CAREER EXPO

On Oct. 10, more than 90 different companies and employers will come to campus looking to find talented Truman students to fill a variety of full-time job and internship positions. Expo will start at 1 p.m. and will end at 5 p.m. It will take place on the first and second floors of the Student Union Building.

On Oct. 11, selected companies will conduct interviews. Students who missed the deadline to apply on eRecruiting can visit those recruiters who will be interviewing the next day at Expo and see if they have room on their interviewing schedule.

If you have any questions about Expo, please contact the Career Center staff and career assistants at 785.4353 or come by the Student Union Building on Oct. 10 and 11.

Truman to Welcome Families Oct. 13 to Family Day 2007

A variety of activities have been planned for Truman students and their families this weekend as part of the annual Family Day. Faculty, staff and their families also are invited to meet the visiting families and share in the events.

Following tradition, this year's events are designed to provide families with information as well as opportunities for a wide variety of entertainment from the University.

Some events occur before Family Day officially begins. Author Jason Offutt will share ghost stories about the public places in Missouri at 7 p.m. Oct. 12 in the SUB Conference Room. "Haunted Missouri: A Ghostly Guide to the Show-Me State's Most Spirited Spots," published by Truman State University Press, will be available for purchase and signing at a ghostly special price of $15 each. Truman's Jazz Ensemble and Jazz Lab Band will follow at 8 p.m. in the Baldwin Auditorium.

Activities kick off at 8 a.m. Oct. 13 with coffee and doughnuts on the Student Union Mall.

Author David Nichols will be on hand to sign copies of "Founding the Future: A History of Truman State University," published by Truman State University Press. The book will be on sale at $30 each.

Parent Seminars will follow the reception at 9-9:50 a.m. and 10-10:50 a.m. in the SUB Conference Room and SUB Activities Room.

There will be library tours from 9-11 a.m. at Pickler Memorial Library starting every 10 minutes.

The Truman Baseball Team will also scrimmage at 10 a.m. at the Baseball Field.

The festivities move to Baldwin Auditorium at 11 a.m., where parents will hear from President Barbara Dixon, Student Senate President Matt Szewczyk, a junior English and philosophy and religion double major from Columbia, Mo., and members of Truman's Parent Council. There will be a ribbon cutting for the Baldwin Auditorium renovation. Franklin Street will also perform.

After the assembly, families are invited to a barbecue-style tailgate lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in Red Barn Park. Lunches must be purchased in advance and the cost of the lunch is $6.50 per person.

Students with a meal plan will not need to pay if they present their student ID at the tailgate lunch.

Tickets can be purchased online at <http://store.truman.edu/familyday>. Click on Family Day Tailgate Lunch Tickets to purchase the tickets. For online payments, Truman accepts Mastercard, Visa and Discover credit cards along with bank accounts. Tickets will not be mailed. Please bring a blanket or lawn chairs and look for the tent in Red Barn Park.

The Annual Festival Centennial will take place from 10 a.m.-7 p.m. in the Centennial Hall Courtyard.

The Red Barn Arts & Crafts Festival will take place from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on the Kirksville square.

Truman's Phi Kappa Phi chapter is sponsoring a book drive from 8 a.m. to noon Oct. 13 in the Student Union Building to help the Truman Speech and Hearing Clinic create a lending library for their clients. They are collecting new and gently used book up to the fourth grade reading level. For more information about the book drive, contact Teresa Heckert, professor of psychology, at 660.785.7530 or e-mail heckert@truman.edu.

Families with an interest in sports will get a chance to see the Bulldog football team in action vs. Pittsburg State (Kan.) at 2 p.m. at Stokes Stadium. General admission tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for children under 12 and senior citizens. Reserved seating is $8. Admission is free to students with a Truman ID. Tickets may be purchased online at <http://gobulldogs.truman.edu/store>. For more information, contact the Athletics Box Office at 660.785.4235.

