 national Religious Heritage of America Youth Leader Award.

The Youth Leader Award is presented to collegiate leaders for their outstanding service and commitment to their churches, their schools and their communities who demonstrate in their daily lives the principles of honesty, integrity and religious values.

Gorman was selected from a pool of nationwide nominations. He will participate in a leadership conference and be honored Oct. 4 during Religious Heritage of America's 42nd Annual National Awards Program in Knoxville, Tenn.

At Northeast, Gorman is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and the Pre-Physicians Club, past president of the Catholic Newman Center, vice president of Phi Eta Sigma honorary scholastic fraternity. This past spring, he was chosen for the President's Leadership Experience, a two-day internship with President Warren.

Religious Heritage of America, founded in 1951, is a non-profit, interfaith organization. Throughout its 41-year history, RHA has recognized more than 600 individuals.

Kendall Named Tennis Coach

Pete Kendall, tennis coach for the past four years at Methodist College in Fayetteville, N.C., has been selected as the new men's and women's tennis coach at Northeast.

Kendall began his duties on Aug. 24, replacing Ramiro Azcui who resigned in early May to become assistant women's tennis coach at Indiana University and to pursue a doctorate. Azcui was the NMSU men's and women's tennis coach the past three seasons.

In addition to his coaching duties at Methodist College, Kendall has been serving as an instructor, director of professional tennis management and a part-time assistant football coach on a volunteer basis.

While he was tennis coach at the North Carolina, his women's tennis teams won the Dixie Conference title each year and were ranked nationally in NCAA Division III. The men captured the conference team championship twice and were ranked nationally this year.

Before Kendall's arrival, Methodist College had never notched a men's or women's league title. He was named the conference Men's Coach of the Year twice and the Women's Coach of the Year three times.

From 1982-88, Kendall was a tennis specialist at Bahrain Sport Institute. While in Bahrain, he served as a technical supervisor and referee for several exhibitions, including one between Bjorn Borg and Vitas Gerulaitis. Kendall was ranked No. 1 in senior singles and doubles by the Bahrain Lawn Tennis Federation.

He was coach and manager of the Bahrain National Junior Tennis Team, which won six Persian Gulf Championships. Kendall was also director and referee of the Bahrain Open and Junior Open Tennis Tournaments.

Kendall has also held positions at William Penn College in Okaloosa, Iowa, and West Muskingum schools in Zanesville, Ohio.

He holds a bachelor's from William Penn and a master's from Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. Both degrees are in physical education. Kendall has done further graduate study in recreation at the University of Iowa.

Kendall indicated he was pleased and excited about coming to Northeast and returning to the Midwest.

"I'm looking forward to meeting the players and getting started with my new job," Kendall said. "Northeast has done well with their tennis programs, and I hope to continue this successful tradition."

Emergency Phones Installed on Campus

One of the 12 emergency phones installed on campus this summer.

During the summer 12 emergency phones were installed on campus. These "blue phones" have an auto dial feature which directly connects the line to Safety and Security.

The telephones were installed as a joint project of Physical Plant, Safety and Security and Telephone Services. They are designed to enhance safety on campus. Outdoor emergency telephones were selected which immediately connect the caller to Safety and Security and identify the location of the caller.

A group of students worked with members of Safety and Security to decide how the phones should work and where they should be located.

In the event of an emergency, the button on the phone needs only to be pressed and the caller is automatically connected to Safety and Security. Also, when the button is pressed a blue light at the top of the pole in which the phone is attached comes on.

Lisa Sprague, director of Safety and Security, indicated that this type of emergency phone system has been proven very effective on other campuses, including those at which she has worked.

"They're very effective on other campuses... I think they provide peace of mind," Sprague said.

Sprague said that every time an emergency phone is used Safety and Security must respond, so they strongly discourage prank calls.

"We are considering disciplinary action and criminal charges against those caught prank calling," Sprague said.

Dave Rector, director of Computer Services, said that he hopes people understand that these phones should be taken seriously.

"They're like fire alarms, they're designed for emergency assistance," Rector said. "You can't have people setting them off all the time because you won't be ready when an actual emergency occurs."

Former Student Senate president Amy Enderle expressed her approval of the new phone system.

"They're the fruit of constant communication between the student body and Safety and Security," Enderle said. "The result of common goals and concerns."

