

Who's Who announces Northeast inductees

Thirty-two Northeast students will be included in the 1995 edition of Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges. The students were selected as national outstanding leaders based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934. The 32 Northeast students join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,800 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. ☞

1995 Who's Who

Joshua Stephen Aldrich
Steven L. Baldwin
Kara Elizabeth Bickhem
Susan Carol Briggs
Jiawen Cao
Manuel N. Chavez
Lisa M. Clements
Rebecca Suzanne Ems
Mark Alex Grider
Paul William Grutter
Marque-Leigh Anne Hauptert
Jayne M. Hayton
Maisie Turnage Howard
Rachel Edna Humphrey
Kathy Renee Jenkins
Jennifer Lynn LaBundy
Tony C. Lai
Michele Elizabeth Lehmann
Brian Patrick Morton
Curtis Haden Oelschlaeger
Allyson Elaine Powers
Andrea Leigh Sollner
Kristi R. Stahlman
Renee Christine Steber
Libby Gail Stephens
Mark Oliver Taggart
Matthew S. Tomich
Christina Marie Van Kirk
Carman Nicole Visnich
Michelle Renee Weil
Bryan Jeffrey Williams
Teresa Lynn Wolff

Join the University community at a retirement reception for Fran McKinney and Jim Nevins 3-5 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1 SUB Alumni Room

University tops United Way goal

Andrea Sollner (on ladder) puts the final touches on the University's United Way goal total thermometer. Dennis Markeson (left), director of Morrison's Hospitality Group, presents a $1,000 check to Barb Espe, business academic adviser, and Jack Bowen, assistant professor of exercise science, that put Northeast over its $37,000 goal. Espe and Bowen served as the University's 1995 drive chairs.

Northeast's faculty, staff and students contributed more than $40,000 to the University's annual United Way drive. The drive yielded 109 percent of the goal set for the University community.

Sollner, a senior chemistry major from Lansing, Mich., led the United Way student drive to reach 101 percent of its $4,500 goal. ☞

Men's Cross-country Team takes third at Nationals

The men's cross-country team garnered a third place finish at the NCAA Division II national championship in Kearney, Neb., Nov. 19. The team was led by two All-American performances by junior Thad Bartram and sophomore Jeremy Struttmann.

This was the Bulldogs' second best finish ever at the national championships. In 1964, Northeast was runner-up in the NCAA College Division (which included Division II and III) national championships; Head Coach Ed Schneider was the individual winner of the race.

Bartram led the team with a 25th-place finish. Struttmann was 38th, and sophomore Mark Miller was 46th. Junior Jason Golonka and freshman Jason Schieck round out the top five for the 'Dogs placing 55th and 64th.

Bartram and Struttmann earned All-American honors by being among the top 25 American citizens to finish.

"It was an unbelievable performance," Schneider said. "They put in a special team effort, and that was very important."

Adams State College (Alamosa, Colo.) won the meet; this was the third consecutive year that the Indians have won the national meet. Western State College (Gunnison, Colo.) was second.

"I was really overwhelmed by their performance," Schneider said. "We were ranked 13th going in, and I guess we proved that anything can happen on a given day. We beat all the regional winners, except Adams State, and that says a lot." ☞

Northeast Notables

Jim Barnes, writer-in-residence, has a poem, "Accident at Three Mile Island," selected for inclusion in an anthology titled A Year in Verse, to be published by Random House in 1995. Barnes' poem, "Triolet for papa," was accepted for publication by the Southwest Review.

Brent Buckner, assistant professor of science, and Sharron Reeves have a manuscript titled "Viability of female gametophytes that possess deficiencies for the region of chromosome 6 containing the Y1 gene" accepted for publication in the peer-reviewed journal Maydica.

Paul Crabb, associate professor of fine arts, co-authored an article titled "Mozart's Music from Thamos, Konig in Agypten, a Heroic Drama in Five Acts" that was accepted for publication in the October issue of the American Choral Directors Association's Choral Journal.

David Conner, assistant professor of psychology, presented a paper titled "Bandura and Vygotsky: Similarities and Differences for Developmental Theories of Teaching and Learning" at the National Social Science Association meeting in New Orleans. The paper was co-authored by two psychology students Kathleen McCann and Angela Cochran.

