Children's Literature Festival Adds Touring Art Show

The Eighth Annual Children's Literature Festival is scheduled to begin April 15 at 9 a.m. in the SUB. Advance reservations for the event, sponsored by Northeast's Divisions of Language and Literature, Libraries and Museums and Education, indicate the festival's continuing popularity with area upper elementary school students, teachers and librarians. Director Dona Triuitt expects attendance figures to exceed 1,600.

This year's visiting authors include Sandy Asher, Carol Gorman, X.J. Kennedy, Susan Milrod, Stella Pevsner and Ivy Ruckman. Author-illustrator Lisa Campbell Ernst and singer, songwriter and humorist Dan Hunter complete the list of visiting celebrities. Each author will meet with students in small group sessions to allow for informal presentations, question and answer periods and autographing opportunities.

Northeast students have the opportunity to study in Costa Rica, England, Europe, France, Germany, Japan, Quebec, the Soviet Union, Spain, and Taiwan. With the advent of the Study Abroad Office, Kirk Memorial 201, students are now provided with additional resources and advisement as to what program are best for them. Duration of study may last three weeks, one semester, or one year.

The University is also a member of the College Consortium for International Studies (CCIS). Through this consortium, students can participate in one-semester or year-long programs in countries such as Cyprus, Denmark, Ecuador, France, Greece, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Mexico, Portugal, Scotland, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland. Participation in any of these programs gives students an opportunity to learn firsthand about another country's people and culture while earning credits toward their degree. Costs vary for each program and financial aid is available for qualified students. Language proficiency is required for some of the programs, but not for all of them.

Patrick Lecaque, associate professor of French and Study Abroad coordinator, encourages students to study abroad and says that we need to know more about the world. "Things that happen in any part of the world affect us," Lecaque said.

Inauguration Accentuates Academics

Northeast will hold its first inauguration ceremony in more than 20 years on April 27 when Russell G. Warren is officially inaugurated as the University's 12th president.

Past presidents throughout Northeast's 124-year history include: Joseph Baldwin (1867-1881), William P. Nason (1881-1882), Joseph P. Blanton (1882-1891), William D. Dobson (1891-1899), John R. Kirk (1899-1925), Eugene Fair (1925-1937), Walter H. Ryle III (1937-1967), F. Clark Elkins (1967-1969), Eli F. Mittler (1969-1970), Charles J. McClain (1970-1989) and Robert A. Dager (1989-1990).

The focus of an inauguration varies according to the traditions and mission of an institution. The events planned for Northeast's Inauguration Week will feature a variety of academic-oriented activities. Highlighting the week will be an active learning panel discussion featuring Dr. Art Levine, educational chair with the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard University.

Other activities include a presentation on multi-cultural diversity by Dr. William Parker, an all-faculty assembly, performances by the NMSU Symphony Orchestra and Alvin M. Owsley Artist-in-Residence William Blaine, the dedication of the Center for Service-Learning and the University's founder's day celebration, the Baldwin Lecture (see related story).

Research Symposium Provides Educational Opportunities

The 4th Annual Undergraduate Research Symposium will be held April 9 from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. in the SUB, with 115 undergraduate students making presentations. The symposium has been developed as a campus-wide interdisciplinary event. In addition to providing an excellent educational opportunity for students, the symposium provides a forum for the entire University community to become more familiar with the current research taking place on campus. Research presentations will be given by students receiving undergraduate research stipends and others involved in research projects with Northeast and the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine faculty. Each student will make a 15-minute presentation beginning at 8:30 a.m. and continuing on throughout the day. In addition, a limited number of poster presentations and demonstrations will occur in the SUB Activities Room. A complete schedule and a brochure with abstracts of all presentations will be available at the Symposium. The event is free and open to the public.

Thorpe Wins National Contest

J.C. Thorpe, a senior art major, recently won first prize in the college division of the 1990-91 National Poster Graphics Contest sponsored by the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities. He will travel to Dallas in May to receive his award and scholarship. Thorpe's winning entry will now be printed for national distribution. He is the first student from Northeast to win this award at the national level.

In early March, Thorpe's entry was awarded first prize in the college division of the Missouri Poster Graphics Contest. Thorpe will receive a $350 savings bond and a certificate of award in recognition of his prize-winning poster. "I am pleased to help promote the awareness of the employment of people with disabilities," Thorpe said. The Poster Graphics Contest is sponsored each year by the Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities and is open to all high school, technical school, college and university students. Prizes are awarded in both high school and college divisions.

