

"New Discoveries at Bethsaida"

presented by

Rami Arav
Student Union
Alumni Room
Monday, Nov. 6
8 p.m.

Artifacts will be on display in the Pickler Memorial Library from Nov. 6 until Nov. 27

See story on page 2.

Athletic Hall of Fame inductees named

Northeast will induct eight people into the University's Athletic Hall of Fame on Nov. 4.

Activities honoring the 1995 inductees will include halftime recognition during the Northeast football game at 1 p.m. with Emporia State University (Kan.). The game will be followed by a reception, banquet and induction ceremony hosted by the athletic department.

The reception will be held in the Quiet Lounge of the Student Union at 6 p.m. and the banquet and ceremony will be held in the Georgian Room at 7 p.m.

Reservations for the activities should be made by Oct. 31 with the Athletic Office, Pershing Building 213. Reserved seat tickets for the football game are $7, general admission tickets are $5 while senior citizen and student tickets are $3. Tickets for the banquet are $12.

A list of this year's inductees follows:

John Black served as chairman of the Northeast athletic committee for 21 years. He retired from the University in 1973 after serving as a member of the Science Division for 25 years. He has lived in California since 1983.

Teri (Steller) Clemens was a multi-sport athlete and team MVP in softball, field hockey and tennis during the mid-1970s at Northeast. Clemens was the University's 1978 Female Athlete of the Year. She is in her 11th year as volleyball coach at Washington University in St. Louis where she has a winning percentage of .880 and is a four-time Division III National Coach of the Year.

Richard Erzen was known as the "super sub" on two Northeast basketball teams that posted a cumulative record of 59-4 in the mid-1940s, captured conference titles and competed in the NAIA National Tournament. He retired in 1988 after a career as a public school and college teacher and administrator. He served as president of the College of Lake Country in Grayslake, Ill., from 1968-78.

Larry Johnsen was an all-conference defensive end on Northeast football teams in the mid-1960s. Johnsen was an assistant football coach for 11 years and head coach for eight seasons at Geneseo High School where he directed the team to a 4-A state title in 1982 and state runner-up in 1981. He is currently the assistant head football coach and defensive coordinator at Augustana College (Ill.).

Richard Otte was an all-America football wide receiver in the early 1980s for Northeast. After finishing his career with the Bulldogs, Otte had free-agent tryouts with the St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. He is currently a district manager for Ozark National Life Insurance Co. and the INS Financial Services.

William Seman was an all-conference defensive tackle on Northeast football teams in the mid-1960s. Seman was drafted by the New York Giants of the NFL. He decided to play in the Canadian Football League, but a knee injury ended a brief career in the CFL. He is currently the manager of facility planning and development for the state of Illinois.

George Simmons was a four-time conference wrestling champion and a three-time national qualifier in the late 1960s at Northeast. Since 1971, Simmons has been a physical education instructor, industrial technologist and coach in the St. Louis Public School System. He is currently the head wrestling and football coach at Cleveland Junior Naval Academy.

Floyd Waddle earned all-America cross-country honors twice in the early 1960s for Northeast. Waddle also holds the school record for the two- and three-mile outdoor run. During the past 23 years, he has taught biology at Fayetteville State University. ☺

“Truman and the Atomic Bomb” debate to be held

A forum on “Truman and the Atomic Bomb” will be held on Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the SUB Activities Room. The forum is sponsored by the Divisions of Language and Literature and Social Science and the Northeast Development Fund. It is free and open to the public.

The forum will feature a debate between two noted scholars, Martin Sherwin and Robert Newman, and will be moderated by John Hart, director of debate at Northeast. A question-and-answer period will follow the forum.

Hart noted that, given the University’s upcoming name change to Truman State University and the 50th anniversary of World War II, the forum topic was timely.

“I think there is considerable interest in having experts discuss this event. I expect the discussion will be lively,” Hart said.

Sherwin is a professor of history at Tufts University and the founding director of Tufts’ Nuclear Age History and Humanities Center. He is the former director of Dartmouth College’s John Sloan Dickey Center for International Understanding.

Sherwin is the author of A World Destroyed: The Atomic Bomb and the Grand Alliance, which was the runner-up for the 1976 Pulitzer Prize.