Entertainment continues throughout the night with the Student Activities Board sponsored performance of InPulse, an a capella group, which will be opened by Truman's own True Men. This event will take place at 7 p.m. in Baldwin Auditorium. It is free for students with a Truman ID and $2 for General Admission in Baldwin Auditorium. The whole family is welcome.

Cantoria Singers, Wind Symphony Band and University Orchestra Concert will take place at 2 p.m. Oct. 14 in Baldwin Auditorium.

Log on to <http://www.truman.edu/familyday> for more information.

School of Business Open House

The School of Business will be hosting an open house from 3:30-5:30 p.m. Oct. 17 in the Violette Hall Upstairs Commons. The open house is for all students who are interested in learning more about a major in accounting or business administration, or a minor in business. Refreshments will be available. For more information, contact Marilyn Romine, business academic adviser, at 785.4268 or mromine@truman.edu.

Offutt, Paranormal Author, to Visit Truman State University

Storyteller and author, Jason Offutt will tell ghost stories from his new book, "Haunted Missouri: A Ghostly Guide to the Show-Me State's Most Spirited Spots" at 7 p.m. Oct. 12 in the Student Union Building Room 301.

Offutt's book, published by Truman State University Press, includes haunted stories from Civil War sites, mansions, university halls, the Jesse James Farm and other sites throughout Missouri open to the public. Offutt draws from hundreds of interviews for this serious but witty look at Missouri's haunts, bringing together history, folklore and intrigue.

Offutt is a journalism instructor at Northwest Missouri State University and a syndicated humor and paranormal columnist.

He will be available to sign books at 4 p.m. Oct. 12 at Hastings and at the Truman campus event.

University Gallery Hosts Reception for Exhibit Openings

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present the exhibitions "Ephemera" in the main gallery and "A Strong Foundation" in the side gallery. The Gallery invites the Truman community to a reception at 6 p.m. Oct. 16 to view these engaging collections of work. The exhibits will be displayed until Nov. 15.

"Ephemera" includes the works of artists Ginger Sheridan, John Keech, Alexandra Dooley and Stephen Fessler. In their unique ways each artist explores concepts of the fleeting and insubstantial.

"A Strong Foundation" displays faculty selections from first-year studio foundations courses. These pieces range from still life to figure to 3D design, a cohesive sampling of strong foundation work.

The University Art Gallery is located on the ground floor of Ophelia Parrish. Gallery hours are Monday-Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from noon to 4:30 p.m. Gallery exhibits, talks and most other events are free and open to the public. For more information, contact the interim gallery director, Emily Booth, at 785.5386 or ebooth@truman.edu.

Truman Community can Attend "Generations" Quincy Symphony Concert for Free

Truman is participating in the Quincy Symphony College Ticketing Plan, which allows faculty, staff and students to attend all of the concert events in Quincy, Ill., completely free of charge by presenting their Truman ID at the concert ticket desk.

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra is celebrating "A Legacy of Excellence," the 60th anniversary season. The first performance of the season will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13 at the Morrison Theater, Quincy Jr. High School, 14th and Maine St. in Quincy.

The season begins with "Generations," featuring cellist Harriet Yount, her children Marcia Yount and Letitia Yount Bryant, and violinist Brian Gehrich in a performance of Haydn's "Sinfonia Concertante for violin, cello, oboe, bassoon, and orchestra."

Other works on the program include Brahms' "Variations on a Theme of Joseph Haydn," and Beethoven's "Symphony No. 2 in D Major." Composed in 1873, Brahms' "Variations" was his first work for orchestra in 14 years, and predates his First Symphony by three years. The "Variations" are often regarded as Brahms convincing himself he was ready to write a complete symphony.

For those who are not faculty, staff or students of Truman State University, tickets for "Generations" will be available at the door or may be reserved in advance by calling 217.222.2856. Individual concert tickets will be $15 for adults and $12 for senior citizens, with children under age 18 admitted free and encouraged to attend.

