NORTHEAST NOTES

Jim Barnes, Language and Literature, was included in a book review in the Aug. 24 edition of the New York Times. The review, about an anthology in which Barnes has a poem, read, "Thirty-three poems are presented in this year's anthology. It is almost unfair to not list all the poets, but the poems by Seamus Heaney, Bruce Weigl, Gerald Stern, Jorie Graham, Raphael Rudnick, Al Young, Jim Barnes, and Hayden Carruth are exceptional."

Edward Zeiser, Home Economics, is the first recipient of the Lois P. Knowles Scholarship from the University of Missouri-Columbia, where he is doing graduate work. The scholarship was awarded on the basis of contributions to the field of education.

Jerry Mayhew and Gary Sells recently had their article "Relationship of brachial pulse wave components and $\dot{V}O_{2max}$ to running performance" published in the Journal of Sports Medicine and Physical Fitness.

Marlow Ediger, Education, had his manuscript "Individually Guided Education" accepted for publication in the Journal of Education and Psychology.

Rhonda Barfield, Fine Arts, had an article titled "Playing the Waiting Game" published in the October issue of Clavier magazine, a monthly for piano teachers.

Nancy Kiger, Education, presented a program on using poetry units in the Title I reading class at the Great Plains International Reading Association Conference Sept. 27 in Bismarck, N.D. Maxine Lancaster, a former NMSU graduate student, helped with the presentation.

Janice Legg, Business, presented the program at the meeting of the Northeast Missouri Association of Educational Secretaries on Sept. 29 at Thousand Hills Park Restaurant.
