NORTHEAST MISSOURI STATE BANK PROVIDES ATHLETIC FUNDING

Northeast Missouri State Bank in Kirksville has made a commitment of $50,000 to provide athletic scholarships to students competing in baseball, wrestling, men's swimming and men's tennis.

Truman will partner with Northeast Missouri State Bank to form a scholarship program designed to assist those sports, which were recently impacted by the University budget reductions. The program, announced by the bank's chairman Randy Riley, a 1975 alumnus of Truman, calls for a total of $10,000 to be available for scholarships each year, starting with the 2011-2012 academic year and continuing for the next five years.

"The University is grateful to Northeast Missouri State Bank for stepping forward and helping to address a tremendous need in such an impactful way," said President Troy D. Paino. "This scholarship program will be a great resource for our coaches in the recruitment process."

The commitment is part of the University's $30 million Bright Minds Bright Futures campaign. To date, a total of $28 million has been generated in gifts in the campaign that concludes June 30, 2011.

Zuckerman Lectureship Commences with Distinguished Medical Historian

The inaugural Dr. Arnold Zuckerman Lectureship, created in memory of the long-time Truman professor of history, will take place at 7 p.m. March 23 in the Student Union Building Room 3200.

One of the nation's foremost authorities on the history of science and medicine will keynote the Lectureship, which is open to the public.

Margaret Humphreys serves on the faculty at Duke University where she is the Josiah Charles Trent Professor of the History of Medicine, as well as a professor of history and associate professor of medicine. Her research and publications focus primarily on infectious disease in the U.S., especially in the South. Her current research explores the history of medicine during the American Civil War.

Humphreys has also published on the history of diabetes, public health ethics and colonial medicine. Her research has appeared in Isis, Bulletin of the History of Medicine, Literature and Medicine, Perspectives in Biology and Medicine, Social Science and Medicine, Public Health Reports and Environmental History.

Her topic for the Zuckerman Lectureship will be "Intensely Human: The Health of Black Soldiers in the American Civil War," which is also the title of her new book.

In addition to a bachelor's degree from Notre Dame, Humphreys has a master's degree, two medical degrees and two Ph.D.s from Harvard.

Humphreys's visit to Truman is being made possible by a substantial financial gift to the Bright Minds Bright Futures campaign by Judi Schweitzer, a graduate of the University and stepdaughter of Dr. Arnold Zuckerman.

Arnold Zuckerman

Zuckerman joined the faculty at Truman in 1963 and retired in 1990, serving as professor of history. After his passing in 2008, a fund was established to create the Dr. Arnold Zuckerman Lectureship in History to commemorate his distinguished career as a scholar, research historian and dedicated teacher. The Lectureship will continue the tradition Zuckerman established by bringing guest lecturers to campus whose experience and expertise are relevant to the interests of the History Department at Truman. A preference will be given to speakers whose experience and expertise encompass medical history, a passion of Zuckerman's.

Zuckerman was a member of the American Association for the History of Medicine; American Society for Eighteenth-century Studies; and the

Margaret Humphreys

American Association of University Professors. He earned undergraduate and master's degrees from DePaul University and a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

Students remember Zuckerman as a professor who challenged them to think critically and raise questions. He made the study of history relevant and interesting by reminding students of the associative value of events, people and dates. The Zuckerman Lectureship is also designed to provide Truman students an opportunity to learn and interact with noted historians.

Schweitzer received a Bachelor of Science degree from Truman in 1989 and resides in Lake Forest, Calif. In 2006, she founded Schweitzer & Associates Inc., a strategic real estate adviser for investors, organizations, developers and builders for creating sustainable community development and green-building practices.

PUBLIC RELATIONS NOW ACCEPTING INTERN APPLICATIONS

The Truman Public Relations Office is now accepting résumés for the full-time Fall 2011 internship position.

Interns can receive course credit, a stipend and valuable experience in public relations office duties. Interns usually take six hours of class in addition to receiving six hours of internship credit.

Applicants should have a strong background in writing and editing. Communication majors are encouraged to apply, with special consideration given to candidates with knowledge of Associated Press Style, experience in desktop publishing and familiarity of InDesign or similar software.

To apply, send a résumé, two writing samples and contact information for two on-campus references to the Public Relations Office, McClain Hall 101. For specific questions about the internship, contact Heidi Templeton at heidi@truman.edu.

TRUMAN RECOGNIZED FOR BEST OVERALL DORMS

CampusSplash included Truman on its list of "14 Schools with the Best Overall Dorms," earning the University a Dormy Award for 2010-2011.

The list, released March 1 by USA Today College, was based on more than 7,100 reviews submitted from across the country. Truman was ranked No. 14. This is the first year for Dormy Awards, which are handed out by the newly created DormSplash.com, a dorm review website and part of the CampusSplash network.

Since 2006, Missouri Hall, Campbell Apartments, Blanton-Nason-Brewer Hall and Dobson Hall have all been renovated. Ryle Hall is scheduled to be completed for Fall 2011.

Business Speaker to Discuss Ethics

The School of Business will sponsor ethics speaker Donna J. Werner, professor of philosophy at St. Louis Community College - Meramec (STLCC), from 3-4:30 p.m. March 24 in Violette Hall 1000.

Werner's presentation "What's Ethics Got to Do With It?" will provide a brief introduction to ethics and a discussion of its relevance for business professionals.

