HOMECOMING '97

Oh,
the places you'll go!

See p. 2 for schedule of Homecoming events.

Hasenstab Is Alumnus of the Year

When Joe Hasenstab graduated from Truman in 1960 with his bachelor's degree in social science education, those who knew him probably weren't surprised that he became a teacher. However, Hasenstab didn't stop there. In addition to the hundreds of students he taught, Hasenstab went on to train thousands of teachers.

On Oct. 17, Hasenstab will be honored as this year's Alumnus of the Year at the Alumni and Friends Celebration at 6:30 p.m. in the SUB Georgian Room. Tickets for the banquet are available for $13 in the Alumni Office, McClain Hall 202.

While at Truman, Hasenstab was active in Wesley House, Young Democrats, Sigma Tau Gamma, Student Senate, Blue Key and the Historical Society.

Hasenstab began his career in 1965 as a science teacher at Bergenfield High School in New Jersey. He then worked at Westwood High School in New Jersey until 1979. He began his own business, which evolved into Performance Learning Systems, a training design firm in teacher education. PLS trains approximately 20,000 teachers each year through graduate courses.

Hasenstab resides in Nevada City, Calif.

Schindler's List Survivor To Visit

Zev Kedem, one of the survivors on Schindler's now-famous list, will speak at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 20 in the Ryle Hall main lounge about his experiences in concentration camps. "Schindler's List: A Survivor Celebrates Life," is part of the Monday Nights In Ryle series in association with the President's Office and Vice President's Office.

As an 11-year-old boy, Kedem was one of the 1,100 Schindlerjuden whose life was miraculously saved by Nazi industrialist Oskar Schindler. Kedem, now 59 years old, is a documentary filmmaker. He consulted on and appeared in Steven Spielberg's Oscar-winning Schindler's List. Kedem shares the extraordinary true story of survival, camaradery and courage that has inspired the world.

When Nazis entered Krakow, Kedem was one of the "lucky" ones who was sent to Auschwitz. From the time he was eight years old until he was liberated at age 11, Kedem endured the unimaginable horrors of six concentration camps. He calls those years his alternate education. What he ultimately learned was that one's time on Earth is precious and none of it should be wasted.

After he was liberated in 1945, Kedem was sent to England to live in a British orphanage. He studied at Oxford and received a degree in engineering. He married and moved to Jerusalem, where he helped to rebuild the Old City.

While he was in Israel, he became immersed in the ancient history of Jerusalem. In order to tell the stories of the romantic ruins and spiritual atmosphere of the Old City, Kedem became interested in documentary filmmaking. He first produced Only in Jerusalem, and then he produced The Jerusalem Quartet, which was subsequently translated into four languages and distributed to 60 countries. Eventually, Kedem's filmmaking took him to Los Angeles and then to Sacramento.

It wasn't until he was flown to Israel to be involved with the production of Schindler's List that Kedem truly began to deal with the remarkable experiences of his youth. Forced to remember a part of his life that had laid dormant for many years, amazingly, Kedem has found a multitude of reasons to celebrate life. It's that joy that has won him the overwhelming support of audiences around the country.

Copies of Thomas Kenally's Schindler's List will be available at the presentation.

Homecoming 1997

October 13, 1997

Homecoming offers a time to reflect on our fondest memories at the University. For the past 30 years, the Student Union has played a part in many memories of the University's students, faculty and staff. We invite you to join in celebrating the 30th anniversary of the Student Union during Homecoming and throughout the rest of the year.

30th Anniversary Committee:
Jack Bowen, Karinsa Dieckmann, Jerry Findling, Holly Harrell, Russ Harrison, Barb Holthaus, Robert Libby, Vonnie Nichols, Dean Rosebery, Kimberly Urish-Runyon, Linda Yager and LeAnn Yantis

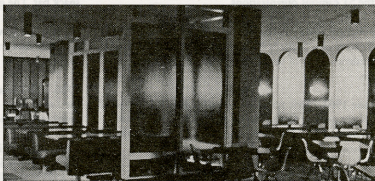

Student Union Turns 30

"The groundbreaking climaxed approximately 30 years of dreaming and planning on the part of the College family for a building to house student activities. It was a day of rejoicing; a Student Union was about to become a reality," said then-President Walter Ely in 1966. The next year the Student Union opened its doors and it has been evolving ever since.

A photo exhibit celebrating the past 30 years of the Student Union will be on display throughout the building Oct. 16-19.

A westward view from Marion Street shows the start of the construction of the third floor.

This view of the snack bar reveals the blue-tinted glass windows separating the room from the Georgian Room.

A Faculty and Staff Re-Union

Faculty and staff who have been part of the University community for more than 30 years can recall many memories about the Student Union.

Larry Boleach, associate professor of health and exercise science and a student here in the 1960s, remembers paying fees for the building. He is proud to have been part of the student initiative.