Financial support for the Missouri Poster Graphics Contest is provided by The Grand Council of Missouri, United Commercial Travelers of America, Hewlett Packard, Southwestern Bell Foundation, International Business Machines Corporation and Missouri Council of the Blind, Inc.

Thorpe received his award from the Missouri Poster Graphics Contest during the Annual Meeting of the Governor's Committee held March 22 at the Capitol Plaza Hotel in Jefferson City, Mo.

The article details results from an ecological study Parker conducted under the direction of Bultman.

Marta Mattingly, graduate biology student, has been selected as a 1991 scholarship recipient from the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri, Inc.

According to Lecaque, students participate in the study abroad programs for varying reasons. The program is a natural follow up to language studies. Some students want to go to where their family came from, while other students travel for experience in their major. For example, a business major may want to further study international business. An art major may want to study art in another country and culture.

Lecaque says more students are convinced they should travel than in previous years, but many students are not sure where they want to travel. The staff at the Study Abroad Office can help students decide what program would be best for them.

The Europe 1992 Program is sponsored by the Division of Business and Accountancy and is open to all interested students. The dates for the program are May 21-June 9, 1991. The group will tour the Netherlands, Britain, Belgium and Germany. The group will visit specific sights such as the NATO Headquarters, Loyds of London, the Stock Exchange, the Bank of England as well as other sights of historic and cultural interest. Students will earn six Northeast credit hours during the program.

Northeast sponsors a trip to France each summer. The trip is limited to eight students and a minimum proficiency in French is required. The students and a Northeast instructor live in the Loire Valley for two weeks and also tour Rouen and Paris. The students tour specific sights such as the Castle of Versailles, Le Mans, Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower and the Loire. The program usually lasts three weeks and runs in late May or early June. Students earn six Northeast credit hours.

The Program in the Soviet Union includes insight into Soviet life with tours of museums, institutions, universities and major cities. It is usually a three week trip taken during the winter interim. Students earn three Northeast credit hours, and there is no language requirement.

The Summer Session in Spain provides language study at the Colegio Miguel de Unamuno in Salamanca, Spain. Students also participate in cultural events and tour such places as Segovia and La Alberca. During the final week, students travel through Acdalucia, touring places such as Madrid, Cordoba and Granada. Students of any level of Spanish proficiency are eligible for the program. Students will earn six Northeast credit hours. The program consists of four weeks of study usually during Northeast's first summer session. The program is offered in alternate years in conjunction with Northeast's Costa Rican program.

The Missouri London Program is sponsored by the Missouri Consortium for International Studies. Only 50 spaces are available for the state of Missouri, so there are limited spaces for Northeast students. Students will study for a semester at Imperial College in London and tour places of interest throughout the British Isles and continental Europe such as Stonehenge, Stratford upon Avon, and Wales. The program lasts 16 weeks and is available during both the fall and spring semesters. Students can earn 12-15 Northeast credit hours.

For more information about the Study Abroad programs, students should contact Dr. Patrick Lecaque, Study Abroad coordinator, at 785-2569 or stop by 201 Kirk Memorial.

An hour-long afternoon reception will be held in the SUB Conference Room at 3 p.m. Refreshments will be served and all of the visiting celebrities will be available for informal visits and autograph signing. The authors' works will be available for purchase throughout the day on the third floor of the SUB.

A banquet will be served in the SUB Alumni Room at 6:30 p.m. followed by an after-dinner speech by Sandy Asher. Asher, a creative writing instructor and playwright as well as author of young adult novels, will discuss "Power to the Young People: Reading, Writing and Self-Esteem."

This year's festival will feature a touring art show from the University of Minnesota-Minneapolis Art Museum's Touring Exhibitions Program as an additional attraction. The exhibit, to be displayed in the University Art Gallery, is titled Building on Imagination: Architectural Imagery in Children's Books. The show will feature original illustrations from over a dozen popular children's books in which buildings play important roles. The exhibit will hang in the Gallery through May 5 and the public is cordially invited to view it during the Gallery's regular hours, 9:30 a.m.-4:20 p.m. Monday-Friday.

Interested University faculty and students are welcome to attend the festival as space permits. For more information and a detailed brochure/registration form, contact Festival Director Dana Truitt or stop by the Division of Language and Literature.
