Informational Meeting Scheduled for Legislative Paid Internship Program

An informational meeting about the Missouri Government Internship Program will take place at 5:30 p.m. Sept. 28 in Baldwin Hall 100. Pizza will be provided.

The Missouri Government Internship Program offers a unique opportunity for students to intern at the Capitol in Jefferson City, Mo., with a public official, legislator or state agency during the spring 2007 semester. The internship, which is open to all majors, provides an inside look at state government.

The interns live in Jefferson City and receive a stipend of $2,500. Interns may earn up to 15 hours of credit.

All juniors and seniors are encouraged to apply. Applications are available online at http://career.truman.edu/student/internship/mogov_app.pdf.

For priority consideration, completed applications are due by Oct. 6 in McClain Hall 101. A screening committee will review the applications and interviews will be conducted Oct. 10-11 for the spring 2007 legislative internships.

Interested students can contact Candy Young at 785.4650 or Heidi Templeton at 785.4016 for more information.

Truman Alumnus to Present as Executive-in-Residence

Alumnus Charles H. (Chuck) Woods ('86, '95) will present as the Executive-in-Residence on Oct. 2 for the Division of Business and Accountancy. Woods will give two presentations, "The Firm and its Stakeholders - A Leadership Perspective - Customers" from 3:30-5 p.m. Oct. 2 in Violette Hall 1000, and "The Firm and its Stakeholders - A Leadership Perspective - Shareholders" from 7-8:30 p.m. Oct. 2 in the Student Union Building Activities Room.

Woods is director of Financial Planning and Analysis for Boeing Integrated Defense Systems. In this position he is responsible for the development of the Long-Range Business Plan, preparing financial forecasts, internal performance reporting, supporting external financial reporting and capital planning.

Woods previously served as the director of Supplier Management Finance Operations for Boeing Integrated Defense Systems, where he was responsible for the processes, systems, tools and skill development required to estimate, manage and analyze supplier costs, as well as providing business case analysis for supplier affordability improvements. Prior to this assignment, Woods was director of Financial Operations for Boeing Military Aircraft and Missile Systems in 2000.

Woods currently sits on the Truman State University Foundation Board of Directors. He gave the commencement address at Truman's Winter 2002 commencement.

Woods received his bachelor's degree from Truman State University, and a master's of business administration degree from Southern Illinois University. As the Boeing executive focal for Truman State University, Woods plays a key role in developing Boeing's relationship with Truman.

Woods and his wife, Sherri, have three children, Bryce, Ally and Justin, and reside in Hazelwood, Mo.

Truman Comprehensive Fund-Raising Campaign Advances to Feasibility Stage

Planning for Truman's first comprehensive fund-raising campaign has entered the feasibility stage, according to Mark Gambaiana, vice president for University Advancement.

This fall, the consulting firm Gonsler Gerber Tinker Stuhr of Naperville, Ill., will perform a campaign feasibility study as a precursor to launching Truman's campaign.

The study will test a series of proposed campaign priorities with Truman's top donor prospects, help establish a challenging but attainable goal, identify volunteer leadership, set a timeline and provide recommendations for campaign implementation. Much of this information will be obtained through personal interviews with Truman alumni and friends across the country.

A number of student-focused priorities will be part of the study. They include scholarships and resources to strengthen and expand student enrichment programs, such as study abroad, undergraduate research and internships. A distinguished speaker series and library enhancements will also be tested.

In addition, faculty development, university endowment, business and accountancy endowment, athletic programs and facility improvements, the planetarium and multi-media center, and annual unrestricted support for the divisions will also be validated as potential priorities.

The final campaign priorities will be determined based upon the response of Truman's top donor prospects through the study, and the campaign goal is expected to be in the range of $20 to $30 million.

During the past 12 months, a series of 22 focus group meetings were held on and off campus in preparation for the campaign, attended by nearly 625 constituents. The meetings were designed to gather ideas and feedback from various divisions and departments regarding key priorities and potential funding opportunities, and to introduce those objectives to key stakeholders. These findings, coupled with the strategic initiatives set forth from Truman's Master Plan, are forming the case for support.

The final report will be presented at the Truman State University Foundation's annual retreat in January 2007. At that time, the University will enter the campaign's "quiet phase" where leadership gifts are confirmed prior to the public announcement.

United Way Kickoff Fest Comes to Truman

Truman State University's United Way committee has announced that its Kickoff Fest campaign will take place from 4-6 p.m. Sept. 27 on the University Quadrangle.

All Truman students, faculty and staff are invited to attend. At the fest, student organizations will compete to raise funds in their self-decorated money jars. There will be live music from 5-6 p.m.

