1997-98 Endowed Scholarship Winners

The Office of Alumni and Development is pleased to announce the 1997-98 Endowed Scholarship Winners.

These gifts are made possible through the generous support of Truman alumni and friends to the Truman State University Foundation.

A list of those students receiving scholarships for the upcoming academic year is included in the insert in this issue of the Truman Today.

Eagleton to Address Spring Graduates

Former U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton will address more than 800 graduates at spring commencement on May 10. The ceremony will be at 2 p.m. in Stokes Stadium. In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will be in Pershing Arena. A reception on the Student Union Mall will follow the ceremony.

Eagleton served in public office for 30 years, the last 18 of which were in the U.S. Senate. He was active in matters dealing with foreign relations, intelligence, defense, education, health care and the environment.

Choosing not to seek a fourth term, Eagleton retired from the Senate in January 1987 and returned to live in his native St. Louis. He is currently a partner in the St. Louis law firm of Thompson Coburn and is a professor of public affairs at Washington University. He writes a weekly column for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and is president of the Truman Library Institute.

Eagleton has written three books: War and Presidential Powers, Our Constitution and What It Means and Issues on Business and Government.

In 1993, President Bill Clinton appointed Eagleton to the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. This Board has been ordered by Congress to look into the CIA's handling of the Army's spy case and to inquire into such changes as should be made in our intelligence gathering operations in this post-Cold War world.

One Public Missouri University Among America's 100 Best Buys - Truman

Truman State University has been named one of the 100 best college buys in the United States by a new publication that rates America's colleges and universities.

The Student Guide to America's 100 Best College Buys profiles the schools that are the highest rated academically but have the lowest total cost for the college year.

Compiled by Institutional Research and Evaluation in Gainesville, Ga., the company researched almost 1,800 colleges.

To be considered for America's 100 Best College Buys, Truman met very specific requirements. Each of the 100 selected schools was required to be an accredited, four-year institution; offer full residential facilities including residence halls and dining services; offer opportunities to qualify students for need-based, academic-based, and athletic-based financial aid; have an entering freshman class with a high school grade point average and SAT or ACT score above the national average; and the cost of attendance must be below the national average.

"This recognition, by yet another new publication, further validates what Truman is already known for - a total commitment to providing a high-quality education at an affordable price," said President Jack Magruder.

"A prospective student should never pick a college without first doing serious comparison shopping for cost and quality," said Publisher John Culler. "If that is done, the schools in this book will win every time."

Gacy Series Student Union Purchases Art for Display

Continues

The second presentation in the Psychology Club's two-part series on serial killer John Wayne Gacy will be April 29 at 7 p.m. in the SUB Activities Room. Former investigating officer Joseph Kozeniczak will discuss his experiences investigating and finally arresting Gacy.

Former defense attorney Sam Ameranti spoke to a standing-room-only crowd last week. Ameranti's niece, sophomore Melanie Duran, was instrumental in arranging his visit.

The members of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of their chartering on campus, presented a memorial April 19. Located in the Northwest corner of the Sunken Gardens behind Kirk Memorial, the gift has at its top a bronze casting of a student's lamp and book of knowledge. Reception of the gift was made by Garry Gordon, vice president for academic affairs, and Zel Eaton, assistant dean and former advisor to Pi Kappa Phi.

The event was attended by alumni and friends as part of the 25th Anniversary Roseball Weekend.

The establishment of a long-term display of student artwork in the Student Union began in spring 1995, when the annual Juried Student Art Exhibition was presented in the University Art Gallery.

The Student Union supported the program by offering five purchase prize awards for works that ultimately would be displayed in the Student Union. Award recipients were chosen by an art instructor from State University of New York-Genesee, the juror for the show.

This spring, five purchase prize awards of $100 each were again presented by the Student Union. The awards were selected from the annual Juried Student Art Exhibition.

Sigma Xi Selects Philip Wilson as Outstanding Researcher of the Year

Philip Wilson, assistant professor of science history, was named 1997 Outstanding Researcher of the Year from the Kirksville chapter of Sigma Xi scientific research society.

The honor society of scientists and engineers named Wilson as its top researcher at their annual banquet and national lecture April 3 in Kirksville.

Wilson has had quite a busy year. Along with receiving the Outstanding Researcher of the Year honor, Wilson has published several articles and reviews as well as spoke at various engagements.

Recently, Wilson's article "Bladder Stones from the Perspective of Eighteenth Century Environmentalist" appeared in Studies on Voltaire and the Eighteenth Century, and his book review of L.S. Jacyna's Philosophic Whigs: Medicine, Science and Citizenship in Edinburgh, 1789-1848 has appeared in the Bulletin of the History of Medicine.

Along with authoring several articles and reviews, Wilson recently traveled to Hawaii and spoke to students at the University of Hawaii and Honolulu Academy of Arts.

Wilson delivered the keynote address titled "Visualizing the Human Body: Western Medical, Art and Pop Culture Imagery Through the Ages," at the Honolulu Academy of Arts. These activities surrounded the opening of an exhibit at the Queens Medical Center (Honolulu) where he has served the last 18 months as the humanities consultant.

While in Honolulu, he also delivered a talk on "Harry Laughlin, Eugenics and the Internationalists" at the Center for Biographical Research at the famed East-West Center on the University of Hawaii-Manoa campus. Part of this talk included work by Michael Roth and Jerritt Farrar, two of Wilson's undergraduate research students.

Wilson came to Truman in 1994 from Yale University school of Medicine where he was a research affiliate in the history of medicine. He earned his bachelor's degree in general studies in human biology from the University of Kansas, his master's degree in medical history from Johns Hopkins University and his doctorate in history and philosophy of science from the University of London in London, England.

1997-98 Endowed Scholarship Winners Announced

The Truman State University Foundation is a not-for-profit organization established in 1980 which encourages, administers, accepts and awards private financial gifts designated to support Truman State University.

Each year the importance of private support is magnified as the cost of education increases. As costs have risen, so too has support from Truman alumni and friends. In fact, the Endowed Scholarship Program is just one of the many programs funded by alumni and friends of the Truman State University Foundation. The scholarship program offers financial aid for tuition, room, board and books to talented and deserving Truman students.

Without the concern and generosity displayed by thousands of contributors, many of these scholarships would not be available. Thus, the Office of Alumni and Development extends its thanks to benefactors, applicants and selection committees for their continuing commitment to the Endowed Scholarship Program.