Marianna Giovannini, Academic Planning Services, recalls "The Spanish Room was a neat place to take a date." Special dinners were served there on weekends.

A Short History of the Student Union

1940s - President Eugene Fair names the hall in Kirk Building "Sociability Hall." It is "a concrete expression of the School's interest in providing facilities to take care of student activities." (President Walter Ryle)

Feb. 19, 1945 - The postwar faculty planning committee recommends in its 10-year program for building and growth the erection of a Student Union building, which should be the center of student activities on campus.

1950s - Senior classes make donations to a Student Union Fund for furnishing a Student Union if and when one is ever built.

1950s - Ryle requests funds to build a Student Union from the General Assembly; the request is denied.

Late 1950s - Ryle asks the 72nd General Assembly for a portion of $1.5 million to build a Student Union Building. The plan is to request a loan from the federal government for the remainder of the amount. The request is denied.

January 1961 - A Student Union promotional committee is formed with representatives from each one of the 51 campus organizations.

February 1961 - A student referendum asking "Am I in favor of a Student Union fee?" is conducted. 1,611 students (70% of the students) voted; 1,425 yes, 186 no.

June 1961 - Ryle recommends a Student Union fee of $8 per quarter to the Board of Regents. The Board approves a fee of $5 per quarter. Four years later the fee is increased to $6.50.

January 1963 - The Student Union appears on a Board of Regents agenda. David Pearce of Pearce and Pearce, Inc., is instructed to develop preliminary plans.

April 1963 - Ryle appoints a Student Union planning committee consisting of students and faculty.

March 1965 - The Board of Regents approves a loan request of $2.3 million from the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

July 1965 - The acquisition of all land necessary for the building of the Student Union is completed.

September 1965 - Approval of the loan is announced through the offices of Missouri Senators Edward V. Long and Stuart Symington.

Fall 1965 - Release of the loan funds is delayed by some "agitators for civil rights, who were organized and directed by one of the campus ministers." (Ryle) Ryle travels to Washington to seek assistance of 9th Director Congressman William Hungate. The funds are released with the help of the Congressman.

December 1965 - The contract is awarded to Thomas Construction Co. of St. Joseph for $2,110,809.39 (excluding furnishing, equipment and decorations).

March 15, 1966 - Groundbreaking ceremonies are held with Student Council President Harry Libby of Shelbina presenting President Ryle with a new College flag. This is believed to be the first official ceremony in the history of the College organized and conducted solely by students. The Student Union is dedicated and the cornerstone is laid on Aug. 9, 1966.

Oct. 20, 1967 - The Student Union officially opens at 10 a.m., 48 days after the celebration of the College's Centennial.

January 1973 - Marion Street is closed and construction begins on the Mall. The Mall and fountain are completed in December 1975.

September 1975 - Professor William Unger is commissioned to paint a mural after the style of Thomas Hart Benton to commemorate the U.S. Bicentennial celebration. It will be located on the upper level of the Student Union.

February 1984 - A study of the feasibility and cost of renovating the Student Union begins. The study concludes that repair and renovation should be done.

Areas targeted included roof repairs, masonry repairs, expansion of the campus bookstore, furnishings in the Georgian and other rooms, the Quiet Lounge and the snack bar. The games area needs improvements in heating, ventilation, and air conditioning, and the equipment in the bowling area is "obsolete." Discussion is also held concerning moving the media from Laughlin Building.

1986 - The first phase of the renovation begins with the Index, Echo, and KNEU offices moving to the lower level of the Union from Laughlin Hall.

1988 - Renovations will cost $1,085,000. Quiet Lounge renovations will cost $785,000. A bond issue of $580,000 will be left for renovations of the Student Union plus parking lot work; the rest of the money will come from institutional reserves. Renovation continues with painting, carpeting and replacement of furniture in the Quiet Lounge and meeting rooms.

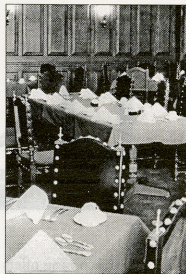

1990 - Planning begins for renovation of the snack bar and, eventually, the games room area.

October 1991 - The renovation of the snack bar, now called the "Mainstreet Market," is completed. Improvements include new lighting and furnishings, removal of a wall (formerly the art gallery) between the windows and the snack bar area and reconfiguration of the serving area.

1991 - The bowling lanes are removed and purchased by H.A. Johnson and Sons Inc. of Newburyport, Maine.

1993 - The contract for the games room renovation is approved by the Board of Governors; on-site construction begins on April 1.

Feb. 4, 1994 - The ribbon-cutting is held for lower level renovation. Improvements include a new games room area, multipurpose space, lounge seating, office space and student organization work areas.

These chairs were brought to the University from Spain for use in the Spanish Room. For a short time after it opened, the Spanish Room served as a community restaurant.

The bowling lanes were removed when the games room was renovated in 1994. Many new electronic games were added.