Adam Davis, assistant professor of English, presented a talk, "Exploring Paradoxical Ideas of Womanhood in a Post Medieval Folk Motif" at the ninth annual International Congress on Medievalism, at Bozeman, Mont.; he also chaired the session on New Historicism. Davis also has an essay, "For The New Writing Teacher: The Generic Essay Discussion," that has been accepted for publication by the NCTE's Teaching English in the Two-Year College. Davis delivered a paper on oral semiotics of the 19th century American journalism and the fiction of Mark Twain at the Missouri folklore Society's Arrow Rock meeting. His essay "What Remains" has been accepted for publication by Northeast (Juniper Press).

Zach Dobbler, a senior sociology/anthropology and philosophy/religion major, won second place in the Ruth S. Voorhees Memorial Undergraduate Student Paper Competition. He received his award and $25 cash prize. His paper was titled "The Assessment of Zerstehen as an Empathy Neutral Method of Interpretive Understanding."

Roy Domenico, assistant professor of history, organized a panel on "Papal diplomacy in crises areas: the Middle East and Eastern Europe" for the American Political Science Association meeting in New York City on Sept. 1. He has also been commissioned to write a biographical chapter on Pope John Paul II for a guide to major Popes being assembled by Greenwood Press.

Cheryl Engber, assistant professor of language and literature, presented a paper titled "Problem-solving and the speaking-listening connection" at the Midwest Regional TESOL Conference held in St. Louis. TESOL is an international organization for teachers of English to speakers of other languages.

Warren Gooch, associate professor of music, was a guest composer at the 28th Indiana State University Contemporary Music Festival. His original composition "Alone" for tenor and piano was performed at the Midwest Composers Forum during the festival. Gooch also performed at the Wisconsin Alliance for Composers 10th Anniversary New Music Festival. "Alone" for tenor and soprano was heard at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. Gooch was heard at the national College Music Society conference in Savannah, Ga.

Taj Hargey, assistant professor of African history, presented a paper titled "Disclaimers and Denials: Colonial and Contemporary Slavery Policy in the Sudan" at the University of Oxford's International Symposium on Race, Ideology and Ethnicity in the Nile Valley. The conference was held in conjunction with the Institute of Social Anthropology and its proceedings are to be published by Oxford University Press.

Jerrold Hirsch, associate professor of history, was recently invited to present a paper at the "Folklore and the People," 50th Anniversary Conference of the New York Folklore Society in Troy, NY. Hirsch's paper was titled, "A Yorker by Preference, A Folklorist by Persuasion"; B.A. Botkin, Public (Folklore) Intellectual." It will be published in a forthcoming special issue of the New York Folklore Quarterly. Hirsch also was recently asked to review a manuscript submitted to American Quarterly, the journal of American Studies Association. Jerrold Hirsch and Karin Hirsch, assistant professor of education, presented a paper, "Disability in the Family?: New Questions About the Southern Mill Village" at the annual meeting of the Oral History Association in Albuquerque, N.M.

Jim Jereb, assistant professor of art, received second place awards for his works in the 15th annual National Juried Competition, sponsored by the Steamboat Springs Art Council, Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Kathryn Kuhlman, assistant professor of English, has been invited to facilitate a discussion focused on "Growth through Reflection" at the National Council of Teachers of English spring conference in Minneapolis. Her roundtable discussion will include the MAE Reflection Study which exists at NMSU as the capstone experience for the 16-week teaching internship.

Northeast Notables

Philip LeMasters, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, recently had a book review published in the Journal of Church and State. He reviewed "Ethics, Religion and the Good Society: New Directions in a Pluralistic World," edited by Joseph Runzo.

Ed McEndarfer, associate professor of fine arts, and Jim Jereb, associate professor of fine arts, displayed their work at Shawnee Missouri High School Gallery. The show was in conjunction with the Johnson County Arts and Humanities Council Gallery Tour titled "Hidden Treasures-Fine Art in Unexpected Places".

