TRUMAN REMEMBERS

9/11

6 p.m.

Sept. 11

Magruder 2001

Award-winning journalist and scholar, Michael Dillon, from Duquesne University, will present images and words to help the campus community remember, reflect and commemorate the tragic events of Sept. 11, 2001. The presentation will conclude with a candlelight vigil.

Allen Fellowship Nominations Under Way

The Office of the Provost is now accepting nominations for the Walker and Doris Allen Fellowship for Faculty Excellence. The Allens established the Fellowship in 2000 with a $250,000 contribution, one of the largest gifts ever made to the Truman State University Foundation.

The $10,000 Walker and Doris Allen Fellowships recognize outstanding faculty members who have made exemplary contributions to the success of the University and its students. The committee selects up to three faculty members each year. Tenured or tenure-track faculty who have completed at least four years of full-time service at Truman may apply for the fellowships. Truman faculty colleagues or academic departments may nominate eligible faculty. Previous recipients are not eligible.

To date, the program has completed eight years of a scheduled eight-year program and has recognized 24 faculty members with awards. Due to favorable investment returns, the Office of the Provost expects the fellowships to continue until at least 2011.

To nominate an eligible faculty member, send a letter of nomination to the Office of the Provost addressed to the Allen Fellowship Selection Committee.

The letter of nomination should be no longer than one page and should address how the faculty member fulfills the selection criteria. Deliver a signed hardcopy of the letter to McClain Hall 203, send it through campus mail or by fax to 785.7460.

See the website <http://www.truman.edu/pages/131.asp> for details, including selection criteria and list of prior recipients.

Turn in nominations to the Office of the Provost by Sept. 30.

University Classrooms Receive Technology Upgrade

New technology is allowing students to review their latest class sessions on their computers or iPhones.

Thanks to the combined efforts of Truman IT Services, Instructional Design Services (IDS), the Physical Plant, the Student Senate Technology Committee and the University administration, all of whom worked over the summer to install six new SMART classrooms across campus, students can document every sight and sound from the classroom for later viewing. The SMART classrooms, located in Violette Hall, Ophelia Parrish, Barnett Hall and Pickler

Memorial Library, are equipped with the latest SMARTBoard, video cameras, document cameras, microphones and classroom capture technology.

When it's time for class to start, students take a seat behind a strategically placed room microphone while the professor dons a wireless microphone. At the scheduled time, the system begins recording everything. Minutes after class lets out, all the sights and sounds from class are automatically up on Blackboard for streaming or downloading to computers or portable media devices.

Students can flip through the instructor's writings on the SMARTBoard like a notebook, listen to the lecture as an audio-only podcast, or watch a split-screen version with all the notes, diagrams, lectures, video and classroom Q&A.

ITS and IDS staff engineered everything in these rooms themselves at a substantial cost savings and trained more than 60 faculty who will be teaching more than 40 courses in these rooms this semester.

And not just the SMART classrooms got a facelift. ITS upgraded more than 137 classrooms across campus, installing 30 new media consoles, 37 data projectors, 31 laptop connections and 70 presentation remotes to completely equip all classrooms, all in less than 90 days.

There is still work to be done, but Truman students and faculty can take full advantage of more enhanced, up-to-date learning technologies and opportunities today. To request training or information go to <http://classroomcapture.truman.edu/request> or call 785.7750. To schedule the rooms for classes next semester, or meetings/special events anytime, call the Office of the Provost at 785.4105. To provide feedback to ITS on these rooms or other technology-related issues, e-mail itsfeedback@truman.edu.

DEGREE WORKS OFFERS OPTIONS FOR ACADEMIC PLANNING

The Registrar's Office has announced the introduction of Degree Works, its new degree audit system.

Degree Works is replacing the older CAPP Degree Audit System known by many students and faculty members. CAPP will no longer be available.

There are many advantages to this new system. It is easier to read and more intuitive in its navigation. It also has more "bells and whistles" including a planner, a GPA calculator, and a "What-If" option to use when students are considering changing their major/minor.

Faculty can access Degree Works through the faculty tab on TruView. Students can access Degree Works through their student tab. Staff members can access Degree Works through either the faculty or student tab, depending on what is included in their TruView account.

Please note that substitutions and learning plans that were applied in the old system may not yet be updated to Degree Works. The Registrar's Office is updating these manually, but has not yet finished this process. For questions about Degree Works, please contact the Registrar's Office. Faculty may also contact the Registrar's Office if they or their department would like to request a training session in Degree Works.

The Writing Center Now Offers Online Scheduling

The Writing Center now has an online scheduling system. Go to <http://writingcenter.truman.edu> or drop by the Writing Center in McClain 303 for details.

You can also direct questions to 660.785.4484 and write@truman.edu.

Music Department Sponsors Guest Cello and Trombone Performances

Two acclaimed musicians will perform at Truman later this month.

Cellist Gregory Sauer performs Sept. 10 and Trombonist James C. Lebens visits Sept. 18. The setting for each 8 p.m. concert is Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall.

Sauer's concert program includes works by Bach, Corigliano, Schubert and Barber, and will feature Truman faculty member and pianist Yukari Yano.

Sauer currently serves as the principal cellist of the Tallahassee Symphony and assistant principal cellist of the Colorado Music Festival Orchestra. He also performed as principal cellist of the Oklahoma City Philharmonic Orchestra for nine seasons.

Sauer has served as associate professor of music at Florida State University since 2006. He taught 11 years at the University of Oklahoma and received the honor of Presidential Professor during his time there. He also worked as a visiting professor at the University of California at Los Angeles, the Tennessee Governor's School for the Arts and the Hot Springs Music Festival.

