Educational Satellite Network Enhances Language Studies

The Educational Satellite Network (ESN) has added a new dimension to learning a foreign language at Northeast. Through ESN, Northeast receives foreign language broadcasts, which the Audio-Visual Department tapes for student viewing. Northeast was connected to ESN this summer.

"We'll be able to tape news broadcasts daily, so the students won't have to watch programs that are weeks old," Carol Race, director of Audio-Visual said.

Beginning this fall, students may watch the taped news broadcasts as well as educational programs and even soap operas in various languages. Cassette players with built-in screens, a recent addition in the Division of Language and Literature's language lab, make viewing possible.

With this new method of learning the language, it is hoped that students will spend more time in the lab and see how the language is actually used. Nine foreign languages are currently offered: Spanish, French, Russian, Latin, Japanese, Chinese, Greek, German and Hebrew.

"Besides just listening and speaking the language, students can also see it," said Thomas Capuano, assistant professor of foreign language. "They can associate emotions and expressions with words. . . The program makes you feel as if you are in the (foreign) country."

Robert Klein Headlines Homecoming '88

Comedian Robert Klein offers a lighter note to the 1988 NMSU Homecoming (Oct. 7-9). Klein will perform at 8 p.m. on Oct. 7 in Baldwin Auditorium. Tickets will be available at the Student Activities Board Office in the SUB.

Klein received his bachelor's degree from Alfred University in 1962. He attended Yale Drama School for a year, and in 1965, he became a member of the famous improvisational company, Second City. A year later, Klein returned to New York, and producer Mike Nichols chose him for a role in the Broadway musical, "Apple Tree."

Klein was cast in two more Broadway shows, and in 1970, he starred in "Comedy Tonight," the CBS replacement for Glen Campbell's show.

In 1973, Klein released his first album, Child of the Fifties, which won him a Grammy Award nomination for best comedy album of the year. In the same year, Klein performed in his first sold-out concert, The First Annual Robert Klein Reunion, at Carnegie Hall. He also received a Tony nomination and a Los Angeles Drama Critic's Circle Award for his Broadway performance in the musical "They're Playing Our Song."

Klein has been a guest and a host on

In the News

Northeast is one of only 314 of the nation's more than 3,000 institutions of higher education included in Peterson's Competitive Colleges 1988-89. This is the second consecutive year Northeast has been featured in the college guide.

Competitive Colleges presents informative data such as high school rank and test scores of freshmen, academic resources and special programs, percentage of applicants who were accepted and who enrolled, costs and financial aid, majors, sports offered, and sports scholarships for men and women.

Parents Day Scheduled for September 17

Parents Day will be held Sept. 17. Scheduled activities include the following sports events: Bulldog football vs. Emporia State, the Gardner Cup Soccer Classic, men's and women's cross country vs. Westminster College, and the Northeast Missouri (Volleyball) Classic.

Entertainment will be provided by comedian/magician Charles Greene III. Greene, who was named "Magician of the Year" this year and studied under Doug Henning, will perform from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. in Pershing Arena. He will also make a 7 p.m. presentation in Baldwin Auditorium.

Summer Commencement Speaker

Earl Dille, president of Union Electric Company of St. Louis, delivered the summer commencement address in Stokes Stadium on Aug. 12, 1988. The University conferred degrees upon more than 400 students.

Lyceum Series Features Author Maya Angelou

A presentation by author Maya Angelou on Sept. 15 will mark the beginning of the 1988-89 Lyceum Series at the University. Angelou's performance, which is co-sponsored by the Division of Language and Literature, will be held at 8 p.m. in Baldwin Auditorium.

A popular speaker on college campuses, Angelou may be most known for her best seller I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings, an autobiographical accounting of her youth. However, once on stage, Angelou fills her presentation with a wide array of talent. In addition to being a best-selling novelist, Angelou also has received acclaim as a singer, educator, dancer, author, historian, lecturer, actress, producer, editor, song writer and playwright. It is not unusual for her to lead off by singing a folk song.

In addition to I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings, Random House has published seven other best sellers by Angelou including Just Give Me a Cool Drink of Water 'fore I Diiie, Gather Together in My Name, Oh Pray My Wings Are Gonna Fit Me Well, Singin' and Swingin' and Gettin' Merry Like Christmas, And Still I Rise, The Heart of a Woman, and Shaker, Why Don't you Sing? All of her books have been reprinted in paperback.

Born in St. Louis, Angelou's interests have taken her to international locations. She studied dance with Pearl Primus in New York and was the lead dancer and sang the role of Ruby with the U.S. State Department-sponsored European touring company of "Porgy and Bess." The company toured 22 European countries and Africa during 1954 and 1955. Also, she taught modern dance at the Rome Opera House and conducted classes in modern dance technique in the Habima Theatre in Tel Aviv.