Betty McLane-Iles, associate professor of French, has been informed that her play, "The Last Duchess," will be published within the next few months by Minerva Press, a British publisher of modern literature and scholarship. A five-act history drama, "The Last Duchess" is based on the life of Anne of Brittany, the last sovereign ruler of Brittany before final conquest by France. McLane-Iles also has had her play manuscript "Ann De Bretagne" accepted for publication by Minerva Press. The play will be bound suitable for immediate performance in 1995. The play is based on the original Renaissance papers in the Paris Bibliotheque Nationale and British Library Collections.

Patricia A. Miller, head of Division of Education, has been chosen to serve as a consultant-evaluator for the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Emmanuel Nnadozie, associate professor of economics has an article titled "Causality Tests of Export-Led Growth: The Case of Mexico" accepted for publication in the Atlantic Economic Journal, vol. 23, No. 2, June 1995. This article is co-authored with his protegee, Mary McCarville, who obtained a master's in economics from University of Missouri Columbia after graduating from Northeast.

Sherri Addis Palmer, assistant professor of social science, and students Kim Kassman, Melissa Horton, Sarah Jaynes and Amy Dole presented a paper titled "Effects of Father Involvement on Infant Socioemotional and Cognitive Development," to the American Psychological Association Convention in Los Angeles.

Terry Palmer, assistant professor of psychology, and students Joshua McMichail and Eric Shandrowski presented a paper titled "Adult second language acquisition and visual imagery abilities" at the American Psychological Association convention in August 1994.

Dan Roberts, a senior criminal justice major, recently won first place in the Ruth S. Voorhees Memorial Undergraduate Student Paper Competition. Along with a certificate of achievement, he received $75. The title of his paper was "The Effect of Crime and Criminal Images on Perceptions of Harm and Sanction Preferences." Roberts' paper was written as part of the 1993-94 McNair Scholar Program.

Melissa Rose, associate professor of music performed "Stalking the Wild Metaphor" for solo piano at the National College Music Society conference.

George Shinn, associate professor of science, recently was elected president of the American Microscopical Society. He begins a term as president-elect in 1995, assumes the presidency in 1996, and then serves on the executive committee for two years. AMS is a major scientific society.

Steve Smith, associate professor of mathematics, along with Donald O'Regan, department of mathematics, University College-Galway, recently had an article titled "Maximum Principle for Continuous Age-Structured Populations with Unconstrained Harvest Rates" published in Dynamic Systems and Applications, vol. 3, No. 2, 1994.

Thomas Trimborn, associate professor of music, has his review of the recent St. Louis Symphony recording of Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait" published in the fall issue of the Lincoln Herald by Lincoln Memorial University Press, Harrogate, Tenn. He also guest conducted the Alton (Ill.) Municipal Band when that city re-enacted the Lincoln-Douglas debate which originally took place there in 1858. The event was broadcast live by C-SPAN.

David Cratis Williams, associate professor of speech and communication, has been appointed to the Publication Board of the American Forensic Association. He will serve a three-year term.

Dan Zimmer, director of intramurals, Fontaine Piper, professor of exercise science and director of Health and Exercise science, and Jerry Mayhew, professor of exercise Science, recently had their study titled "Effect of ball color on hitting performance by college softball players" published in Perceptual and Motor Skills.

The Northeast Missouri State University Debate Team finished first in two recent Missouri tournaments. Freshman David Gomez placed first in Cross Examination Debate Association, Lincoln Douglas Debate at the Show-Me Classic Debate Tournament, held at Central Missouri State University. Gomez also placed first at the Gateway Forensics Tournament, hosted by the University of Missouri-St. Louis. The Gateway is one of the largest debate tournaments in the country.

Northeast Notes

Residence halls and colleges will close for the fall semester Dec. 17 at 6 p.m. If students, faculty and staff living in the Kirksville community would be willing to provide space for a resident in case of a last minute emergency, they should contact the Residential Living Office at 785-4227, Kirk Building 112.

The Coro Midwestern Center is recruiting candidates for its Coro Fellows Program. This is a "highly, selective, graduate-level training program in public affairs." Each year 48 individuals are selected. College seniors and graduate students are eligible to apply to the Fellow Program. The nine-month program is offered in each of Coro's four centers, St. Louis, New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Applications for the Missouri Press Foundation journalism scholarships are now available in the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 103. Any junior, senior or graduate student enrolled in journalism courses is encouraged to apply. Applicants must also be Missouri residents.