Counseling Program Receives Accreditation

Northeast has received accreditation from the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) for the graduate counseling program. Northeast is the first university in Missouri to receive such accreditation for its counseling program.

CACREP is a specialized accreditation body recognized by the Council on Post Secondary Accreditation and a corporate affiliate of the American Association for Counseling and Development. The organization has conferred accreditation to the following program areas in Northeast's Division of Social Science: Student Affairs Practice in Higher Education with a developmental emphasis, Community Counseling, and School Counseling.

Accredited status of the program assures Northeast students that they meet the standards put forth by the counseling profession. Northeast's counseling program includes a 48-credit hour curriculum and an extended internship experience. All candidates for the Master of Arts in Counseling degree complete 700 hours of clinical experiences.

Cable on Campus

Students living in the residence halls are now able to subscribe to cable television in their rooms as a result of a partnership with Post-Newsweek Cable Corp., Cablecom of Kirksville and the University. At no expense to Northeast, all residence hall rooms were wired for cable this summer.

The cable TV and video services available to students include a broad mix of entertainment, information and instructional channels. In addition to the 37 channels offered with the regular cable package, are six educational channels. Post-Newsweek is providing the hardware necessary to receive these additional services and is also assisting with the development of channels reserved for instructional use.

In addition to the traditional network and entertainment channels, Northeast receives The International Channel, Black Entertainment Television, The Learning Channel, Consumer News and Business Channel, SCOLA news channel, and Mind Extension University. Campus subscribers will also have access to C-Span 2, Telemundo (Spanish language), and a message channel.

Cablecom is also offering FM service to residence hall subscribers at no extra charge. Students must supply stereo equipment and splitters.

The cable package will cost $20 a month. There are additional charges for premium movie channels. Students interested in obtaining cable hook-up should fill out the sign-up sheets available in the residence halls and return them to their hall desks. During the first three weeks of September, there is no hook-up fee for hall residents.

Changes on Campus

The northeast and north central first floor wings of Missouri Hall have been under construction throughout the summer in order to prepare those areas for future office moves. The offices involved in the move are the Dean of Students, Assistant Dean of Students, Residential Living, Services for Individuals With Disabilities, and the International Student Office.

These moves are planned to take place in the next month due to the offices' need for expansion. However, Campus Planner Doug Winicker said this is an intermediate move.

The offices of Dean of Students/Residential Living in McClain Hall will be renovated and shared by the offices of Admissions and Vice President for Academic Affairs.

According to Gene Schneider, director of Physical Plant, the summer is their busiest time of the year.

"Summer is when we get most of our work done," Schneider said.

Schneider said that 28 percent of all residence hall rooms were painted this summer as well as all bathrooms in Missouri Hall. In addition, many of the corridors in the residence halls were painted.

All residence hall rooms had "peep-holes" installed in the doors. Schneider believes these will help cut down vandalism in the residence halls.

The Ryle Commons was created this summer which includes two volleyball courts, barbecue pits, and picnic tables; benches have been ordered.

Schneider said that these are some of the most visible changes that occurred over the summer. However, there were many other projects that were completed that may not be noticed by most students on campus.

"A big portion of what we do is repairing the damage that comes from usage,"

Schneider said. "A lot of what we do is unseen and unsung; not really noticed unless it hasn't been done."

For instance the facilities crew spent more than a month rebuilding bed frames, broken closets, and furniture. The sewage system for the boiler room was renovated and the steam line to Centennial Hall is in the process of being replaced. The steam line provides heat, hot water, and air conditioning to Centennial Hall. Also, every light in Missouri Hall was replaced with a new energy efficient system that uses only 1/3 the energy of the old one.

Schneider expressed pride in the facilities, housekeeping, and physical plant crews and explained that they are concerned with making these types of changes for the benefit of the students.

"I'm extremely proud of our crews," Schneider said.

Di Stefano to Chair Commission on Community

Maria Di Stefano, associate professor of physics, has been offered and accepted to chair the President's Commission on Community. Di Stefano replaces Seymour Patterson, who will be teaching in Botswana this year as a result of a Fulbright Award (see related story left). David Hartsfield, assistant professor of political science, will assume Di Stefano's place as a general member of the Commission.

The President's Commission on Community was formed last spring. The Commission will formally begin working in mid to late September. The 20-member Commission is made up of faculty, staff and students and two representatives from the local community. However, the group will welcome and seek out interested individuals from campus and the local community to assist with the Commission's efforts.