Forums for faculty and staff will be conducted Sept. 19-22. Forums will be held at the following times and locations: 2-2:30 p.m. Sept. 19, McClain Hall 212; 10-10:30 a.m. Sept. 20, Violette Hall 2451; 9-9:30 a.m. Sept. 21, Baldwin Hall 262; and 11-11:30 a.m.

Sept. 22, Magruder Hall 2007.

Faculty and staff are encouraged to attend one of the forums to learn more about the United Way, and to ask questions of the forum mediators. United Way pledge forms will be available for those interested in contributing to the United Way. Anyone who completes a pledge card at one of the forums will be eligible for a prize drawing, to be held at the end of each forum. Refreshments of punch and cookies will be provided.

Contact Teresa Heckert at 785.7530 for more information about the forums or about Truman's fund-raising drive for the United Way.

Dominic Armstrong to Perform Recital

7:30 p.m. • Sept. 28 • Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall
Admission is free. The recital will also feature Nancy Hueber, pianist and Adam Davis, narrator. They will be performing a program of songs by Johannes Brahms titled "Romanzen aus Tiecks Magelone," op. 33.

NOTABLES

A film by two Truman students will be premiered at the Iowa Composers Forum/Christian Fellowship of Art Music Composers joint conference later this month. The film, titled "Galactic Abomination" was created by filmmaker Jerry Jones, a junior English education major, and composer Adam Kalmbach, a junior music-liberal studies major. The premiere will take place Sept. 30 on the campus of Northwestern College in Orange City, Iowa.

Warren Gooch, professor of music, will have his original musical composition "MONODIES for cello and piano" performed at the 2006 Iowa Composers Forum/Christian Fellowship of Art Music Composers joint conference, on the campus of Northwestern College in Orange City, Iowa. The composition will be performed Sept. 30 by cellist Mira Frisch, assistant professor of music, and by Gooch (pianist). The composition was selected for performance from a nationwide juried call for scores.

James Turner, associate professor of accounting, attended the Balancing Environmental Health and Rural Economics meeting, sponsored by the University of Missouri's College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources, Aug. 31 in Moberly, Mo. Turner will serve on a citizen's committee to follow up on issues aired at the meeting.

World Premiere of Saxophone Composition to Take Place at Truman State University

Randall Smith, professor of saxophone at Truman State University, and the Truman Wind Symphony, Daniel Peterson conductor, will give the world premiere performance of "Fantasia for Alto Saxophone and Band" at 3 p.m. Sept. 30 in Baldwin Auditorium. The composition was written for Smith and the Wind Symphony by Eric Ewazen, professor of composition at the Juilliard School of Music.

Smith contacted Ewazen more than two years ago and asked him if he would write a piece for alto saxophone and band. Ewazen enthusiastically agreed to the commission and set a fee of $5,000. Smith and Truman's Advancement Office began a fund-raising campaign in July to cover the expense of the composition and the world premiere. Individuals and organizations who have already contributed at least $50 will have their names listed on the inside cover of the score. Thanks to the generous contributions of Smith's former students, colleagues, and friends, more than $4,000 has been raised to date. Contributions in the form of a check can be sent to the Advancement Office, McClain Hall 100, 100 E. Normal, Truman State University, Kirksville, MO 63501 with "Saxophone Fund" noted in the memo.

Ewazen was born in 1954 in Cleveland, Ohio. Receiving a B.M. at the Eastman School of Music, and M.M. and D.M.A. degrees from The Juilliard School, his teachers include Milton Babbitt, Samuel

Eric Ewazen

Adler, Warren Benson, Joseph Schwantner and Gunther Schuller. He is a recipient of numerous composition awards and prizes. His works have been commissioned and performed by many soloists, chamber ensembles and orchestras in the U.S. and overseas. Concerning Ewazen's compositional style, one author wrote in The Star Ledger - May 17, 1993: "But Mozart also lost out to Eric Ewazen, a composer on the faculty of The Juilliard School. He does not feel it is a 'sell-out' to write music which contains (gasp) triadic harmony and (double gasp) real melodies. Having taken such a 'populist' turn, he manipulates his materials so artfully, shows such an understanding of compositional development that not for one moment does his 'Quinter' pander."

Smith has taught at Truman for 19 years and has six other compositions dedicated to him. Supporting the creation of new music for the saxophone is an important goal of his life. Art music has been composed for centuries and continues to be composed for a variety of reasons, but often a performer commissions a composer to write a piece and the piece is then dedicated to that performer. The dedication on "Fantasia" reads "To Randall A. Smith, Saxophonist, and the Truman State University Wind Symphony, Daniel L. Peterson, Conductor."

The Truman Wind Symphony, Symphony Orchestra, Brass Choir, Brass Quintet, and faculty soloists will perform the Sept. 30 concert titled "The Music of Eric Ewazen" other compositions by Ewazen. The concert is free and the public is invited to this historic event. For questions contact Smith at 785.4440 or rsmith@truman.edu.
