TRUMAN ALUMNI ASSOCIATION CREATES SPIRIT DAY APRIL 1

Starting this year, Truman's Alumni Association Board of Directors designated the first Friday in the months of April and October as Truman National Spirit Days.

The Alumni Association is encouraging all alumni, friends and supporters of the University to wear Bulldog purple or Truman apparel and decorate their offices with Truman gear April 1 and Oct. 7.

"Truman's reputation as a premier university has grown to a national scale, and we have fantastic Truman alumni throughout the country and around the world," said Alumni Board President Jessica Hill. "I hope everyone will show they are 'Bulldogs Forever' by participating in National Spirit Day on April 1."

The idea was born from a spirit day initiated by Truman's Kansas City Alumni Chapter. Truman also promotes "Purple Friday" each week on campus. The purpose of National Spirit Days is to promote Truman to prospective students, to give alumni and friends an opportunity to display their pride in their alma mater and to create awareness of the University locally, nationally and internationally.

For more information, visit <http://alumni.truman.edu/NationalSpiritDay.asp>.

"Romance de Tango" to Close Out Lyceum Season

The Kohlenberg Lyceum Series will conclude with a performance of "Romance de Tango" by the Cuartetoango Music & Dance Company at 7:30 p.m. April 5 in Baldwin Auditorium.

In this production, artistic director Leonardo Suarez Paz combines his talents as a fourth generation tango artist, vocalist and violinist. During "Romance de Tango," a chamber concert turns into a theater play, which transitions into sultry dance action and captivating song. The performance tells a story where the music of a magical spirit breathes life and color into those in the shadows of the streets of Buenos Aires at dusk.

The show's cast members have performed on stages worldwide, have been featured in films and television programs and have recorded with top artists of the tango genre.

Tickets are free for students, faculty and staff and will be available starting March 29. Students may pick up their tickets at the Student Activities Board Office in the Student Union Building. Faculty and staff may acquire their tickets at the information desk in the Student Union Building.

General admission tickets for the event cost $7 for all ages and will be available beginning March 29 at the Truman Cashier's Window in McClain Hall or downtown at Edna Campbells. For additional information, visit <http://lyceum.truman.edu> or contact 785.4016.

Theatre Department Presents "Into the Woods"

The Truman Theatre Department will present the musical "Into the Woods" April 13-16. Showtime for all nights will be 8 p.m. and performances will take place in the James G. Severns Theatre in Ophelia Parrish.

In this production, many traditional fairy tales come to life simultaneously. While Cinderella goes to the ball, Jack robs the giant and Red Riding Hood heads to her grandmother's house. At the same time, a baker and his pregnant wife are cursed by a witch who threatens to take their first-born child. In order to break the curse, the baker must go on a journey to obtain the cow as white as milk, the cape as red as blood, the hair as yellow as corn and the slipper as pure as gold for the witch. As all the storylines start to intertwine, things begin to go horribly wrong for the fairy tale characters.

Tickets can be obtained either in advance or first-come first-served at the door. Tickets are free and can be reserved by calling the Box Office at 785.4515 or by dropping by the window outside the James G. Severns Theatre between 10 a.m.-4 p.m. This production will run about two hours and 20 minutes and is appropriate for anyone 12 years of age or older.

Students to Bike Across the US to Build Affordable Housing During Summer 2011

Two Truman students plan to bike across the country this summer to help build affordable housing for worthy families.

Students Scott Denno and Morgan Sachs will be on different bike routes, but both have already begun the training and fundraising process that precedes this undertaking.

Denno discovered the organization Bike & Build on the Internet approximately a year ago, and although he has never biked more than 30 miles at one time, he decided this program would be a perfect thing to do the summer between his junior and senior years.

“I thought it would be a really cool adventure, and I wanted to give back to the community because I’ve been really fortunate with what’s been given to me,” Denno said. “I’ve had some experience with helping homeless people, and it made a big impact on me and I always wanted to do something for them. This would be a way to give back to people who are a little less fortunate.”

Denno will be biking from North Carolina to California, and there will be approximately 13 stops on the route to help build affordable housing and to make presentations to educate the community about Bike & Build’s cause. At each stop, the bikers will stay at locations such as church facilities or YMCA buildings. Other organizations such as Habitat for Humanity will help with the building projects.

Denno said another Truman student who participated in Bike & Build, Brian O’Shaughnessy, has been helpful as Denno tries to raise funds and order biking equipment. Each biker must raise $4,000 before the trips. Some of each biker’s money goes toward safe, reliable equipment for the volunteers, most goes toward supplies to build houses and each biker gets to donate $500 to an organization of his or her choice. Denno has chosen to donate his money to Truman’s Habitat for Humanity organization.

Sachs heard about Bike & Build through Sarah Graham, another Truman student who participated in Bike & Build in 2010. Sachs’ group will bike from Rhode Island to California.

