Dan Peterson Elected to Missouri Bandmasters Association Hall of Fame

Truman Director of Bands Dan Peterson was elected to the Missouri Bandmasters Association (MBA) Hall of Fame in June 2008.

Peterson is the 40th band director to be elected to the prestigious MBA Hall of Fame in the span of more than 100 years.

The Missouri Bandmasters Association represents approximately 900 junior high school and elementary school band directors, 750 high school band directors and 35 college band directors in the state of Missouri.

Peterson has been the director of bands at Truman for 30 years. Under his baton, the University's concert band has performed in national and regional conferences on six different occasions for the Music Educators National Association and the College Band Directors National Association, with their most recent performance in March 2008.

Peterson and his band will also perform at the Missouri Music Educators Association conference in January 2009 for a record ninth time.

Peterson has 19 former graduate teaching assistants and undergraduate students who now hold positions such as director of bands, director of athletic bands, jazz studies director, or professor of percussion at colleges and universities across the nation.

Siegel Named New AmeriCorps *VISTA Program Representative

Eugenia Siegel was recently selected as the new AmeriCorps *VISTA program representative at Truman. She will be the Service-Learning Coordinator in the Center for Teaching and Learning.

Siegel, a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University, said she was attracted to Truman because of its liberal arts mission. She was hired in August and succeeds Kelsey Aurand de Razo who recently moved into the University's Office of Admission.

As the service-learning coordinator, she will work with professors to structure classes that include service-learning assignments and serve as a resource for those carrying out the projects throughout the semester.

Siegel is also the contact for Service-Learning

Advantage, a program that helps student organizations incorporate service-learning into their volunteer efforts and affords student participants recognition on their transcripts.

Informational meetings for the Service-Learning Advantage program will take place from 4:30-7:30 p.m. Sept. 9 in Georgian Room C of the Student Union Building and from 4:30-7 p.m.
Sept. 11 in the Student Union Down Under.

These will be drop-in meetings,
with presentations taking place at regular intervals. For more information, please visit

<http://servicelearning.truman.edu>

or contact Siegel at vistamember@truman.edu or 785.7753.

Truman is currently in the second year of this three-year program.

Kohlenberg Lyceum Series Begins Sept. 22 With Political Satire Group

The Kohlenberg Lyceum Series kicks off Sept. 22 with a performance by the political musical revue the Capitol Steps.

Comprised of several former Congressional staff members, the Capitol Steps perform a musical satire designed to keep the audience laughing about events and personalities in Washington, D.C.

The Capitol Steps will be the first of five Lyceum events during the academic year.
Other performances include Canadian Brass in November, followed by the dance company Hubbard Street 2 in January and "The Mikado" in February. The Duke Ellington Orchestra will close out the Lyceum Series with a performance in March.

Since its inception in 1899 as a lecture course, the Kohlenberg Lyceum Series has strived to broaden the cultural experience of students, faculty, staff and the community through speakers, music and drama. Each year the Series brings a wide selection of attractions to the Truman campus. Tickets are free for Truman students, faculty and staff and are available one week prior to each performance. Students may pick up their tickets at the Student Activities Board office in the Student Union Building. Faculty and staff may pick up their tickets at the information desk in the Student Union Building. For more information go online to <http://lyceum.truman.edu>.

Hispanic Heritage Month Kicks Off With Dinner

The Multicultural Affairs Center has arranged several events to celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month, beginning with a "Spicy" First Sunday Dinner from 5-6:30 p.m. Sept. 14 in the Ryle Hall Main Lounge.

Dinner will include authentic dishes reflecting the rich food traditions of Mexico, Spain and other Latin American cultures. Free but limited quantities of food will be served on a first-come,

first-serve basis.

Other upcoming events celebrating Hispanic Heritage Month include the Grupo Atlantico Dance Troupe at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 24 in the Down Under of the Student Union Building and "Many Mexicos," a multi-media examination of the diversity that is Mexico, will be presented by Dr.
Marc Becker's Mexican history class at 7 p.m. Oct.
15 in the Little Theater in Baldwin Hall.

NOTABLES

Phi Sigma Pi, a national coed honor fraternity, was recently awarded "Best in Region" and "Outstanding Website" for the 2007-2008 academic year at Phi Sigma Pi's National Convention in Nashville, Tenn. on Aug. 7-10. Mallory Stites, a senior psychology and English major from Crystal City, Mo., and Joseph Grissom, a junior biology major from Hamilton, Mo., represented the Truman's chapter of Phi Sigma Pi at the National Convention. "Outstanding Website" is awarded once a year to one of 103 active collegiate chapters in the nation. Truman's chapter was awarded with "Best in Region" out of Central Region, which consists of 10 active chapters. Truman's chapter has won "Outstanding Website" and "Best in Region" three out of the last four years.

Dean De Cock, associate professor of statistics, represented Truman at the Evolution 2008 Joint Annual Meeting of the American Society of Naturalists, Society for the Study of Evolution and Society of Systematic Biologists in Minneapolis, Minn., from June 20-24. De Cock's poster, "The W Statistic: A New Approach for Testing the Relative Abundance Structure of Communities in a Phylogenetic Context," detailed the results achieved by his group of Tracey Blasingame, a senior mathematics major from Belvidere, Ill.; Bryan Hartwig, a senior mathematics major from Lee's Summit, Mo.; Nathan Whelan, a biology graduate from Eureka, Mo.; and Jonathan Gering, associate professor of biology; within Truman's National Science Foundation (NSF) funded "Research-focused Learning Communities in Mathematical Biology."

Warren Gooch, professor of music, has two original musical compositions that have been selected for publication by Alliance Publications Incorporated (API Music). Gooch's choral works "Sing Noel" and "A Christmas Prayer" were selected for the publication.

First Global Issues Colloquium to Focus on Social Responses to Natural Disaster

Dr. Paul Greenough from the University of Iowa will explore "Social Responses to Natural Disaster" in this semester's first Global Issues Colloquium session at 7 p.m. Sept. 17 at the Kirksville Telecommunications Resource Center located at 315 S. Franklin.

Through the recent experiences of Hurricane Katrina and the Cedar Rapids flood, social responses to natural disasters are revealing not only of individual character, but also of regional resources, political forces and institutional preparation.

Greenough, a historian of health, will explore three cases from South Asia to compare and contrast with domestic experiences, including: the East Pakistan cyclone of November 1970, the Gujarat earthquake in India in January 2001, and the Sri Lankan tsunami of December 2004.

Note that this session will take place on a Wednesday instead of Thursday and is in a different location than the usual place in Magruder Hall 2001.

Future global issues sessions are schedule for Oct. 23 and Nov. 20, and will focus on "Teaching About Terrorism" and "Strategies of Cultural Resistance," respectively.

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN UPDATE

After the second Week of Truman's United Way campaign, our faculty, staff, students and retirees have contributed more than $27,000, which means we have reached 48 percent of our goal.

Thank you to everyone who has contributed to this effort. If you have not returned your pledge form, there is still time to do so. Also, if you have misplaced your pledge form and are in need of a replacement, contact Brad Chambers at bchamber@truman.edu or Deb Kerby at dkerby@truman.edu.

Please join together to show Truman faculty, staff, students and retirees Live United in support of education, income and health.
