Kohlenberg Lyceum Series Presents Hubbard Street 2

The Kohlenberg Lyceum Series continues with the first performance of the semester, Hubbard Street 2, at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 27 in Baldwin Auditorium.

Hubbard Street 2 is a company of seven dancers between the ages of 17 and 25 who perform a repertoire of works by some of the nation's most promising young choreographers.

An offshoot of Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, Hubbard Street 2 has become a respected training ground for young, professional dancers and choreographers since its inception in 1997.

Hubbard Street 2 performances reflect influences ranging from ballet to hip-hop to improvisation, and feature full company work as well as more intimate pieces. Their performances strive to assemble an eclectic body of work, with an emphasis on new creation, in order to expose the audience and the performers to a wide variety of dance techniques.

In addition to several performances a year in Chicago, Hubbard Street 2 reaches more than 35,000 people annually through performances in schools, community centers and theaters throughout the country.

Lyceum tickets are free for all Truman students, faculty and staff. Starting Jan. 20, students may pick up their tickets from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Student Activities Board office in the Student Union Building.

Faculty and staff may pick up their tickets from 8:30 a.m.-8 p.m. Monday through Friday at the information desk in the Student Union Building. General admission tickets will be on sale at Edna Campbell's and the Truman Business Office, McClain Hall 105, for the costs of $7 for adults and $4 for those 18 and under.

For more information go online to <http://lyceum.truman.edu>.

Student Ambassadors Accepting Applications

The Student Ambassadors are a group of approximately 150 students whose goal is to promote Truman State University to prospective students and their families. Ambassadors are in charge of visiting with prospective students, giving tours of campus and assisting with visit events.

Student Ambassadors are responsible, energetic, and above all, sincere in their desire to relate all aspects of University life to prospective students and their families.

Applications are available now and can be picked up in the Admissions Office (McClain Hall 205) or downloaded at <http://admissions.truman.edu/ambassadors.asp>. Completed applications must be turned in no later than 5 p.m. Feb. 6. Interviews will be conducted Feb. 9-20.

For more information contact Jill Graves at jgraves@truman.edu.

Upward Bound Summer Employment at Truman

Upward Bound has open positions for residential mentors, night supervisor, photographer and chemistry/physics instructor.

Application packets will be reviewed beginning Feb. 3. Access application materials at <http://ub.truman.edu> or at Kirk Building 220.

May Interim China Opportunity

Fifteen MAE and pre-MAE students will have the opportunity to travel to Hong Kong and Shizhai in China's Guangdong Province during the May interim and earn three credit hours.

Students will engage in service-learning, assisting teachers and interacting with Chinese students in English and mathematics at the middle and high schools.

Led by Truman professors, the trip will introduce students to the history of China, and will include visits to museums, factories and private homes.

Interested students can attend the informational meeting. Bring passports to facilitate visa.

Student Research Conference Set for April 7

Truman will hold its 22nd annual Student Research Conference April 7. The Conference is a University-wide celebration of student research, scholarship, and creative achievement in all disciplines. All students are invited and encouraged to present their scholarly or creative work.

Abstract submission is required for all presentations and done online at <http://src.truman.edu>. A copy of the submitted information will be sent electronically to the student presenter's faculty mentor for approval. The deadline for submitting abstracts is Feb. 6.

This year has two major anniversaries for students to consider when submitting their applications. Both Abraham Lincoln and Charles Darwin were born 200 years ago.

In addition to the many student presentations, the day will feature a conference-wide plenary address delivered by Salima Ikram, professor of Egyptology at the American University of Cairo, and a world-renowned expert in mummies, both human and animal.

Scheduled classes will not formally meet during the day of the Conference, thereby providing the opportunity for all students and faculty members to attend and fully participate.

The Student Research Conference also honors those students who received Undergraduate Research/Scholarship Grants the previous year. Those students present at the Conference, and their papers/posters are highlighted as well as listed on a dedicated page within the program. The deadline for application for stipends for the 2009 summer program is fast approaching.

