Northeast Named Among "Best Buys"

Northeast Missouri State University was rated 16th in Money magazine's third annual college guide of best buys. The survey listed America's 100 best college buys. The guide will be available later this month.

The list was led by Rice University, New College, University of South Florida, University of Washington, Hanover College, California Institute of Technology, Trenton State College, Georgia Institute of Technology, Rutgers College, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, New Mexico Tech, University of Illinois-Urbana/Champaign, State University of New York-Binghamton, Auburn University, University of Texas-Austin, and University of Kentucky. Yale University ranked 17th.

Inspiration of Dead Poets to Visit Northeast

The teacher who inspired the popular movie "Dead Poets Society" will present a lecture on the Northeast Missouri State University Campus on Sept. 16. The lecture titled, "Seeing The Extraordinary In The Ordinary," will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Ryle College Main Lounge. He will be available for the signing of his latest book "Let It Ride" immediately following the lecture.

Pickering is the inspiration for the character for the character (played by Robin Williams) after he had taught at a private school where Tom Schulman, then 15, was a student. Schulman went on to later write the screenplay for "Dead Poets Society." He has been a teacher for more than 20 years, teaching in schools such as Dartmouth College and the University of Connecticut. He holds degrees from University of the South, Cambridge University and Princeton University.

Pickering has been awarded numerous fellowships and editorships including the Fulbright Lectureship. He has had more than eight books, 25 journal articles and 100 familiar essays published, and his book reviews have been published in numerous periodicals including the New York Times and the Washington Post.

Pickering's dynamic character and outstanding speaking ability has been recognized by the New York Times, Poughkeepsie Journal, UCONN Advance and the Gaston Gazette to name a few.

Pickering will also be the keynote speaker for the Faculty Development Committee and the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education (FIPSE) Conference at 3:30 p.m., Sept. 17 in the Alumni Room of the Student Union Building on the NMSU campus.

Pickering's lecture is open to the public and the conference is open to all faculty. Both events are free of charge and sponsored by the Ryle Residential Colleges in conjunction with FIPSE of NMSU.

Sports Publications Receive Citations of Excellence

Northeast Missouri State University was one of eight universities in Missouri to receive Citations of Excellence in the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Publications contests for the 1991-92 academic year.

NMSU received six citations in all including: Best in the Nation (Division B) Cross Country Brochures (men); Best in the Nation (Division B) Softball Brochures; Best in the Nation (Division B) Football Brochures; Best in the Nation (Division B) Tennis Brochures; Second in the Nation (Division B) Soccer Brochures; and Second in the Nation (Division B) Cross Country Brochures (women).

Northeast's winning sports publications were produced by: Bill Cable, director of sports information; Melissa Ware, publications coordinator; seniors Ken Clayton and M.L. Stark-Hinkle and junior Rob Schneider, all student assistants for the Sports Information Office during 1991-92.

CoSIDA sponsored 69 publication contests in 27 different categories. The contests range from specific sport brochures and programs to posters to special publications and programs to conference publications.

There were 219 institutions or organizations that received awards in 1991-92 led by the University of Tennessee which won 19 awards. The University of Florida earned 13 awards with Kentucky and West Virginia capturing nine each and Kansas and Notre Dame eight apiece. Among non-NCAA Division I institutions, Ithaca led with nine awards followed by Ohio Wesleyan with eight and Central Missouri State, Moorhead State, Northeast, Albright, and Loras with six each.

CoSIDA was established in 1955 to serve sports information directors and others associated with the promotion of college athletics. Currently there are more than 1,600 CoSIDA members throughout the United States and Canada.

Lyceum Presents River City Ramblers

The Northeast Missouri State University Lyceum Series will begin its 1992-93 season with the River City Ramblers Jazz band in concert at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 14, in Baldwin Auditorium.

Founder and trumpet player, Bob Ceccarini fulfilled his dream to assemble a group of the finest traditional jazz musicians from the St. Louis riverfront. He selected five performers who were not only highly regarded by their fellow musicians, but performers who, as individuals, had a following among jazz enthusiasts. The group is currently making its first recording and has completed a one-hour television special.

Included in the band are: Ceccarini on trumpet, David "Red" Lehr on sousaphone, John Becker on banjo, Patrick Joyce on piano, Joe Buerger on drums and Scott Alberici on clarinet. They are internationally known for their mixture of talent, wit, and entertaining style.

The program consists of a two-hour concert of Dixieland music with one intermission. Free tickets will be available for students, faculty and staff in the NMSU Business Office beginning Sept. 9.

The remainder of the University's '92-93 Lyceum Series includes: Soviet journalist Yelena Khanga on Sept. 22; Smoke on the Mountain, featuring the Arkansas Repertory Theatre on Oct. 22; The Kansas City Symphony on Nov. 19; Amahl and the Night-Visitors, Christmas opera; Actor Al Eaton's presentation of a portrait of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on Jan. 18, 1993; The Pickle Family Circus on Feb. 15 & 16; Steel Magnolias, the play on Mar. 3; The State Ballet of Missouri on Mar. 22.

Center for Service-Learning

The Center for Service-Learning has public service volunteer listings for individual students of all majors, clubs, Greek organizations, and other student groups for the current semester. Public service is an excellent opportunity to gain workplace experience/career information, meet community people with similar interests, help those with special needs and gain a perspective of how one community responds to the real problems facing real people. It is an unparalleled way to give of yourself to help someone else enjoy a better life. Organizations can use service projects to establish positive community relations and a source of organizational fellowship while fulfilling philanthropic goals.

A partial listing of public service opportunities follows. Service projects and opportunities for individuals:

- Instructors, coaches, and officials for organized youth activities including soccer, flag football, gymnastics, racquetball, dance, basketball, and acrobatics. (Both male and female volunteers are needed.)
- Individuals willing to assist in organizing and running league activities in sports for school-age youth. (Male volunteers are especially needed.)
- Male and female volunteers to "adopt" a kid, provide companionship and be a role model for children with special needs. (Male volunteers are especially needed.)
- Male and female volunteers to assist with crisis line and safehouse operation for battered women and children.
- Volunteers to assist 4-H and other youth programs as leaders, project organizers, and project supervisors.
- Tutors for elementary, junior high and high school students who are classified as "at-risk." They need help and understanding of successful role models.
- Companionship and assistance to elderly in nursing homes and low-income elderly housing project.
- Assistant to hospital chaplain.
- Volunteers to work at animal shelter.
- Assistant to the executive secretary of the United Way.
- Assistant for the chairperson of the United Way.
- Volunteers to work with children and help staff at Headstart program.
- Assist at public library with clerical duties and providing reading programs for children.

Service projects suitable for student groups/organizations:

- Fund-raising for local animal shelter to purchase food and supplies for the shelter.
- Clean-up/pick-up of bleacher and stadium area after home football games.
- Provide entertainment and recreational activities for residents of local housing projects for elderly.
- Fund-raising activities for United Way.
- Conduct one-on-one storytime activities for children at public library.

Individuals interested in securing a volunteer placement and organizational representatives wishing to select a service project should call 785-4265 for an appointment.