Applications for Kirk Gym set dates for spring semester will be accepted in the Campus Activities and Organization Center beginning at 9 a.m. on Nov. 30.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City is offering internships to college juniors, seniors and graduates who have or are pursuing a business degree or liberal arts degree with a business emphasis. If interns perform well and demonstrate management potential, they will be considered for a professional staff position in the Bank's Management Development Program upon graduation from college. For more details call the University Career Center at 785-4353.

The St. Louis Career Fair will be held from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. and 2 - 5 p.m. on Nov. 30 at the St. Louis Airport Hilton. This opportunity is free to the public and will include many industry leaders. For more information call the University Career Center at 785-4353.

A speech communication colloquium will be presented by senior communication majors at 7 p.m., Dec. 5, in Baldwin Hall 218. The presentation will include performances, discussions of internships, media criticism and research.

Leading Palestinian scholar Shukri Abed will present three lectures on campus this week. Abed, who is employed at the U.S. State Department, is also a senior research fellow at the University of Maryland. Abed is also a Palestinian Arab Christian originally from the West Bank and is a Harvard-trained linguist and political scientist focusing on Middle East politics as well as the religion of Islam. See This Week for times and locations.

28 Monday

7:30 p.m.--"Animal Production and the New Social Ethic For Animals," SUB Alumni Room.

29 Tuesday

7:30 p.m.--Men's basketball vs. Hannibal-La Grange, Pershing Arena.

30 Wednesday

12:30 p.m.--"Iowa's lost plant diversity," biology seminar by Bill Pusateri, Science Hall 124.

3 - 5 p.m.--Student Affairs open house, first floor Kirk Building.

4:30 p.m.--"Chemical applications of inert gas plasmas," presented by David McCurdy, Science Hall 11.

7 p.m.--Greek Sister Day, sorority members will carol through the residence halls.

8 p.m.--The University Symphony Orchestra and the University String Orchestra joint concert, Baldwin Auditorium.

--"Non-Muslims in Islamic Society: Past and Present," presented by Shukri Abed, Ryle main lounge. See Notes.

9 p.m.--NEMO News, Channel 19; also Dec. 1.

1 Thursday

noon--Sigma Xi Seminar featuring John Martin, 1994 researcher of the year, Gutensohn Clinic, KCOM.

3:50 p.m.--Retirement reception for Fran McKinney and Jim Nevins, SUB Alumni Room.

3:30 p.m.--"The Current Middle East Situation: Problems and Prospects," presented by Shukri Abed, SUB Tangerine Room. See Notes.

7 and 9:30 p.m.--Natural Born Killers, a University Players movie, Baldwin Auditorium. All seats $2.

8:30 p.m.--The Urge, sponsored by SAB, Armory. Tickets are $2 with student ID and $4 general public.

2 Friday

11:30 a.m.--"Islam and Modernity: Reaction or Revolution?," presented by Shukri Abed, SUB Conference Room. See Notes.

7 and 9 p.m.--The Mask, an SAB movie, Baldwin Auditorium. Free to students.

Midnight--Natural Born Killers, a University Players movie, Kirk Gym. All seats $2.

3 Saturday

9 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.--Christmas Market, Ryle Hall main lounge. Proceeds go to Victim Support Services.

2, 4:30, 7 and 9:30 p.m.--Eat Drink Man Woman, a University Players movie, Baldwin Hall Little Theatre; also Dec. 4. All seats $2.

7 and 9 p.m.--The Client, an SAB movie, Baldwin Auditorium. Free to students.

4 Sunday

8 p.m.--Carrot Top, sponsored by SAB, Baldwin Auditorium. Tickets are $4.99 with student ID and $9.99, general public.

Northeast Today is published weekly on Mondays. Deadline for entries is 3 p.m. the Wednesday preceding Monday's publication. Entries should be submitted on the Northeast Today forms available in the Public Relations Office, McClain 106. All activities listed in Northeast Today are open to the public.