NORTHEAST NOTES

Jim Barnes, Language and Literature, has been notified by Gale Research Company that his bibliography, along with bibliographical commentary, will be included in the upcoming volume entitled "Contemporary Authors." He also has a poem scheduled to appear in a future issue of the Kentucky Poetry Review.

Marlow Ediger, Education, has been appointed by the National Council of Social Studies to serve as an advisor on the Rural Social Studies Education Committee for three years. He has also been notified that his manuscript "Reading in the Language Arts" will appear in Skylark, a professional journal published by the English Teacher's Association of Saskatchewan, Canada.

Lydia Inman, Home Economics Division Head and Dean of Graduate Studies, and 125 other prominent home economists participated in a symposium recently to explore the future of their profession. The General Foods Fund sponsored the forum which was held in Phoenix, Ariz., for its former fellowship holders. Dr. Inman was a General Foods Fund fellow during her graduate studies at the University of Minnesota.

Clyde "Jack" James, Practical Arts, had his article, "Shop Fires and Health Hazards," published in Industrial Education Magazine.

Gordon Robson, Fine Arts, recently served on a panel of judges to choose winners for the Quincy Symphony's Young Artist Night.

Jerry Mayhew, Health, Physical Education and Recreation, presented a paper entitled "The Ideal Weight and Body Composition of Distance Runners" to the Central States American College of Sports Medicine meeting in Columbia, Mo.

Bill Wehrman and Jane Davis, University Publications, and James Preston and Bucky Jones, senior commercial art majors and student designers in publications, attended the University and College Designers Association National Conference and Exhibition in New Orleans. The exhibition included 139 examples of excellence in university publication design selected from nearly 1,000 entries submitted by universities and colleges throughout the country. Two pieces designed by Wehrman were accepted as a part of the exhibition, which will travel across the nation.

Marianna Giovannini, Freshman Counseling, attended the National Orientation Directors Association (NODA) conference in Lexington, Ky. At the conference, she presented a program on NODA and student needs. Two NMSU publications received awards in the NODA publications contest: the "Parent Handbook" won first place for publications for parents and in the general information booklet category, honorable mention was given to "The RH Factor."