“I’m graduating, and I’m in no hurry to find a big girl job and settle down. [Bike & Build] just seemed like something I could really get on board with,” Sachs said. “I’ve never ridden more than five, six or seven miles at a time, so I’ve definitely been working out and going to the rec and training. It will be scary and I guarantee I can’t train enough for it.”

Despite some apprehension about the physical aspect of the ride, Sachs said the combination of adventure and productivity appeals to her. She is excited about the opportunity to travel and see the United States in a unique way.

For more information about Bike & Build, visit <http://bikeandbuild.org>.

Student Accepted into Princeton-in-Asia Program

Kathrine Olsen-Flaate, an international student from Norway who will graduate from Truman in May with degrees in sociology and communication, has been accepted into the Princeton-in-Asia (PiA) program, beginning Fall 2011.

Olsen-Flaate will be working at an orphanage/NGO in India that serves 35 children living with HIV/AIDS. This post consists of grant writing, strategic planning, office administration, teaching English and caring for the children. In addition to working in the office and writing grants and reports, she will be involved with outreach programming to other communities coping with HIV/AIDS and conducting sexual health education programs in local schools.

Princeton-in-Asia provides transformative, service-oriented experiences for talented graduates and serves the needs of Asia. Over the last century, the organization has achieved this goal by providing talented young people with various opportunities to live and work in Asia. The first PiA “fellowships” consisted of a handful of Princeton University graduates who went to China in the late 1890s to do relief work and teach English. The program has since expanded considerably in size and scope throughout Asia.

In 2010, PiA placed 165 fellows in 18 countries, including Cambodia, China/Hong Kong, Timor-Leste, India, Indonesia, Japan, Kazakhstan, Korea, Laos, Mongolia, Malaysia, Nepal, Philippines, Singapore, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam. Currently, the program offers primarily teaching fellowships with additional fellowships in the fields of journalism, international development and business.

Truman Today is a weekly publication of Truman State University for students, faculty and staff. Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. the Wednesday preceding Tuesday’s publication. Entries should be submitted by sending an e-mail to smiles@truman.edu or by completing a Truman Today form available in the Public Relations Office, McClain Hall 101. The form may also be accessed online at <http://trumantoday.truman.edu/submissionform.pdf>. All submissions are subject to editing for clarity and style. SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The Missouri Insurance Education Foundation will award scholarships to students attending Missouri colleges or universities in a program that could lead to positions in the insurance industry in Missouri. The $2,500 C. Lawrence Leggett Scholarship will be awarded to a junior or senior Missouri resident majoring in insurance or a related area of study in a Missouri college or university. In addition to the Leggett Scholarship, the foundation has established another scholarship available in the amount of $2,000. Application forms are available online at <http://mief.org> and are due by March 31.

Alpha Delta Kappa, Sigma Chapter of Burlington, Iowa, is offering one $1,000 scholarship to Des Moines County undergraduates who will be majoring in education. The applicant must show qualities of leadership, demonstrate success in academics and be involved in extra curricular and/or community activities. While financial need will be considered, it will not necessarily be the primary qualification. For further information, stop by Truman's Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 103. Applications are due by April 3.

The Jack J. Isgur Foundation is accepting applications from students enrolled in the field of education in the humanities, such as literature, fine arts, music, art, poetry and dance. The Foundation awards scholarships to students studying at colleges and universities who indicate an interest in teaching courses in the above-described areas in school districts located in the state of Missouri, preferably rural school districts. The scholarship is available to those at the junior and senior levels, as well as graduate students. For further information or a scholarship application, stop by the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 103 or call 785.4130. Deadline for submission is May 1.

The William M. Reiss Foundation is offering scholarships to graduates of publicly supported high schools located within the city limits of Belleville, Ill. Official college transcripts are required and a copy of the Student Aid Report from the FASFA is recommended. Students from Belleville can stop by the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 103 for more information on how to apply. Applications are due May 1.

The Press Club of Metropolitan St. Louis is inviting media communication and journalism students to apply for scholarships for the 2011-2012 academic year. Students of journalism or related fields who are residents of the St. Louis metropolitan area—City of St. Louis; Franklin, Jefferson, Lincoln, St. Charles, St. Louis and Warren counties in Missouri; and Bond, Clinton, Jersey, Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties in Illinois—are eligible to receive these scholarships. Applications are available online at <http://stlpressclub.org/scholarships.html>. Deadline for applications is May 2.

Time to write a bibliography?

There are several online resources that can help. EndNote allows users to download citations and then it formats them in the selected citation style. Zotero is a similar product, but it only works on the Firefox browser. For examples of how to format bibliographic citations in the three major styles—MLA, APA and Turabian—visit <http://library.truman.edu/weblinks/citing-sources.asp>.