Newman is a professor of communication studies and a scholar at the University of Iowa’s Obermann Center for Advanced Studies. He has an Oxford University degree in philosophy, politics and economics. He attended Northeast Missouri State Teachers College from 1939-1941.

Newman is the author of Owen Lattimore and the “Loss” of China, which was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize in 1992. His latest book, Truman and the Hiroshima Cult, was published this year by Michigan State University Press. ☛

David Spade to perform Nov. 4

Comedien

David Spade will perform at 8 p.m. on Nov. 4 in Baldwin Auditorium. Spade is sponsored by the Student Activities Board (SAB).

Spade is best known for his work as a cast member on Saturday Night Live. For the past five years, he has developed memorable SNL characters such as Weekend Update’s Hollywood Minute reporter, one of the Gap girls and the “Ba-Bye” flight attendant.

Spade has also appeared on The Late Show with David Letterman, The Tonight Show and as a featured performer on HBO’s 13th Annual Young Comedians’ Special.

In 1991, he was named “Hot Stand-Up Comedian of the Year” by Rolling Stone magazine. Recently, he has been seen in the movie Tommy Boy with fellow SNL cast member Chris Farley.

Ann Oliver, SAB event chairperson, said SAB selected David Spade because, “For the price range budgeted, David Spade was a quality entertainer, who ranked high among Northeast students surveyed.”

Tickets for David Spade are $5 for Northeast students with an ID and $10 for the general public and are available in the SAB office. ☛

Arav to share Bethsaida discoveries

Renowned biblical archaeologist Rami Arav will once again visit the Northeast campus to offer an update on the Bethsaida excavation site.

Bethsaida is the fishing village on the Sea of Galilee where three of Christ’s apostles were born, as well as Macaah, one of King David’s wives. Historically, Bethsaida, which means “fisherman’s house,” is reputed to be the site of some of Christ’s teachings.

Arav’s lecture, “New Discoveries at Bethsaida,” will be presented in the Alumni Room of the Student Union on Monday, Nov. 6 at 8 p.m. Artifacts from the dig will be on display in the Pickler Memorial Library gallery beginning at 7 p.m., Nov. 6 until Nov. 27.

“The lecture will be an update of last year’s talk,” Paula Presley, associate editor of the Thomas Jefferson University Press, said.

Each year, Mark Appold, professor of theology and religion, and a group of Northeast students travel to Bethsaida for three weeks to participate in the excavation, which is a summer faculty-sponsored program through the Center for International Education Abroad. Last year’s excavators included Presley, who gathered information for the recently published book, Bethsaida, an explanation of the excavation project, which was edited by Arav along with Richard A. Freund.

The daily schedule at the Bethsaida site begins at 6:30 a.m. The volunteers dig the site until 12:30 p.m. since it is cooler. After breaking for lunch, the group then attends pottery reading classes in the afternoon. The group attends varied lectures in the evenings.

On the weekends, they would travel the Holy Land. Among other locations, they visited the Palestinian University of Bethlehem and went to Mount Sinai, where the prophet Moses received the Ten Commandments.

Appold says that he plans to visit Bethsaida for many years to come. “It has become a yearly experience for us. I plan to lead another group this summer,” he said.

Information meetings for anyone interested in going to Bethsaida next summer will be held on Nov. 14 and Dec. 12 at 5:30 p.m. in McClain Hall 212. “Only six or seven percent of the site has been excavated,” Appold commended. “Every summer, exciting new finds come to light.” ☛

Northeast Notables

Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority was awarded the crown of excellence during the annual Wilma Coleman Frost Leadership Development Institute held in Springfield, Mo. The crown of excellence is awarded annually to the chapter that best exemplifies the intellectual, physical, philanthropic and social involvement both on campus and in the community. The chapter also received the four-star chapter award, the all sport trophy and the officer efficiency award.

Adam Davis, assistant professor of English, was invited to give a series of talks on oral traditions, folklore and epic at the Cranbrook School in Detroit.

Matt Eichor, director of justice systems, was recently selected to serve as a review consultant by the American Council on Education's Program on Noncollegiate Sponsored Instruction (PONSI).

Sarah Hansen, head teacher at the Child Development Center and Beth Shreder, teacher at the Child Development Center, presented a workshop about CDC curriculum at the Midwest Association for the Education of Young Children.