The University awards more than 40 of these grants every year, which provide students $2,000 to pursue investigative, creative and scholarly activities over the summer. These projects in past years have included a wide variety of original efforts directed toward the advancement of knowledge and understanding within all academic disciplines.

Grant projects should be original and should promote independent work by the student.

Students at all undergraduate levels are eligible, with the restriction being that students must be prepared to present the results at the Student Research Conference in the spring of 2010.

Guidelines are available at <http://provost.truman.edu/URSGuidelines2009.pdf>. A successful application from last year can be read at <http://research.truman.edu/Student%20Research%20Proposal.pdf>.

For questions about Undergraduate Research/Scholarship Grants or the Student Research Conference, contact Sara Orel, professor of Art, at 785.4419 or orel@truman.edu.

Students to Spend Summer Cycling Across America for Charity Fundraiser

This summer, Truman students Whitey Holt, Clement Warr and Shane Mulrooney will participate in a coast-to-coast cycling event to raise money for charity.

"Journey of Hope" is organized by Pi Kappa Phi's philanthropy Push America, a national not-for-profit dedicated to providing funding and volunteer labor to numerous establishments that assist people with physical and mental disabilities including R.A.I.L., which is a local Center for Independent Living that services Kirksville.

Each of the three students will be raising $5,000 for this opportunity, and anyone interested in contributing a tax deductible donation can visit their sponsor pages.

NOTABLES

Jim Barnes, professor emeritus of comparative literature and former Writer-in-Residence at Truman, was recently appointed Poet Laureate of Oklahoma. Barnes retired from Truman in 2003 after 33 years of service and was invited to serve as Distinguished Professor of English and Creative Writing at Brigham Young University for three years. During his tenure at Truman, he taught world literature and writing, and published eight books of poetry, a scholarly book and an autobiography, "On Native Ground" which won the American Book Award. While at Truman he inaugurated "The Chariton Review," a literary journal, and has edited it up to the present time. He continues to serve as poetry editor for Truman State University Press. He also represented the University in his travels to many parts of the world, including Japan, France and Germany. He has held several fellowships, including a Senior Fulbright to Switzerland, a National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship, two Rockefeller Bellagio Fellowships and two Camargo Fellowships. His most recent book of poetry, "Visiting Picasso" was published in 2007 by the University of Illinois Press. In January 2009, he was a special guest of the Poetry Week Festival in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico. Barnes and his wife, Cora McKown, make their home at the Flying M Ranch, east of Atoka, Oklahoma. More information is available at <http://www.jimbarnes.org>.

Michael R. Bump, associate professor of music, has been appointed as Principal Timpanist and Percussion Faculty for the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF) in Tennessee. This international festival, now in its 52nd season, brings together hundreds of professional and student musicians from all over the world for a five-week season of orchestral music. Bump's appointment was at the request of Maestro James Pauls, Artistic Director of SSMF and Music Director of the Oregon Coast and Grant Park (Chicago) Music Festivals. In 2005 Bump served a one-year appointment at SSMF with Maestros James Pauls and Victor Yampolsky, director of orchestras at Northwestern University. He now will be on permanent annual contract with the festival.

Jerrold Hirsch, professor of history, was cited in the Jan. 19 issue of Newsweek magazine. Hirsch's book, "Portrait of America: A Cultural History of the Federal Writers' Project," was cited in the article "Will Act for Food." Hirsch was also interviewed on the National Public Radio program "On the Media" in December.

Huping Ling, professor of history, recently published two books, "Asian America: Forming New Communities, Expanding Boundaries" and "Emerging Voices: Experiences of Underrepresented Asian Americans." In addition, she was invited to give a lecture on "The Chinese Community in St. Louis at the Turn-of-the-Century" by the Missouri Department of Natural Resources in its "Joplin's St. Louis" series Jan. 25.

Sylvia Macauley, associate professor of history, had her article, "Citizens, subjects or a dual mandate? Artisanal miners, 'supporters' and the resource scramble in Sierra Leone," co-authored with Andrew Keili, published in "Development Southern Africa," Vol. 25, No. 5.