KTRM is currently streaming online 24 hours a day.

NOTABLES

Marijke Breuning, associate professor of political science, has been awarded a contract to edit book series titled "Studies in Foreign Policy Analysis" by Brill Publishers, the Netherlands. She will co-edit the series with Bertjan Verbeek of Radboud University in Nijmegen, the Netherlands. Breuning will have a book out in November titled "Foreign Policy Analysis: A Comparative Introduction." This book is a short text for introductory (lower division) classes on foreign policy analysis.

Kaitlyn Sullivan, a senior agricultural science major from Verona, Wis., along with other young leaders spent the summer working with the Sports Crusaders. This is a nonprofit faith based organization that teaches kids the fundamentals of basketball, soccer, baseball, softball, cheerleading and volleyball. The day begins with a skill specific to the sport being taught, with a devotion time later.

George C. Sumter, a junior computer science major from Warrensburg, Mo., and Matthew Beaky, associate professor of physics, had their paper "Delta Scuti Component Discovered in Eclipsing Binary System BO Her" accepted for publication in the Information Bulletin on Variable Stars. Sumter's research was conducted at the Truman Observatory as part of the summer 2007 Next STEP program.

Truman's Partners in Prevention Coalition (MOPIP) recently awarded incentives to two students who participated in the Missouri College Health Behavior Survey (MCHBS). Students who completed the anonymous online survey in April 2007 were eligible for a drawing for $50 Barnes & Noble gift certificates. The recipients were Brian Easley, a senior agricultural science major from Fulton, Mo., and Dustin Mayfield, a junior biology major from Jackson, Mo.

Scholarship Opportunity for Students Interested in Mathematics, the Natural Sciences or Engineering

Congress presents the Barry M. Goldwater Scholarship and Excellence in Education Foundation which is an educational scholarship program designed to provide opportunities for outstanding U.S. students with excellent academic records and demonstrated interest in, and potential for, careers in mathematics, the natural sciences and engineering.

The scholarship award covers eligible expenses up to a maximum of $7,500 per year. Junior scholarship recipients can expect to receive a maximum of two years support. Senior scholarship recipients are eligible for a maximum of one year of support.

To be eligible, a student must have one or two years remaining before earning a bachelor's degree (as of the end of the current academic year), be a full-time student, stand in the upper fourth of the class with at least a B average grade, and be a U.S. citizen, resident alien, or U.S. national who will pursue a career in mathematics, the natural sciences or engineering.

The Foundation will award scholarships to students in April 2008. The deadline for declaring the intent to apply to a Goldwater Adviser is Oct. 15.

Interested students should contact Dana Vazzana at dvazzana@truman.edu as soon as possible and no later than Oct. 15.

National Conference on Undergraduate Research Puts Out Call for Proposals

The National Conference on Undergraduate Research (NCUR) recently sent out a national call for proposals from students to submit abstracts and applications for the 22nd National Conference on Undergraduate Research to take place April 10-12, 2008, at Salisbury University in Maryland.

Again this year, the Next STEP Office will be coordinating the application process for the Truman campus; only abstracts submitted through this process will be eligible to receive funding to attend the conference from the University. Truman students will use Truman's online application at <http://step.truman.edu/ncur> to submit an abstract for consideration by Oct. 30. Students may start submitting abstracts to Truman's site immediately. Each submission will be reviewed at the departmental level according to a process determined by the department. Departmental reviews will be completed by Nov. 16. Once an abstract is approved by its department reviewers, each student will submit some additional information to the Truman-base Web tool; this information must be supplied by Nov. 27. This additional information will be checked for accuracy by the Next STEP Office, and the Next STEP Office will then submit each approved student abstract to NCUR for their consideration by Dec. 1.

Address any questions about the process to Jennifer Thompson by e-mail at step@truman.edu or Jason Miller by e-mail at millerj@truman.edu.
