Interested in becoming a McNair Scholar?

Students may attend an informational meeting for prospective Scholars at 6 p.m., Oct. 5, in Violette Hall 1236. Students must have achieved at least sophomore status. The deadline for submission of applications is Nov. 10.

The McNair Program is funded by the Department of Education to provide students from disadvantaged backgrounds with effective preparation for doctoral studies. Students may contact Sarah Shans at 785.5393 to see if they are eligible or if they have any questions.

Informational Meeting Scheduled for Legislative Internship Program

An informational meeting about the Missouri Government Internship Program has been scheduled for 5:30 p.m., Oct. 5, in the Student Union Building Governors Room. Pizza will be provided.

The Missouri Government Internship Program offers a unique opportunity for students to intern at the Capitol in Jefferson City, Mo., with a public official, legislator or state agency during the spring 2006 semester. The internship, which is open to all majors, provides an inside look at state government.

The interns live in Jefferson City and receive a stipend of $2,500. Interns may earn up to 15 hours of credit.

All juniors and seniors are encouraged to apply. Applications are available in the Public Relations Office in McClain Hall 101 or online at http://career.truman.edu/student/internship/mogov_app.pdf. For priority consideration, completed applications are due by Oct. 7 in McClain Hall 101. A screening committee will review the applications and interviews will be conducted Oct. 11-12 for the spring 2006 legislative internships.

Interested students can contact Candy Young at 785.4650 or Heidi Templeton at 785.4016 for more information.

Tenth Annual General Honors Informational Reception to Take Place

The General Honors Committee and the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs will be sponsoring an informational reception at 4:45 p.m., Oct. 6, in the Violette Hall Commons for students interested in pursuing General Honors.

In addition to the General Honors program, information will be available on competitive scholarships, such as Goldwater and Rhodes scholarships. Refreshments will be served.

Truman State University's General Honors Program is not the typical honors program. With Truman's outstanding student body, highly-qualified faculty and staff, small class sizes, interdisciplinary seminars, and Residential College Program, all students receive benefits that many universities would only offer to honor students.

All Truman State University students are eligible to pursue General Honors by taking and completing five approved courses, with at least one from each of the four areas of mathematics, natural science, social science, and humanities, and maintaining a GPA of at least 3.5 in those five courses and a 3.5 overall GPA. The approved courses have been chosen by the faculty of the respective disciplines as being classes whose successful completion by a non-major is especially noteworthy.

Students who complete a single undergraduate major may not satisfy the General Honors requirements with any course in their major field, but this requirement is waived for double majors. Upon completion of these requirements, the successful honors candidates are recognized in a special medal ceremony sponsored by the Phi Beta Kappa Association of Northeast Missouri.

For more information contact the chair of the General Honors Committee, Patricia Burton, at 785.7427 or the Vice President for Academic Affairs' office at 785.4109.

Truman Debaters Win Several Championships at Purdue Boilermaker Special

Students from Truman State University's Speech and debate team (The Forensic Union) started off the 2005-2006 season with a bang, capturing tournament championships in debate and two individual events at the Purdue University "Boilermaker Special," Sept. 16-18 in West Lafayette, Ind.

Stefani Wittenauer, a junior communication and political science double major from Belleville, Ill., and Sara Archer, a sophomore pre-business administration and pre-accounting double major from Riverside, Mo., took the tournament championship in parliamentary debate, defeating the top team from Western Kentucky University on a 3-0 decision. Elizabeth Hobbs, a senior biology major from Newton, Kan., took the tournament championship in persuasive speaking while teammate Meghana Kunkala, a senior biology major from Chino, Calif., was champion in rhetorical criticism.

Hobbs was also second in rhetorical criticism and fifth in extemporaneous speaking. Three additional teams reached elimination rounds in parliamentary debate. Reaching the octafinal round ("sweet sixteen") of the tournament was the team of Todd Turner, a sophomore communication major from Chesterfield, Mo., and Christopher Girouard, a freshman from Chesterfield, Mo. Advancing to quarterfinals were the teams of Justin Perkins, a senior economics major from Jefferson City, Mo., and Nick Zotos, a freshman justice systems major from Chesterfield, Mo., and Keith Schnakenberg, a senior political science and communication double major from Buffalo, Mo., and Christopher Dove, a freshman biology major from Chesterfield, Mo. Both the Girouard/Turner and Perkins/Zotos pairs were eliminated by meeting Archer and Wittenauer in the elimination bracket. Schnakenberg was the sixth-ranked speaker in the division, while Archer placed eighth and Perkins ninth.

In tournament sweepstakes, awards that measure programmatic breadth and depth across all teams and events, Truman placed third in individual events, second in debate, and second in the combined debate and individual events category.

