Bulldog Football Program Receives $50,000 Gift

Mark and Jill (Marthys) Schell of Lohman, Mo., recently made a cash gift of $50,000 in support of Bulldogs Forever – A Campaign for Bulldog Football. Mark was a member of the Bulldog football program while at Truman. He played tight end for the team and was a regular starter at that position. He is currently a member of the campaign's volunteer steering committee.

Mark graduated from Truman in 1997 with a Bachelor of Science in business administration and is currently the executive vice president for production at Diamond Pet Foods, Inc. Jill graduated from Truman in 1998 with a Bachelor of Science in exercise science and is currently a stay-at-home mother who enjoys taking care of their two boys, Sam and Charlie.

The football renovation campaign is designed to raise private gift support to assist in the renovation and enhancement of the Stokes Stadium facilities. The project includes installation of lighting and synthetic turf, renovation of the kennels and the construction of visiting bleachers.

This significant gift from Mark and Jill Schell increases the lead commitment total for the campaign to approximately $110,000. Private support from this campaign, coupled with a portion of the resources from the recently passed student athletic fee, will assist the University in returning Stokes Stadium to a first-class facility.

Recycling Program Places Third in RecycleMania

The recyclables have been gathered and weighed and Truman earned third in the overall "Per Capita Classic" portion of the recent RecycleMania contest.

From January 27 to April 5, 400 colleges and universities nationwide competed to reduce, reuse and recycle in the RecycleMania 2008 contest. More than 58 million pounds of recyclables and organics were recovered from the participating schools.

Schools were divided into two divisions, those participating across their entire campus (Whole Campus Division) and those competing with only a subsection (Partial Campus Division). Within each division, schools chose to participate in any of eight categories. Truman participated in the "Per Capita Classic" category for the whole campus, which measures the largest amount of recyclables per person.

Truman's Recycling Center accepts paper, plastic, aluminum cans, all glass, corrugated cardboard, printer cartridges, books and brown paper bags. Drop-off bins are conveniently located in various places in each building on campus. They are placed in major traffic zones and are available at all hours buildings are open.

The Truman State University Recycling Center provides services for the surrounding communities. People can drop off their recyclables at Truman's Recycling Center located in Building No. 4 Dulaney Complex at the south end of the Truman campus across from the rappelling tower. The Center accepts items Monday-Friday from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

More information about the RecycleMania results is available at <http://www.recyclemaniacs.org>.

Truman State University Art Gallery Presents 2008 Spring B.F.A./B.A. Thesis Exhibitions

The University Art Gallery at Truman State University is delighted to present the two final exhibits for the spring semester, a sampling of the bodies of work created by some of the finest student artists in the Truman community. These exhibitions are in partial fulfillment of the Bachelor of Fine Arts or Bachelor of Arts degrees. The Gallery invites everyone to attend a second reception at 6 p.m. April 29 to view these exciting collections of work from fresh, new talent.

The first B.F.A./B.A. thesis exhibition, "UtopianAquaticEclecticExtraordinaryEnergeticPhantasmagoricalInexplicableInteractive-SereneYouthfulPreposterousSmorgasbord," includes a range of media and methods from painting to ceramics to site-specific installation from student artists Amy Aiken, Amanda Carron, Emily Dahmer, Melissa Fryer, Whitney Smith and Katie Welsh. Among the concepts being addressed are the exploration of light, figure and submersion; the psychological terrain of interpersonal relationships within the context of viewer participation; and the underlying nature of horses.

This exhibit is on display from April 21-25.

The second B.F.A./B.A. thesis exhibition, "Figuratively Speaking," addresses a number of subtle topics in work created by student artists Shelly Forbis, Erin Fox, Shaun Gaynor, Julie Pincus and Ellis Ray. Nontraditional, contemporary portraiture is investigated through the use of current digital media processes and found objects; literature is explored by recontextualizing sentences from novels and archaic fairy tales. Elaborate, delicate and unexpected environments are uncovered and considered through paint and print. This exhibit is on display from April 28 to May 2.

The University Art Gallery at Truman is located on the ground floor of Ophelia Parrish. Gallery hours are Monday-Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from noon-4:30 p.m. Gallery exhibits, talks and most other events are free and open to the public. For more information, contact Emily Booth, interim gallery director, at 785.5386 or ebooth@truman.edu.

Kirkville Chapter of Sigma Xi Hosts Speaker

The Kirkville Chapter of Sigma Xi, the scientific research society, will host a presentation by Clark Spencer Larsen at their Annual Spring Banquet, Initiation and Lecture at 7:30 p.m. April 24 in the Student Union Building Georgian Room C. Everyone is invited to attend.

Larsen is a distinguished professor of social and behavioral sciences and chair of the department of anthropology at The Ohio State University. He is also a research associate at the American Museum of Natural History.