Angelou spent several years in Africa, serving as the associate editor of The Arab Observer in Cairo—the only English language news weekly in the Middle East, a freelance writer for The Ghanaian Times in Accra, assistant administrator of the School of Music and Drama at the University of Ghana, and a feature editor of The African Review in Accra.

In the '60s, at the request of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., she became the Northern Coordinator for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. She also served on Jimmy Carter's Presidential Commission for International Woman's Year (1978-79).

Although Angelou has just a high school education, she has received numerous honors from institutions of higher education such as the Chubb Fellowship from Yale, doctorates from Mills College, Lawrence University, Columbia College (Chicago) and Occidental College, and she holds the Reynolds Chair at Wake Forest University.

Free tickets for Angelou's presentation will be available Sept. 12-15 for students, faculty and staff at the Student Activities Board Office in the SUB and at the door.

Shoaff Named Graduate Dean

Susan Shoaff, associate professor of art, was recently named associate dean for graduate studies. She assumed responsibilities July 1. Shoaff replaced Ruth Towne, professor of history, who was appointed graduate dean in 1983. As associate graduate dean, Shoaff administers and coordinates eight University graduate programs.

Shoaff began teaching at NMSU in 1980. She received her bachelor's and master's from Florida State University and her doctorate from North Texas State University. Her professional affiliations include the Missouri Art Education Association and the College Art Association.

Shoaff was elected president-elect of the 400-member Missouri Art Education Association for 1988-89. She will serve as president from 1990-92.

The Tonight Show. He has appeared as a guest on Late Night With David Letterman and The Merv Griffin Show. He has also appeared in movies, on television and on HBO.

When Klein isn't busy making a movie, performing on Broadway or hosting a television show, he tours the country, appearing at colleges, universities and nightclubs.

President Charles McClain and Ann Howard, president of the Leadership Research Institute and 1988 Fall Leadership Conference keynote speaker, walk on campus before Howard's presentation. Howard spoke on "Liberal Arts Education: The Gateway to Leadership" on Sept. 1 in Baldwin Auditorium.

The Leadership Research Institute is a nonprofit organization dedicated to research on the selection and development of leaders and managers. Howard has also authored numerous journal articles and books dealing with career issues and management motivation.

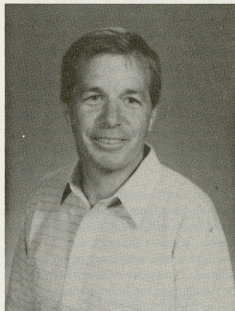

Lesseig Appointed Athletic Director

Samuel Lesseig, associate professor of mathematics and computer science and women's golf coach, became acting athletic director at the University on July 1.

Lesseig, a faculty member of the University since 1963, succeeded Kenneth Gardner, assistant professor of exercise science, who retired at the end of June. Gardner had been athletic director since 1974.

"The job certainly has some big challenges," Lesseig said. "But I believe my biggest challenges are coordinating the recruitment of student athletes and striving to make the University competitive in all sports."

Under Lesseig's direction, the University women's golf team finished third this past spring and fifth in 1987 at the National Golf Coaches Association National Division II Championships. Last fall, the Lady Bulldogs placed third at the National Small College Invitational.

Lesseig received his bachelor's from Fort Hays State (Kansas) and his master's from Kansas State University.

N O T A B L E S

Jim Barnes, professor of comparative literature, attended an international conference on the state of poetry, May 27-29, in Thonon-les-Bains, France. He also attended the Writers At Work Conference, May 15-18, at Park City, Utah. Barnes' poems, "Behind the Lumberyard" and "The Light Above the Store," appear in the 20th anniversary issue of Confrontation; and "After the Funeral" was accepted for publication by Poetry East. He also had an essay and a photograph accepted for publication in a new anthology, From the Heartlands, and a poem, "The Bombardier," accepted for publication in The Nation. "Four Choctaw Songs," translated into German, appears in a new German anthology, Auch Gras Hat Ein Lied. His long poem, "The Bombardier," appears in the current issue of Quarterly West and three translations from the poetry of Jean Tardieu (French) are included in the current issue of Prism International. In addition, his two original poems, "Going After the Milch Cow" and "Souvenirs," appear in the current issue of Hayden's Ferry Review, and his poem "Deer Camp: Blue Mountain" appears in the current issue of The Bloomsbury Review. Barnes' poem, "Night Letter to the Secretary of the Interior," appears in the current issue of Bamboo Ridge, and "Gawwodydys for a Fisher King," appears in the current issue of The Nebraska Review.

Irma Beets, director of Printing Services, received a certificate of recognition from UMR-ACUHO. Beets was cited for her outstanding support of residence halls through her work in Printing Services.