The Forensic Union is a co-curricular program of the Division of Language and Literature, drawing its competitors from throughout the University's majors. It is supported by a combination of University funds, alumni donations and campus fund raising. The Forensic Union is open to all interested students. Inquiries about the program should be directed to the director of forensics at 785.5677 or kminch@truman.edu.

Truman Sigma Phi Epsilon Chapter Wins Top Alumni Award

The Missouri Mu Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon at Truman State University was recognized for Excellence in Alumni Communications at the fraternity's 49th Grand Chapter Conclave in Nashville, Tenn., during the week of Aug. 10-14.

During the 2003-2005 biennium, the Truman chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon engaged the public relations firm of Design Manifesto in Richmond, Va., to produce and manage a special Web site for its alumni members and to publish the chapter's alumni newsletter, The Brick. The award-winning Web site may be viewed at <http://www.momualumni.org> and the current edition of The Brick may be viewed there in PDF format.

The new Truman Sigma Phi Epsilon alumni Web site and award-winning newsletter were produced during the presidencies of Scott Dresser, a senior accounting major from Overland Park, Kan., and Tyler Wood, a senior justice systems and psychology double major from Columbia, Mo. Truman Sigma Phi Epsilon alumni involved in the project included Patrick Fontana '95, Matthew Judkins '95, and Ryan Brennan '95. Design Manifesto is contracted with the Sigma Phi Epsilon national headquarters in Richmond to work with individual campus chapters of the fraternity in the area of alumni communications.

Representing Truman's Sigma Phi Epsilon chapter at the Nashville Conclave in August were Wood, Jaret Copeman, a sophomore exercise science major from Cameron, Mo., and Mike Self, a junior accounting major from Ballwin, Mo., and Roger Festa, professor of chemistry. Festa is also a member of the Board of Governors of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation in Richmond.

NOTABLES

David Garth, associate professor of mathematics, and Kensey Riley, a junior mathematics major from St. Joseph, Mo., presented the results of their work for the summer research component of the Next Step Program at the UMKC Expository Talks in Mathematics series. The title of their talk was "Tilings, Infinite Words, and Long Range Order."

Christopher Lantz, associate professor of exercise science and director of health and exercise sciences, and Carolyn Cox, associate professor of health, have been selected as recipients of the Missouri Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance, Robert M. Taylor Professional Service Honor Award for the year 2005.

Sara E. Orel, associate professor of art, has been invited to present on Islamic architecture at the California Institute of the Arts. Her paper, "Constructing Religious Space: Variation in South Asian Mosques" will be presented at "Islam and Arts in Asia: A workshop for College teachers" sponsored by the Asian Studies Development Program and the California Institute of the Arts. She has also been invited to revise the chapter on "Art of Pacific Cultures" for the third edition of Marilyn Stokstad's "Art History," the art history survey textbook. In press is the article "Titanica Aegyptiaca," an examination of scholarly and pop-culture connections between Egyptology and the Titanic, which will be published in the next volume of The Journal of the Society for the Study of Egyptian Antiquities.

C. Jason White, Wynona Murphy and Shannon Muedeking, academic advisers in the Residential College Program, presented "Harmonizing the First-Year Experience: Advising Initiatives to Increase Student Support" at the Missouri Academic Advising Association (MACADA) conference on Sept. 16. Their presentation also received the "Best of Conference" Award.

Michael Van Bebber, graduate music composition and trumpet performance major, has been invited to conduct an original composition at a college band performance. Van Bebber was one of three composers selected from an international call for scores by the Virginia chapter of the College Band Directors National Association. His composition "March from Sonata No. 1" will be performed at the 31st Virginia CBDNA Symposium on Feb. 12, 2006, by the Virginia All-Collegiate Band, with the composer conducting. In addition to conducting his piece, Van Bebber will participate in a composers' panel discussion in which he will discuss his musical work.

Events Celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month

Hispanic Heritage Month events will continue this week on campus. At 7:30 p.m., Sept. 29, in Baldwin Auditorium, David Lamb's "Platanos and Collard Greens" will be presented. This play explores whether love between a black man and a Latina woman can survive. "Platanos and Collard Greens" is a tale of romance between college students that fuses the poetry of hip-hop with the intellect of W.E.B. Dubois to end the focus on science about history and race. Admission is free.

The First Sunday Dinner: "Hispanic Heritage Festival," will take place from 5-7 p.m., Oct. 2, in the Ryle Hall Main Lounge. R.S.V.P. is required. Call 785.4142 to reserve a plate (limited to the first 100 people).

The Latin Dance Party will be the final Hispanic Heritage Month Event. Dance lessons will be given from 6-8 p.m., Oct. 8, in the SUB Down Under. A dance party will follow from 9-11 p.m. Everyone is encouraged to learn salsa moves and put them to use. Refreshments will be served.