"I believe the Commission will help reinforce the fact that all of us are responsible for creating a climate for community on campus," said President Warren, "not just those asked to serve in an official capacity."

More than 475 faculty, staff and their families attended a welcome back picnic hosted by President Warren on Aug. 21 in Red Barn Park. The annual picnic was sponsored by the Human Resources Office. Pictured are Fran McKinney, international student adviser, and President Warren.

Patterson Receives Fulbright

Seymour Patterson, associate professor of economics, has been awarded a Fulbright Grant to lecture in Botswana.

Patterson is one of approximately 1,800 U.S. grantees who will travel abroad for the 1992 academic year under the Fulbright Program. Established in 1946 under Congressional legislation introduced by former Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the program is designed "to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries."

"They [Fulbright Program] give me enough time to do some research, to learn something about the country and Africa in general. This was the motivating reason for my applying for the Fulbright," Patterson said.

Under the Fulbright Program, some 5,000 grants are awarded each year to American students, teachers and scholars to study, teach and conduct research around the world, and to foreign nationals to engage in similar activities in the United States. Individuals are selected on the basis of academic and professional qualifications, plus their ability and willingness to share ideas and experiences with people of diverse cultures.

Patterson received a bachelor's degree in economics and business administration from Florida State University, a master's also in economics and business administration from the University of Oklahoma, and a doctorate in economics from the University of Oklahoma. In 1989, Patterson's textbook, The Microeconomics of Trade, was published by The Thomas Jefferson University Press at Northeast and distributed by University Publishing Associates of Lanham, Md. Patterson has taught at Northeast since 1980.

"Botswana turned out to be a good choice because it's fairly wealthy. It's a major exporter of diamonds," Patterson said. "There's a great deal of demand for goods and services and perhaps money to spend on those goods and services, it also free from malaria."

The program is administered by the U.S. Information Agency under policy guidelines established by the presidentially appointed J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board and in cooperation with a number of private organizations. Scholarships are awarded through open competition, with final selections made by the Foreign Scholarship Board. Thirty foreign governments share in the funding of these exchanges.

The U.S. Information Agency is an independent agency within the executive branch whose mission is to inform the people of other nations about American society and to provide opportunities for Americans to learn about the rest of the world.

"If I do some research, I can bring it back," Patterson said. "One of the things I'm thinking about is perhaps doing a monograph or a book."

The American Association of University Professors chapter at Northeast has been awarded a Konheim Award Travel Grant to assist the chapter in sending a delegate to the 1992 annual meeting.

Jim Barnes, professor of comparative literature, has had four poems accepted for publication. "In Cafe Hammadi" will appear in the fall 1993 issue of American Literary Review. "Bandstand," originally published in his 1989 book La Plata Cantata, will be anthologized in Everlasting Earth: Contemporary Writing from the Rural Midwest, scheduled for fall 1992 publication by the University of Minnesota Press. He recently gave a reading of his new work at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill. "At the Festival de Poesie" and "Meeting Susan S. at Musee de l'Orangerie," will be published in Artful Dodge, an international literary magazine based at Wooster College (Ohio). In addition, he has had three translations of poems by Dagmar Nick (German) and Claire-Sara Roux (French) accepted by the magazine. His poems and translations appeared in the summer 1992 issue devoted to "Poets and Translators."

Keith Blunt, science materials manager, and Elaine Scudder, chemical stockroom manager, were awarded Nalge Company Professional Training Fund Awards to attend the National Association of Scientific Material Managers annual conference in Valley Forge, Pa., Aug. 1-7. Only 10 awards were given this year. Scudder presented a program on "Problems in Running 'Small' School Labs and Stockrooms—Time, Space, and Money!!" at the conference.

Tom Bultman, assistant professor of biology, presented a paper titled "International Pollination of a Fungus by a Fly" at the Council for Undergraduate Research meeting at Hope College in Holland, Mich., June 10-13. The paper was co-authored by Allison Welch and Todd Bowdish, undergraduate biology majors. Bultman also co-authored a paper with Mike Tannenbaum, assistant professor of biology, "Developing a Focussed NSF-REU Proposal."

R. Paul Crabb, associate professor of music, recently had his edition of the first movement of Mozart's Regina coeli, K. 108/74d accepted for publication by Walton Music Corporation.

