The full-time internship offers a hands-on opportunity for students to intern at the Capitol in Jefferson City, Mo., with a public official, legislator or state agency during the Spring 2013.

Applications are available online at career.truman.edu/Internships/mogovBrochure.asp.

For more information, contact Candy Young, professor of political science, at cyoung@truman.edu or Ralph Cupelli at rcupelli@truman.edu.

Music Festival Includes Original Works

The 2012 New Music Festival will offer the public a chance to hear the debut performances of original musical works at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 25 and from 1:30-3 p.m. Oct. 26 in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall.

The festival will feature two concerts. Both concerts will include performances of new works by award-winning guest composer Steven Snowden, Truman composers and other contemporary composers.

The Oct. 25 performance will showcase Snowden's newest composition "Tacoma Narrows" at 7:30 p.m. The piece was specially commissioned solely for the festival by Truman's chapters of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Sigma Alpha Iota. Inspired by a bridge collapse, "Tacoma Narrows" demonstrates a variety of percussion performance techniques and is intended to have both an aural and visual impact. In addition to the premiere performance, a variety of new instrumental and choral music will be presented by several of Truman's large ensembles.

The final day of the festival will include chamber music by Truman and outside composers as well as more music by Snowden.

Snowden is known for composing electronic, multimedia, dance and acoustic music. He is co-founder and director of the Fast Forward Austin new music organization and the 2012 Truman State-MACRO Composition Competition.

These events are free to the public. For further information, contact Warren Gooch at wgooch@truman.edu or 660.785.4429.

Additional information on the Music Department's guest composer is available at stevensnowden.com.

Applications Begin for National Truman Scholarship

The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation has announced the opening of this year's application cycle for its competitive national scholarship.

The mission of the Truman Scholarship Foundation is to find and recognize college juniors with exceptional leadership potential who are committed to careers in government, the nonprofit or advocacy sectors, education or elsewhere in the public service, and to provide them with financial support for graduate study, leadership training and fellowship with other students who are committed to making a difference through public service.

Last year Truman student Connor Stangler, an English and history double major, was awarded a national competitive scholarship of up to $30,000 from the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation.

Approximately 60-65 scholarships are awarded annually. For more information, visit truman.gov. The campus deadline is Dec. 3.

ITS Offers Banner Forms Training to Acclimate Users with the System

This fall Information Technology Services will offer monthly Banner training on "Banner Navigation Basics and Review" and "Running Reports in Banner" to all students, staff and faculty.

The navigation class is a review of the basics of accessing platforms in Banner, along with tips and tricks to using various forms and types while searching for information.

The reports class concentrates on the running and processing of report data into usable electronic format. This includes hands-on report running and importing delimited data into Excel.

Both classes are appropriate as an introduction for new users and a refresher for the occasional user.

To register for the classes, login to eventmanager.truman.edu and select "View Events or Register for an Event." From there, choose "Department is" from the drop down menu, "Information Technology Services" and complete by clicking "search."

Dress Sale Supports American Cancer Society

Tau Lambda Sigma (TLS) is hosting its semiannual dress sale Oct. 3. The sale will take place from 4:30-7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building Georgian Room A.

This is the fourth semester that TLS has conducted a dress drive. A former TLS fundraising chair proposed the idea as a way to raise money for the organization's philanthropy supporting the American Cancer Society. The organization has set a standing goal of raising $2,000 each year for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life.

Formal dresses are priced between $1-25.

Two years after its establishment, the dress sale continues to experience significant increases in campus awareness, according to Tricia Piccirillo, TLS fundraising chair.

"About 20-30 [TLS members] work together in different ways through donations, advertising and working at the event itself to make the dress sale a success," Piccirillo said.

Donations can still be made by contacting Piccirillo at tlp6622@truman.edu.

Fellowship Offers Path to Foreign Services Careers

The Pickering Fellowship is seeking highly motivated and academically excellent college juniors and graduating seniors or college graduates who have an interest in pursuing a foreign service career in the U.S. Department of State.

The program provides up to $40,000 per year for academic expenses and offers two options. The Undergraduate Fellowship covers the last year of undergraduate study and first year of graduate study, while the Graduate Fellowship funds the first and second year of graduate study. Both fellowships include two paid State Department summer internships, domestic and abroad, and access to the Pickering Fellows network.

Requirements include a minimum undergraduate GPA of 3.2 (4.0 scale) as well as United States citizenship. In order to apply as an undergraduate, students must achieve the equivalent of college junior status. Graduate applicants must be entering a two-year terminal master's degree program in the fall of the fellowship year.

Funded by the U.S. Department of State, the programs honor revered career ambassador Thomas R. Pickering. The goal of the programs is to attract outstanding students from all ethnic and social backgrounds who are dedicated to representing America's interests abroad. Women, members of minority groups historically underrepresented in the foreign service, and students with financial need are encouraged to apply to one of the two programs.

The Pickering Fellowship is part of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, which works to offer programs that cultivate talent and drive change in the nation's high-need fields.

Applications can be accessed online at www.drow.org/Pickering. The Graduate Fellowship submission deadline is Jan. 21, 2013 with all supporting documents due by Jan. 28, 2013. The Undergraduate Fellowship Application deadline is Feb. 7, 2013 with supporting documents due by Feb. 18, 2013.

Truman Today is a weekly publication of Truman State University for students, faculty and staff. Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. the Wednesday preceding Monday's publication. Entries should be submitted by sending an email to mls@truman.edu or by completing a Truman Today form available in the Public Relations Office, McClain Hall 202. The form may also be accessed online at trumanoday.truman.edu/submissionform.pdf. All submissions are subject to editing for clarity and style. Truman Today • Vol. 17 No. 6 • October 1, 2012

Students Eligible for $10,000 in Grants from Robert L. Gould Scholastic Award

Students of any major with innovative ideas about future investment tactics are encouraged to apply for the Robert L. Gould Scholastic Award by Dec. 3.

The 2012 topic of interest focuses on Generation Y, those born between 1977-1995, and its representation as the next generation of potential investors for financial services firms.

The essay should examine which types of strategies, technologies or influences are likely to move Generation Y from a generation of consumers to a generation of investors.

Grants will be awarded in the amounts of $10,000, $5,000 and $2,500 for first, second and third place respectively. Truman has been invited to submit up to three papers for consideration in the evaluation process.

The award is sponsored by DST Systems, Inc., of Kansas City. Papers may be submitted for review to Lana Dowell at ldowell@truman.edu.

NOTABLES

Muhammed Asadi, visiting assistant professor of sociology, just released his paper entitled "Capitalism's Social Graveyard" published in the Journal of International Critical Thought 2(3): 340-348.

Amber Johnson, professor of anthropology, travelled to the University of Connecticut in mid-September with alumnus Rudy Cesaretti (SOAN '12) to participate in a microworkshop on modeling prehistoric and historic agrarian carrying capacity.

Apply for the University Conduct Board

The Office of Citizenship and Community Standards (OCCS) is seeking motivated students to serve as student affiliates on the University Conduct Board.

The University Conduct Board hears cases of alleged misconduct to determine whether a student or student organization's behavior violates the Student Conduct Code, and if a violation is found, the imposition of sanctions.

The board is comprised of faculty, staff and student members. Student members would be expected to serve on the board for various hearings each semester as well as participating in various social justice and civic projects on campus.

The term of appointment is two years, therefore the OCCS is seeking sophomores or freshmen. This is a great opportunity for students to serve the University and improve their resumes.

The application to serve as a student member may be found at conduct.truman.edu. Applications are due by 5 p.m. Oct. 10 in the Student Union Building Room 1110.
