President of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis to Speak at Truman

William Poole, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, will visit Truman Feb. 19 and 20 to meet with Truman finance students and deliver the 2008 Joseph Baldwin Lecture at 12:30 p.m. Feb. 20 in the Student Union Building Georgian Room.

The visit, which is being sponsored by Alliant Bank and Truman State University, will mark the first visit of a president of the Eighth District Federal Reserve Bank to Kirksville.

The luncheon will be covered by Reuters News Agency who will transmit Poole's talk to their Washington office so they can report their news on this event over their wire service. Tickets for the noon luncheon, which is open to the general public, are $10 and can be purchased at the door.

On Feb. 19 Poole will give a presentation to Truman economics and business finance classes and then be a guest at a public reception in the Student Union Building Georgian Room B sponsored by Truman and Alliant Bank.

Poole took office in 1998 as the 11th chief executive of the Eighth District of the Federal Reserve. He serves as a voting member of the Federal Open Market Committee, which brings his District's perspective to policy discussion in Washington.

He received his A.B. degree in 1959 from Swarthmore College and an M.B.A. in 1963 and a Ph.D. in economics in 1966, both from the University of Chicago. Swarthmore honored him with a Doctor of Laws degree in 1989.

Poole began his career at the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve in 1964 and worked as a senior economist there from 1969 to 1974. In 1974, he joined the faculty at Brown University in Providence, R.I., twice served as chairman of the economics department, and for five years directed the university's Center for the Study of Financial Markets and Institutions. He was the Herbert H. Goldberger Professor of Economics there when he joined the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

The Eighth District of the Federal Reserve, which is located in St. Louis, covers the state of Arkansas, 44 counties in southern Illinois, 24 counties in southern Indiana, 64 counties in western Kentucky, 39 counties in northern Mississippi, 71 counties in central and eastern Missouri, the city of St. Louis and 21 counties in western Tennessee.

University Conference to Focus on Preparing Students for the 21st Century

Truman's eighth annual University Conference will take place from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Feb. 20. "Preparing Truman Students to Meet the Challenges of the 21st Century" is the theme for the day.

The Conference is an opportunity for the entire University community, faculty, staff and students, to review and collectively address key issues affecting the future of the University and its ability to provide students with the best possible opportunities to learn and develop their talents both inside and outside the classroom. There will be no classes from 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Feb. 20.

Erik Peterson will present the plenary address, titled "Seven Revolutions," at 9:15 a.m. in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall. He is senior vice president at Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS), where he is director of the Global Strategy Institute. Peterson also holds the William A. Schreyer Chair in Global Analysis at CSIS.

Students, faculty and staff can participate in a variety of presentations and discussions during the day, including this year's Baldwin Lecturer, William Poole. He will present "Inflation Dynamics" at 12:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building Georgian Room.

All Conference participants are invited to the Technology Fair in the afternoon on the day of the Conference.

Finally, the Conference will conclude at 4:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building Activities Room with the presentation of the Technology Fair and TruTech awards and recognition for Truman's involvement in the United Way program.

Please register by Feb. 15 by completing the form e-mailed to students, faculty and staff and sending an e-mail to provost@truman.edu.

The Truman Writing Center to celebrate International Writing Centers Association (IWCA) week

Feb. 11-15

The Writing Center joins other centers across the globe in recognition of their devotion to supporting student writers of all disciplines.

Special events will include the chance to enjoy a snack, receive valentines, vote for favorite writing professors and more. Stop by the Center in McClain Hall 303 to join us for IWCA week proceedings and, as always, for your writing questions and concerns.

Physics Colloquium: "Particle Physics at the Energy Frontier"

Featuring speaker Phil Baringer from the Department of Physics and Astronomy at the University of Kansas

4:30 p.m. • Feb. 13
Magruder Hall 1096

This talk will focus on the D0 experiment at Fermilab and the CMS experiment at CERN. Snacks will be provided 10 minutes before the talk.

For more information about the colloquium series and upcoming talks, please visit: <http://physics.truman.edu/colloquia/mainstage.asp>

Student Ambassador Applications Available

Due 5 p.m. • Feb. 15

The Student Ambassadors are a group of approximately 150 students whose goal is to promote Truman State University to prospective students. They are in charge of visiting with prospective students, giving tours of campus and assisting with visit events.

Applications are available in the Office of Admissions, McClain Hall 205. Interviews will be conducted Feb. 19-22 and Feb. 26-29. Contact Jill Graves at jgraves@truman.edu for more information. Applications can be downloaded from the Web at <http://admissions.truman.edu/ambassadors.asp>.

The Career Center Schedules 2008 Spring Career Expo Activities

The 2008 Spring Career Expo is drawing near and will present the perfect opportunity for students to update their résumé and have it critiqued, practice their interviewing skills, and meet with research companies that will be present.

On Feb. 15 and 22, the Career Center will host the SCORE-mock interviewers. Students interested in participating in this effective interview practice need to sign up in person in the Career Center. In order to interview, students must dress professionally and turn their résumé in 24 hours before the interview.

The deadline for applying for all jobs and submitting a résumé on eRecruiting for pre-selection of interviews is Feb. 18. Recruiters will fill the remaining interview slots the day of Expo.

On Feb. 25, the Career Center will be hosting Expo 411 from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. in the Violette Hall commons area. There will be popcorn, soda, music, résumé review, and advice on making the most of the Expo experience.