Lewis Hershey, assistant professor of business administration, has been retained by Austin Press as part of a development team for a new Marketing Principles Textbook. His responsibilities will include reviewing drafts of the text, planning and preparation of teaching strategies for inclusion in the supplement package. He has also been retained by Allyn and Bacon Publishers to edit and co-author the teaching supplement for their new principles of marketing textbook, Marketing Essentials by Schoell and

Notables

Guiltman Hershey also participated in a Virtual Reality demonstration sponsored by VREEM of Chicago, a virtual reality software developer for DOS-based personal computer systems. The demonstration was held during the Summer Educator's Conference of the American Marketing Association in Chicago Aug. 8-11.

Jerrold Hirsch, assistant professor of history, has been awarded a $750 Travel to Collections grant from the Division of Fellowships and Seminars of the National Endowment for the Humanities. Hirsch was also appointed to the Missouri Advisory Council on Historic Preservation by Gov. John Ashcroft on Aug. 3.

Ronald A. Knight, professor of mathematics, has been notified that his paper "Iterates of homeomorphisms of locally compact Hausdorff spaces" has been accepted for publication in the journal, Topology And Its Applications.

Huping Ling, assistant professor of history, presented a paper titled "They Were Also Gold Diggers: Chinese Women Students in the U.S." at the Ninth National Conference of the Association for Asian American Studies, May 28 - June 1, 1992.

Miles Lovelace, head of the Division of Education, delivered the commencement address at the International School in Stavanger, Norway this summer.

Capt. Paulette A. Mittelstedt, assistant professor of military science, was recently promoted to the rank of major in the United States Army.

Mary E. Mohs, associate professor of family sciences, was elected to full membership in the American Society for Clinical Nutrition, Inc. at the 1992 ASCN business meeting April 30 in Baltimore.

Northeast Missouri State University was represented at the Public Liberal Arts College Conference from June 20-23 by President Russell G. Warren and Jack Magruder, vice president of academic affairs. The gathering was designed to bring those colleges together that have been identified consistently in various nationally circulated books and news articles as "public ivies."

Craig Payne, instructor of language and literature, has had an article, "Natural Disasters and the Nature of Charity," accepted for publication in the St. Croix Review.

Barry Cole Poyner, assistant professor of communication, had essays on preaching published in the May issues of the Gospel Advocate and of The World Evangelist. He also had a book review of Roger Williams' God's Apostle of Advocacy: Biography and Rhetoric, published in the spring 1992 issue of The Southern Communication Journal. He presented a series of lectures in Jackson, La., July 17-19 on "David Lewis Phares: The First Graduate of the College of Louisiana."

Connie Rost, a sophomore English major, and John Comfort, a sophomore liberal arts and sciences major, have been named All-American Scholars by the United States Achievement Academy.

Mike Tannenbaum, assistant professor of biology, presented a paper titled "Spontaneous Daily Torpor in Peromyscus: Effects of Temperature and Testosterone Administration" at the 72nd Annual Meeting of the American Society of Mammalogists, held June 14-18 at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City. In addition, the paper was presented at the Council for Undergraduate Research meeting at Hope College in Holland, Mich., June 10-13. This paper was co-authored by alumna Kari Schmidt '91, who was a biology major. Tannenbaum also co-authored a paper with Barbara J. Klocke, biology graduate student, and L. Scott Ellis, associate professor of biology, titled "Aggregation and Lowering of Body Temperature as Overwintering Strategies in the Southern Flying Squirrel, Glaucomys volan."

Heidi Templeton, director of Public Relations, has been chosen for and is participating in the Leadership Missouri program. The program consists of seven sessions throughout the state. It is designed to train individuals in the functions and challenges that relate to the local community.

President Russell G. Warren was recently a guest on National Public Radio's live one-hour talk show "Talk of the Nation." President Warren, along with representatives from Northern Illinois University and Glassboro State College, discussed the potential benefits and drawbacks of a large versus a small institution. KMOX Radio in St. Louis provided the up-link to NPR's studios in Washington, D.C.

David Cratis Williams, assistant professor of speech communication, co-directed the sixth biennial Wake Forest University Agricultural Conference June 2-6 in Venice, Italy. The conference featured 25 papers by authors from 13 countries on the theme of "The Role of Argumentation in Democratic Social Change." A proceedings is planned.