Taj Hargey, assistant professor of African history, attended the recent foundation meeting of the Mid-American Alliance for African Studies (MAAAS) held at the University of Kansas. Northeast has become an original charter member of this new organization which has its permanent secretariat in Lawrence, Kan. MAAAS is dedicated to the promotion of African Studies between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains.

Karen Hirsch, deputy director of professional development, and Jerrold Hirsch, associate professor of history, published "Self-Defining Narratives: Disability Identity in the Postmodern Era," introduction to the special issue "Al Margen: La Historia de la Discapacidad," of Historia Y Fuente

Oral. Their article "Disability in the Family?: New Questions about the Southern Mill Village," appeared in the same issue. Karen Hirsch is also a founding member of the recently established Institute for Disability Studies at Saint Louis University. Karen Hirsch has been appointed to the Program Committee for the Oral History Association's 30th Anniversary meeting in Philadelphia.

David Hoffman, assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs, has been selected to receive the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA) Region IV-West Rising Star Award for New Professionals.

Rebecca Ems, Counselor Preparation Program graduate student, was selected to receive the NASPA Region IV-West Rising Star Award for Graduate Students.

Lonny Morrow, professor of special education, presented a paper titled "Student Perception of Nonverbal Behavior: What We See vs. What They See" at the First International Conference on Behavioral Disorders.

The Northeast Speech Team recently finished sixth at a tournament at Illinois State University. Tracy

Christeson finished first in communication analysis and third place overall. Christeson and Adam Swisher placed fifth in dramatic duo interpretation. Joshua Kelley was awarded fifth in novice prose interpretation. Northeast placed fourth overall at Longview Community College.

Christeson was a finalist in impromptu and extemporaneous speaking and placed third in communication analysis. Kelley and Christeson won third place in duo interpretation. Kelly Watson was awarded first place in communication analysis. Semifinalist awards went to John Bacevicius in prose interpretation and impromptu speaking and to Kelley and Swisher in poetry interpretation. Novice awards were presented to Bacevicius in impromptu speaking and Melissa Surber in extemporaneous speaking.

Paul Siskind, assistant professor of music, had his composition Antiphochrome, performed at the Society of Composers Regional Conference at Ohio University. Antiphochrome will also be performed by the Potsdam College Saxophone Ensemble.

Steve Smith, associate professor of math, recently completed a review of Partial Differential Equations which is a new graduate mathematics text by Robert McOwen from Prentice-Hall Publishing Co.

Ruth Towne, professor emeritus of history and dean emeritus of graduate studies, had an entry on Sen. William Joel Stone recently published in The United States in the First World War, An Encyclopedia.

Thomas Trimborn, associate professor of music, has had four reviews of recent recordings published in the fall issue of the Lincoln Herald. The recordings relating to Lincoln and the Civil War include "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too: A Collection of American Political Marches, Songs and Dirges" by the Chestnut Brass Company; "Portraits of Freedom by the Seattle Symphony" narrated by James Earl Jones; the original soundtrack of Gettysburg by Randy Edelman and a companion recording "More Songs and Music from Gettysburg" including authentic songs and music used in addition to the film's original score. He has also provided the original cover art for the current issues of the Missouri Music Educators Association Magazine.

Shannon Twenter, a sophomore, was recently elected to serve as the Missouri student at large representative at the 1995 Region 11 Association of College Unions-International Conference held in Lincoln, Neb. Twenter is a student assistant in the Campus Activities and Organization Center.

This Week

30 Monday

3:30 p.m.— Writing Center Open House, McClain Hall 303

7:30 p.m.— Scary stories, Ryle Hall main lounge; see Notes.

8 p.m.— Wind Symphony Concert, Baldwin Auditorium

— Project Alpha: Sexual Awareness, sponsored by Alpha Phi Alpha, Violette Hall 278

8:30 p.m.— Black vs. White; a comparison of Greek systems, Ryle Hall main lounge

31 Tuesday

6 p.m.— Trick or Treating, all residence halls

1 Wednesday

10 a.m.— Benefits Fair, SUB Activities Room

12:30 p.m.— Wednesday Lunch Series on Teaching Approaches, SUB Spanish Room

6:30 p.m.— Nursing Program Advisement Session, Barnett Hall 225; see Notes.