Werner served Meramec as interim dean from 2005-2007. Prior to her appointment at STLCC, she served for three years as program coordinator for the Ethics Across the Curriculum program at Saint Louis University. She serves as secretary-treasurer for the Society for Ethics Across the Curriculum and is a member of the American Philosophical Association's Committee on Philosophy in Two-Year Colleges.

In 2010, Werner was selected as the recipient of the Emerson Excellence in Teaching Award for STLCC - Meramec. She earned a Bachelor of Science in business administration (accounting) from the University of Missouri - St. Louis, a Master of Arts in philosophy from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and a Ph.D. in philosophy from Saint Louis University.

Faculty Mentoring Workshop Set for March 30

Lois Zachary

Dr. Lois Zachary, an internationally recognized expert on mentoring, will conduct a workshop March 30 on effective mentoring and advising strategies for faculty.

In what will be mostly an interactive workshop, Zachary will introduce four key concepts that promote excellence in mentoring and advising. Her best-selling books, "The Mentor's Guide," "Creating a Mentoring Culture" and most recently, "The Mentee's Guide," have become primary resources for Fortune 500 companies, colleges and universities and several federal government departments, including the Department of Education.

Zachary is the president of Leadership Development Services, LLC, a Phoenix-based consulting firm that specializes in leadership and mentoring. She is also the director of its Center for Mentoring Excellence. Zachary has been recognized "as one of the top 100 minds in leadership."

The workshop, which will take place from 5:30-7 p.m. in the Student Union Building Georgian Room B, is sponsored by the McNair Program and is open to all Truman faculty members. Refreshments will be provided. RSVP by March 25 to mcnair@truman.edu.

Forensics Team Gets Last Win Before Nationals

Truman's speech and debate team earned multiple individual and team awards Feb. 23-27 in Corpus Christi, Texas, at the "Speech on the Beach" tournament hosted by Del Mar Community College.

Team awards included first place in individual events sweepstakes and the overall tournament championship.

Junior Andrew Grojean captured the tournament championship in dramatic interpretation and impromptu speaking. Grojean also won second place in persuasive speaking and fourth place in prose interpretation.

Sophomore Jessica Petrie also excelled, taking first place in both informative speaking and extemporaneous speaking.

In addition to the individual event awards, Grojean took second place and Petrie won third place in individual speaker awards, given to top competitors based on points from each event.

"This was a great opportunity to see competition from a different geographic area, and I'm very proud of how well the team performed," Petrie said.

Freshman A.J. Taula finished second place in poetry interpretation and he and freshman Arielle Long-Seabra earned third place in duo interpretation. Long-Seabra also brought home a sixth place trophy in prose interpretation. Sophomore Sarah Agbhecia finished fourth in extemporaneous speaking.

The parliamentary debate team, consisting of senior Dylan Clark and freshman Alan Rassoolkhani, finished in the top eight of the tournament.

"We weren't quite sure what to expect as we had never travelled to Corpus Christi before, but it turned out quite well for us," Russ Luce, assistant director of forensics, said. "This was a great last [invitational] of the season to get us ready for the national tournament in April."

Anyone interested in competing in forensics should contact Kristi Scholten, director of forensics, at kscholten@truman.edu.

Registrar's Office Receives Bulldog Award

The Registrar's Office received the Bulldog Award Feb. 18. The award, presented every other month, recognizes "shared team achievement" for outstanding customer service practices. Faculty and staff are encouraged to nominate a department that strives to provide exceptional customer service. Supervisors and directors can nominate departments (their own or others) they believe exemplify the best practices in customer service. Nomination forms can be found online at <http://hr.truman.edu/recognition/bulldogaward>. Pictured, left to right: President Troy D. Paino, Rebecca Charles, Melissa Rodman, Charlotte Mathews, Marilyn Gibbons and Kimberly Titus.

NOTABLES

Michael Goggin, professor of physics, and an international team consisting of Australian, American, Brazilian, British and Italian scientists at the University of Queensland, had a study published in the Jan. 25 issue of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States of America. In the article, Goggin and the scientists describe an experiment in which photons are used to test fundamental questions about quantum mechanics.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The Missouri Insurance Education Foundation will award scholarships to students attending Missouri colleges or universities in a program that could lead to positions in the insurance industry in Missouri. The $2,500 C. Lawrence Leggett Scholarship will be awarded to a junior or senior Missouri resident majoring in insurance or a related area of study in a Missouri college or university. In addition to the Leggett Scholarship, the foundation has established another scholarship available in the amount of $2,000. Application forms are available online at <http://mief.org> and are due by March 31.

Alpha Delta Kappa, Sigma Chapter of Burlington, Iowa, is offering one $1,000 scholarship to Des Moines County undergraduates who will be majoring in education. The applicant must show qualities of leadership, demonstrate success in academics and be involved in extra curricular and/or community activities. While financial need will be considered, it will not necessarily be the primary qualification. For further information, stop by Truman's Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 103. Applications are due by April 3.

Newman Civic Fellowship Award Nominations

Truman has the opportunity to recognize one engaged student leader through the Newman Civic Fellow Award sponsored by the national Campus Compact. President Paino can nominate one student, who will automatically receive this award.

The student must be a sophomore or junior this year and have demonstrated an investment in finding solutions for challenges facing communities throughout the country.

Faculty or staff members who would like to recommend a student for the award should send a brief description to Baillie Cloyd at bcloyd@truman.edu by March 18.

The award summary and nomination guidelines are available online at <http://newsletter.truman.edu/article.asp?id=6002>.