Roger Cody, professor of music, and his wife, Marcalene, an elementary music teacher in the Kirksville public schools, joined a delegation of 20 American music educators in China this summer. The Codys were invited by the Committee for International Friendship, a government unit of the People's Republic of China, to assist the Chinese in the study and preservation of the music of several minority populations in remote areas of the country.

Gerri Crabill, a senior French major, received one of the 1988 Joseph W. Yedlicka Scholarships. Crabill is a member of Iota Tau, the NMSU chapter of the French National Scholastic Honorary.

Clay H. Dawson, director of choral activities and chairman of the Voice Faculty, was selected the recipient of the Luther T. Spayde Award by the Missouri American Choral Directors Association. The award is presented in recognition of professional excellence and contribution to the choral art by the members of the Missouri ACDA, of which Dawson is immediate past-president. Spayde, in whose honor the award is given, was a member of the music faculty at Central Methodist College for 40 years.

Marlow Ediger, professor of education, was appointed to a three-year term with the Committee on Ethics in Education by the National Council for the Social Studies, an international organization for teachers of social studies. The Committee will have their first meeting at the NCSS convention Nov. 3, 1988 in Orlando, Fla. Ediger's manuscript, "Computers at the Crossroads," has been accepted for publication in Educational Technology. He also will speak on "Problem Solving in Science," at the National Science Teachers Association annual convention in Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 22.

Miles Lovelace, associate professor of education, has been selected to present a paper titled "Using Hollywood Movies to Teach Complex Theories of Administration" at the October conference in Chicago of the International Society for Encouraging Teaching Alternatives. The paper will subsequently be published in the Conference Proceedings of ISETA.

Betty McLane-Iles, assistant professor of French, and Lawrence Iles, British history research fellow of Washington University, gave a presentation at a meeting of the American Legion, titled "French Influences on the Present-day World."

David Parteneimer, assistant professor of English, had his article "American Teaching Internships and the German Vorbereitungsdiens" published in Educational Considerations (Spring 1988). He also had his short story,

"Hey Kid, Do You Want to Play" published in the Summer 1988 issue of the F.O.C. Review.

Charlotte Revelle, associate professor of family sciences, was among 1,300 home economists from 75 countries attending the XVI World Congress July 24-29 in Minneapolis. The Congress convenes every four years by the International Federation for Home Economics (IFHE), which maintains its headquarters in Paris. Speakers addressed the theme "Health For All: The Role of Home Economics." Topics ranged from family health to world concerns including AIDS, nutrition, health policy, alcohol and drug abuse, food supplies and health education. Delegates also were given tours of the University of Minnesota and other education and health facilities, visits in the homes of host families and a special entertainment program. IFHE chose its theme in support of the strategy of the World Health Organization (WHO) aimed at making essential health care available to everyone by the year 2000.

Helen B. Warren, assistant professor of communication, served as the respondent for a program titled "Competitive Papers in Gender Studies" April 7-10 at the Southern Speech Association Convention in Memphis, Tenn. Warren also presented a paper titled "The Absence of Women from the History of Rhetoric: Omission or Exclusion?" April 29 at the 1988 convention of the Eastern Communication Association in Baltimore, Md.

David C. Williams, assistant professor of speech communication, had his essay "Nuclear Criticism: In Pursuit of a 'Politically Enabling' Deconstructive Voice" included in a special issue of the Journal of the American Forensic Association, a journal devoted to argumentation and the Nuclear Age (Winter 1988).

Arnold Zuckerman, professor of history, had his paper "Disease and Ventilation in the Royal Navy: The Woodenship Years" included in the November 1987 issue of Eighteenth Century Life. The book is published tri-annually for the College of William and Mary by the Johns Hopkins University Press.

• The 1989-1990 competition for grants for graduate study abroad, offered under the Fulbright Program and by foreign governments, universities and private donors, will close on Oct. 31, 1988. Qualified graduate students may apply for one of the approximately 700 awards to more than 70 countries. Most of the grants provide round-trip transportation, tuition and maintenance for one academic year; a few provide international travel only, or a stipend intended as a partial grant-in-aid.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens and must generally hold a bachelor’s degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, should be proficient in the language of the host country. Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor’s degree, but must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Candidates in medicine must have an M.D. or equivalent (e.g. D.O., D.D.S.) at time of application. Application forms and further information for currently enrolled students may be obtained from the Fulbright Program Adviser Dean Terry Smith, A/H 204.

• The Kirkville Crisis Line will hold a new volunteer training program from 7-10 p.m., Sept. 12 and 13 in the SUB Tangerine Room. Kirkville Crisis Line is a listening and referral service operating shifts from 6-10 p.m. and 10 p.m.-2 a.m. daily. For more information call Alan Cogswell, Crisis Line director, at 665-5794 or 665-2331.