7 p.m.— The Great Debate: Should African-Americans receive reparations for slavery?, SUB Tangerine Room

2 Thursday

7 p.m.— Day of the Dead celebration, Violette Hall 270

7:29 p.m.— Real Life meet- ing, James Guffey speaking on "Mark 4: The Four Soils,"

SUB Tangerine Room
7:30 p.m.— Nunsense II, a Lyceum presentation, Baldwin Auditorium

3 Friday

1 p.m.— Philosophy and Religion Undergraduate Conference, SUB Alumni Room; also Nov. 4 at 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

6:30 & 9:30 p.m.— Dangerous Minds, Baldwin Auditorium, free with a student ID

9 p.m.— Friday Night Fever Dance, featuring the best of '70s music, SUB Down Under

10 p.m. & midnight— Clerks, Baldwin Hall Little Theatre, all seats $2; also Nov. 4 at midnight only.

4 Saturday

Students' Distinguished Scholar Day visit event

1 p.m.— Bulldog Football vs. Emporia State University

1:30 p.m.— Greek Development Conference, SUB Georgian Room
5:15, 7:30 & 9:45 p.m.— Belle Du Jour, Baldwin Hall

Little Theatre, all seats $2
8 p.m.— David Spade, Baldwin Auditorium; see story on page 2.

6 Monday

8 p.m.— Jazz Ensemble fall concert, Baldwin Auditorium will hold a pool tournament Nov. 4-5. Participants should register at the Games Room desk by Nov. 2.

Applications for the Ronald E. McNair Post-Baccalaureate achievement program applications must be received on or by Nov. 20 in Kirk Memorial 203. The program is designed to assist eligible Northeast students in their pursuit of doctoral degrees.

The National Science

Foundation is offering graduate research fellowships to college seniors, first-year graduate students and others who have completed a limited amount of graduate study in science, mathematics or engineering. The application deadline is Nov. 6.

Information is available in the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 103

Lambda Chi Alpha is coordinating a food drive through Nov. 4. Donations can be dropped off at the Lambda Chi Alpha house located at 908 S. Osteopathy.

Faculty, staff and families are invited to listen to scary stories in the Ryle Hall main lounge on Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

The College Consortium for International Studies will award a $1,000 scholarship for a student to participate in a CCIS program during the 1996 spring semester.

Nominees must have earned distinction in either scholarship leadership or service to their campus or wider community and also demonstrate financial need. Contact the Center for International Education Abroad Office in Kirk Building 120 by Nov. 3 at 5 p.m.

Omicron Delta Kappa applications are now available in the CAOC, Dean of Student Affairs Office, Kirk Building 112 and the President's Office, McClain 200. Applications and recommendation letters are due by 5 p.m. on Nov. 17 in the CAOC.

A workshop on how to create images for worldwide web pages and basic hypertext markup language will be held on Nov. 8 & 15 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the New Media Center computer lab in Pickler Memorial Library. Call 785-4545 to reserve a seat.

The University Career Center will hold a Career Break on Nov. 9 at 3:30 p.m. the topic will be "Careers in Student Affairs."

Steak 'N Shake, Inc. is collecting resumes through Oct. 30 at the University Career Center. Interviews will be held on Nov. 30.

Opportunities in a management trainee program are available to December 1995 graduates in all majors.

A special nursing program advisement session will be held on Nov. 1 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Barnett Hall 225. The session is open to freshmen interested in the nursing program and will include a short discussion on advisement issues and important concerns for freshman nursing majors. Faculty advisors will be present to help plan for course needs. Contact a nursing faculty advisor if you are unable to attend.

Commerce Bank is holding an open house for applicants to its management trainee program who are issued invitations. Interested students need to forward their resumes by Nov. 10. For more information contact the University Career Center.

An Evening on Education is the theme of this year's Phi Delta Kappa banquet; Sen. Joe Maxwell will be the featured speaker. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m., Nov. 14, in the SUB Georgian Room. Tickets are available for $10 from David Bethel, 785-7429, and David Clithero, 785-7432.

Northeast Notes

Call 785-7777 for weekly updates of events, movies, speakers, recitals, etc. held in Baldwin Auditorium. The Take Five Games Room