As a performer, Sauer has appeared in a variety of musical venues. He performed at the Old First Concert Series in San Francisco, the Crocker Art Museum in Sacramento and the Brightmusic Concert Series in Oklahoma City, in addition to others throughout the United States. He has played concertos with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, the Houston Symphony, the Quad City Symphony, Oklahoma City Philharmonic and the Contra Costa Chamber Orchestra. Sauer, a member of Trio Solis, performed in Carnegie's Weill Recital Hall.

American trombonist, conductor and educator James C. Lebens holds a bachelor of music as well as a master of music degree from the Juilliard School of Music in New York. Following two years of residency at the Banff Festival of Fine Arts collaborating with numerous world class musicians, Lebens began teaching at the University of Washington while earning a doctorate in musical arts from the same institution.

Lebens has served as professor of brass instruments at Laval University in Quebec City since 2003. He is a founding member of the Laval University Brass Quintet and the Quebec Wind and Percussion Ensemble, both of which are ensembles in residence at the university. An active jazz musician, Lebens is lead trombone and has recorded with Quebec's longest running jazz ensemble. He has recorded as a soloist and chamber musician on various labels and has performed as soloist with orchestras and wind ensembles across Canada.

In addition to the Sept. 18 concert, Lebens will conduct a master class at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 16 in Ophelia Parrish 2340.

Admission to both concerts is free.

NSCS Honored with Silver STAR Status

The National Society of Collegiate Scholars recognized its Truman Chapter with Silver STAR status at its annual Convention Honor Gala Aug. 15 in Washington, D.C.

NSCS functions as an honors organization for high-achieving freshmen and sophomores. The student-run Truman chapter is one of more than 240 across the nation.

Truman NSCS officers Kelvin Hodges and Rachel Schaefer traveled to Washington, D.C., to accept the award and a $100 chapter scholarship which will help fund chapter programs for the upcoming academic year.

NSCS awards STAR status to chapters based on chapter program success, community service, member engagement and on-campus involvement. Chapters must also hold an induction ceremony for new members each semester. The status levels of bronze, silver, gold and platinum reflect the quantity and quality of chapter events.

On Truman's campus, NSCS members worked to improve the organization's long-standing programs such as "Planning for College Success," a mentoring program for middle school students and "I Stand for Integrity Week," a week that supports NSCS' national integrity initiative. The Silver STAR status is the highest rank Truman's chapter has received during its nearly ten years on campus.

In addition, the Truman chapter also held an induction ceremony for new members, created an on-campus membership recruitment campaign and sent chapter officers Hodges and Schaefer to attend NSCS' leadership training summit.

Truman Today is a weekly publication of Truman State University for students, faculty and staff. Deadline for entries is 5 p.m., the Wednesday preceding Tuesday's publication. Entries should be submitted by sending an e-mail to trmlies@truman.edu or by completing a Truman Today form available in the Public Relations Office, McClain Hall 101. The form may also be accessed online at <http://truman.today.truman.edu/> submissionform.pdf. All submissions are subject to editing for clarity and style. ## NOTABLES

The Kappa Nu chapter of Beta Alpha Psi, the international accounting and finance honorary society, once again attained superior status. Students Eric Bozarth, Joe Pomictor and Laurie Turner attended the annual meeting in Brooklyn, N.Y., in August as representatives of Truman's chapter. While in Brooklyn, Pomictor presented information about Kappa Nu's VITA program.

Tom Capuano, professor of foreign language, had his introduction to the 16th century Spanish apothecaries' handbook "Compendio delos boticarios" reprinted in "Saladino d'Ascoli: La Scienza della salute e l'interculturala."

Taner Edis, associate professor of physics, published "Modern Science and Conservative Islam: An Uneasy Relationship," in "Science and Education."

Michael Goggin, associate professor of physics, and collaborators at the University of Queensland recently had their paper accepted for publication in the New Journal of Physics. The paper, entitled "Complementarity in variable strength quantum nondemolition measurements," is a result of work done on sabbatical at the University of Queensland in Brisbane, Australia.

Warren Gooch, professor of music, had two of his musical compositions selected for performance at the 2009 joint conference of the Region V Society of Composers and the Iowa Composers Forum. Gooch's composition MIMOS for solo violin will be performed by Katie Wolfe, professor of violin at the University of Iowa. EMERGENCE for trumpet and piano will be performed by trumpet professor James Sherry of the University of Dubuque. The conference, which takes place Oct. 8-10, is hosted by Clarke College in Dubuque, Iowa.

Kyung-Chun (Andrew) Mun, professor of finance, authored a book chapter titled, "The 9-11 terrorist attacks and emerging stock markets," in "The Impact of 9/11 on Business and Economics: The Business of Terror."

Assistant professors of biology Tim Walston and John Ma, along with other biology faculty members, including Brent Buckner, Jose Herrera and Diane Janick-Buckner, recently received a $196,000 grant from the National Science Foundation's Major Research Instrumentation program to purchase a confocal microscope. The microscope will be used in research in biology and mathematical biology projects from both Truman and A.T. Still University. In addition, students in at least eight classes will have the opportunity to learn how to use the microscope.

David Wohlers, professor of chemistry, attended the 238th meeting of the American Chemical Society, held in Washington D.C. Aug. 16-20, as the Mark Twain Local Section Councilor. Wohlers participated in various assigned committee activities and the main council session. He also presented a poster, "Teaching chemistry to a blind student in a liberal arts chemistry laboratory course using Vernier software and probes." Jessica Michael, a 2009 Truman graduate now enrolled in the Master's of Arts in Education program, served as a sighted assistant to the blind student, Brandi Jenkins, also a 2009 graduate. Michael appeared as coauthor on the poster.