Also on Feb. 25, speaker Joe Mayne will present a program titled "Establishing Your Personal Brand" at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Building Georgian Room. This event is sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi, Alpha Kappa Psi, Beta Alpha Psi, Phi Beta Lambda, SIFE, National Association of Black Accountants, and The American Marketing Association.

On Feb. 26, the Career Center and Delta Sigma Pi are co-sponsoring two "Map Out Your Future" events. First, Lauren Monks of Edward Jones will give a presentation titled "Backpack to Briefcase" in the Student Union Building Activities Room. Second, Ted Theobald of Eli Lilly will host "How to Approach a Recruiter/Networking" at 6 p.m. in the Student Union Building Activities Room. This popular and well-regarded session provides practical insight into handling different styles of interview questions.

On Feb. 27, students may attend the Career Expo from 1-5 p.m. in the Student Union Building. Students can pre-register for Expo at <http://career.truman.edu/CareerExpo/>.

On Feb. 28, companies will be conducting interviews with students who have applied for their jobs by the Feb. 18 deadline and been accepted for an interview. Many companies will still sign up students to interview on Feb. 27 after meeting them at Career Expo.

For more information, contact 785.4353 or stop by the Career Center Monday-Friday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

The Women's Resource Center Presents 10th Annual V-Week

The Women's Resource Center at Truman State University is proud to present the 10th annual V-Week. V-Week began with the production "The Vagina Monologues" and became a movement centered around replacing Valentine's Day with V-Day and replacing the traditional ideas of romantic love with awareness about sexual violence and abuse of women and girls.

"Until the Violence Stops," the official V-Day film documenting how the Vagina Monologues grew into an international movement, will be shown from 6-8 p.m. Feb. 12 in Violette Hall 1000. At this event, the Women's Resource Center will be collecting donations for Victim Support Services and the Adair County chapter of PFLAG.

A presentation and forum of ideas titled "Meninists: Equality is for Everyone" will take place from 7-9 p.m. Feb. 13 in the Student Union Building Room 322. This forum will raise questions about what the world would be like without sexual violence, how this would affect men and what it means to be a man and a feminist as well as discuss how the Monologues affect everyone, of every class, sex and gender.

The original V-Day, Feb. 14, will include an art workshop from 3:30-6:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building Room 322.

Finally, "A Memory, a Monologue, a Rant and a Prayer" will be presented from 7-8:30 p.m. Feb. 15 in Baldwin Hall Little Theatre. This groundbreaking collection of monologues by world-renowned authors and playwrights promotes awareness about how women and men are affected by sexual violence.

For more information about the events this week, contact The Women's Resource Center or Amber Jones at amj558@truman.edu.

Truman Piano Festival Presents Guest Artist

Esther Wang, assistant professor of piano at Gustavus Adolphus College, will serve as Guest Artist for the 25th Annual Truman Piano Festival.

She will present a solo piano recital at 8 p.m. Feb. 15 in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall. She will also serve as the adjudicator for the high school competition from 10 a.m.-noon Feb. 16, as well as present a master class for Truman piano majors from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

All events of the Piano Festival will take place in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall and are open to the public, free of charge.

NOTABLES

Alpha Phi Omega Epsilon Chapter was one of six chapters nationwide to be recognized two years in a row with the Chapter of Excellence Award at the coed national service fraternity's Region VIII convention Jan. 19-20 at the University of Oklahoma. This annual award is given to recognize chapters with excellent chapter operations, chapters which go beyond the national requirements and reporting, and those which excel in leadership and service.

Marissa LaRose, a senior theatre and communication double major from Ste. Genevieve, Mo., won the first Region 5 Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival held in Omaha, Neb. At the competition, LaRose attended workshops, seminars and performances in an effort to expand her knowledge of theatre and discover the possibilities available in a theatre career. To win the award, LaRose prepared a public relations proposal and organizational plan for Paula Vogel's "How I Learned to Drive" which included budget allocations, letters to patrons and corporations requesting sponsorship, public service announcements, a news release, promotion possibilities and a plan of action for possible complaints of the producing theatre. LaRose and one other student were declared the winners of this conference and received an interview with Terrence Jones, the president and CEO of the prestigious Wolf Trap Performing Arts Organization in Washington, D.C. LaRose now has the potential opportunity to win a coveted paid summer internship at Wolf Trap.

WASHINGTON CENTER INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Nick Barrett, program coordinator for The Washington Center for Internships and Academic Seminars Topics, will speak about summer 2008 London internship opportunities for all majors. This meeting will take place at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 14 in Barnett Hall 1207 and free chocolate will be provided. An additional meeting about post-graduate internship opportunities in Washington, D.C., for May 2008 graduates will take place at 4:30 p.m. Feb. 14 in the Barnett Hall Atrium. Free pizza will be provided. Barrett is a recent Truman alumnus who interned at the Pan-American Health Organization in Washington, D.C. Professors who would like him to speak briefly in their classes on Feb. 14 may e-mail him at NickB@trw.edu. For additional information about the Truman in Washington Program, contact Diane Tobin Johnson at 785.7852 or djohnson@truman.edu.

Career Center Receives First Bulldog Award

The Bulldog Award was given to the Career Center in January, marking the first time the distinction was awarded.

The Career Center was recognized for the exceptional service they provide to the campus community and employers who are interested in hiring Truman students. The career assistants are an integral part of this high service standard and undergo a prestigious training program which has been presented by supervisor Polly Matteson in various workshops at a regional career services conference.

Additionally, the Career Center provides service to all campus departments so they can list positions available for scholarship, work-study and institutional employment on eRecruiting, a Web-based program that allows all campus departments to have equal access