Larsen is an internationally known authority on bioarchaeology, the study of human remains from archaeological settings. His research is primarily focused on bicultural adaptation in the last 10,000 years of human evolution, with particular emphasis on the history of health, well-being and lifestyle in native and non-native populations in the Western Hemisphere.

The banquet and awards ceremony will precede the lecture at 6 p.m. in the Student Union Building Georgian Room B. Tickets are $12. Please R.S.V.P. to John Ma at johnma@truman.edu or Patricia Sexton at psexton@atsu.edu.

SAB Brings Comedian, Concert to Campus

The SAB Spring Concert will feature hellogoodbye at 8 p.m. May 1 in Pershing Arena.

Student tickets are on sale for $5 each. Student with ID must be present at time of purchase.

General admission tickets are on sale, and are also available online for $10.

Contact SAB at 785.4722 for more information.

Meet the Firms Accounting Career Day

The School of Business is hosting its second annual Meet the Firms from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. April 25 in the Student Union Building Activities Room. The event is solely focused on careers related to accounting. Sophomore, junior and senior accounting students will have the opportunity to mingle and meet with firms. Refreshments will be provided. Contact Lana Dowell at ldowell@truman.edu for more information.

NOTABLES

On April 11 and 12, the Academic Competition Organization competed in a nationals tournament held at Washington University in St. Louis. Truman's team consisted of: Kent Buxton, a junior from Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Tyson Koenig, a sophomore from Perryville, Mo.; Jacob Thomeczek, a sophomore from Columbia, Mo.; Ryan Stander, a sophomore from Liberty, Mo.; and William Regot, a junior from Jefferson City, Mo. Truman's team did well, placing seventh out of 32 teams in their division. This represents the highest placing Truman has ever had at this national-level quiz bowl tournament. En route to their seventh place, Truman defeated teams from such schools as Carnegie Mellon, Stanford, Harvard, MIT and Washington University.

The team representing Truman's graduate program in communication disorders (CMDS) won the "Quest for the Cup" at the Missouri Speech-Language-Hearing Association's annual meeting. This is a "quiz bowl" type competition among all eight CMDS master's programs in the state, and the traveling trophy, earned in overtime against the University of Missouri-Columbia, is currently exhibited in the Speech and Hearing Clinic.

Michael Bump, associate professor of percussion studies, recently served as guest artist/teacher March 30-April 2 at The Florida State University. The visit was co-sponsored by the FSU College of Music, Pearl/Adams Percussion, Inc., and Innovative Percussion, Inc. During the three-day residency, Bump taught graduate seminars in percussion literature and pedagogy, presented master classes on timpani performance, conducted private lessons, and presented a solo percussion recital. The recital included two of Bump's compositions: "Studie I" for solo timpani and "Studie II: Ephytic" for solo timpanist and percussion quartet. The latter also featured members of the FSU Graduate Percussion Quartet.

Ronald A. Knight, professor emeritus of mathematics, has had his research paper on initially deformed flows accepted for publication in Topology Proceedings in 2008.

Marc Rice, associate professor of musicology, will participate in the National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Research Institute, "African American Struggles for Civil Rights in the 20th Century." The Institute is sponsored by the W.E.B. Du Bois Institute at Harvard University, and will be hosted by Henry Louis Gates Jr. It will be conducted between June 25-July 30.

John Robert Sturgeon, a senior accounting and economics double major from Omaha, Neb., has been selected to receive a national Phi Kappa Phi Graduate Fellowship in the amount of $5,000.

Wynne Wilbur, associate professor of art, has been invited to be one of 40 international artists working at low temperatures who will be featured in a book called "Masters:Earthenware," to be published in the fall of 2009. She also had images of her work selected for a book to be released this summer called "500 Plates, Platters and Chargers."

David Wohlers, professor of chemistry, recently traveled to Columbia, Mo., to be the keynote speaker at the Children's Vision Summit organized by the Missouri Blind Task Force, an advisory group to the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. He also participated in hands-on laboratory activities.

Phi Beta Kappa to Welcome New Initiates

The Delta of Missouri chapter of Phi Beta Kappa will initiate new student members April 27. Phi Beta Kappa is the nation's oldest undergraduate academic honor society in the liberal arts and sciences.

The initiates include: Jennie Leigh Adolf, Jarrett Lee Anderson, Lindsay Marie Blair, Benjamin Steven Church, Danielle Renee Dale, Loren Michelle Depenthal, Kelsey Marie Doerr, Christopher George Dove, Lee Anne Flagg, Kaitlin Elizabeth Gallen, Jessica Mary Gasch, Daniel Patrick Glossenger, Audra Kaye Glofety, Arthur David Gregg, Ann Elizabeth Harman, Alexander Joseph Hayden, Emily Christina Hopson, Seth Green Howdeshell, Laura Eve Hurlburt, Jeremy David Jones, Justin
