Chemistry Program Ranks Nationally as a Top Producer of ACS-Certified Graduates

The Truman Chemistry program recently tied for 20th place nationally for the amount of American Chemical Society (ACS)-certified degrees awarded in the 2008-2009 time frame.

Truman's total of 32 certified degrees exceeds all but one of the Ivy League schools as well as a number of highly regarded liberal arts schools.

Truman's program alone awarded approximately the same number of accredited degrees than the entire rest of the MIAA conference (33) and just two less than the combined total (34) of all four University of Missouri campuses.

Since Truman was measured against larger schools, members of the University Chemistry Department conducted a comparison study based on the ratio of the number of certified degrees awarded to the undergraduate enrollment for each of the top 25 schools. When school size was taken into consideration, Truman's program came in at No. 4 among the ranked schools, trailing only the U.S. Naval Academy, the University of Chicago and the University of Virginia.

The complete rankings can be found in the Aug. 23 issue of "Chemical and Engineering News."

Visiting Author to Discuss Border Issues Oct. 7

Novelist, artist, poet and children's author Benjamin Alire Sáenz will visit Truman Oct. 7-8 for a series of events.

Sáenz will present "Juezes Doesn't Stop at the Border" as a part of the Global Issues Colloquium from 7-9 p.m. Oct. 7 in Baldwin Hall 176. He will talk about his personal experiences living near the U.S.-Mexico border, and will follow the presentation with a book signing.

The next day, Sáenz will give a reading and book signing from 1:20-3 p.m. in the Student Union Building 3200 along with Truman professors Joseph Benevento and Monica Barron.

The event will be in recognition of Hispanic Heritage Month and Truman's new Bachelor of Fine Arts in Creative Writing. Sáenz will close his visit with a discussion and reading entitled "Live from the Border" from 7-8 p.m. Oct. 8 in the Student Union Building Alumni Room.

Sáenz teaches creative writing at the University of Texas at El Paso. His critically acclaimed first novel, "Carry Me Like Water," was published in 1995 and awarded a Southwest Book Award. The novel was re-issued by HarperCollins and was awarded a Latino Literary Award for Best Novel in 2006.

Strategic Planning Advisory Committee Forums

The Strategic Planning Advisory Committee (SPAC) will host several forums during the next few weeks. The forums will give students, faculty and staff opportunities to provide the committee with additional input regarding Truman's priorities for the next five years. The schedule is as follows:

Faculty	Staff	Student

3:30 p.m. • Oct. 13 SUB Alumni Room	10:30 a.m. • Oct. 21 SUB Alumni Room	8 p.m. • Oct. 19 SUB Activities Room

If you are unable to attend the forums, visit <http://spac.truman.edu> and respond to the questions online.

Detours Magazine is accepting entries for its biannual photo competition. The contest, themed "The Forgotten," is free and open to all amateur photographers.

Entries must include the location of the photo, the photographer's name and contact information and a short caption. Photos, along with the necessary information, may be submitted by e-mail to photo@detoursmagazine.com or mailed to Detours Magazine, 100 E. Normal, Kirksville, MO 63501.

All entries must be received by Oct. 15. The winner will be selected and notified in October and the photo will be featured in the Winter 2010 issue of Detours Magazine.

Detours is a travel magazine produced by Truman students. It focuses on the tri-state area of Missouri, Iowa and Illinois, publishing twice annually. In March, Detours received the Apple Award for best general interest magazine by the College Media Advisers.

For more information and to see past photo contest winners, visit <http://detoursmagazine.com>.

Forensics Team Experiences Strong Start

The Truman Forensics Team recently enjoyed a successful season opener, earning several final round finishes while qualifying for the national tournament.

The team traveled the weekend of Sept. 24 to Bowling Green, Ky., for the Western Kentucky University Forensics Fiesta, taking part in two individual events tournaments and one debate tournament over two days.

At their first collegiate competition, as well as the first tournament of the weekend, freshmen AJ Taula and Arielle Long-Seabra took fifth place in Varsity Duo. Junior Andrew Grojean took sixth place in Varsity Impromptu and sophomore Jessica Petrie was awarded the championship trophy in Varsity Impromptu.

Truman's team also did well at the second individual events tournament. Petrie took fourth place in Varsity Impromptu and Taula took fourth place in Varsity Dramatic Interpretation.

"Our squad was facing Alabama, Ohio and Western Kentucky, who are arguably the top three teams in the nation," Russ Luce, assistant director of forensics, said. "For our smaller squad to face them in preliminary and out rounds and beat them on a consistent basis says a lot about both the talent the team has and how much work they have put into getting ready for this tournament."

The debate squad also broke three competitors to elimination rounds. Freshman John Carney advanced to quarterfinals in Varsity Lincoln-Douglas Debate where he met his teammate. In this situation, rather than competing against each other, the higher seed advances.

Freshman Myra Milam advanced to teammate, senior Dylan Clark, in the varsity semi-final round. Milam advanced again to the final round, taking second place overall at the tournament. Clark and Milam also earned fourth and second places respectively in the individual speaker category.

The individual accomplishments of each team member also contributed to team awards, including a fifth place overall award in debate. The individual events team earned third place for the second half of the tournament. These results culminated in the team taking a second place combined award for the entire weekend.

"This was a great way to start out the year," Luce said. "We faced some great competition both in individual events and debate and had a great showing. Getting these results at a tournament this difficult is an indicator of continued success throughout the year."

For more information about forensics or to express interest in competing, contact Kristi Scholten, director of forensics, at kscholten@truman.edu.

McNair Scholars Present at MKN Conference

Fourteen McNair Scholars traveled to Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 24-26 to attend the 14th Annual Missouri-Kansas-Nebraska (MKN) Heartland Research Conference.

Nine scholars were afforded the opportunity to present the results of their research conducted during the summer.

The Heartland Conference program included individual student research presentations, a graduate school recruitment fair and speakers who provided information about application and strategies for success in graduate school. In addition, the scholars toured the nearby Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art.

Homecoming Parade Deadline

The deadline to sign up to participate in the Truman Homecoming parade is Oct. 11 at 5 p.m. The entry fee is $15 and you may register at <http://homecoming.truman.edu>. For more information, call the Center for Student Involvement at 785.4222. If you are a car enthusiast and have an interest in paying to participate in this parade, James Guffey at jguffey@truman.edu would be interested in talking with you.

NOTABLES

Daniel Mandell, professor of history, had his review of Daniel H. Usner, Jr.'s book "Indian Work" published in "Reviews in American History."

Lloyd Pflueger, professor of philosophy and religion, had his article on the history of the Indian concept of god, "Ishvara," published in "Brill's Encyclopedia of Hinduism," Vol. II.

Barry Poyner, professor of communication, and Abigail Richardson, a communication and political science double major, presented a research paper entitled "Preparing Students for Academic Audiences" Sept. 25 at the Speech and Theatre Association of Missouri Convention at the Lake of the Ozarks. Richardson was also awarded a scholarship from the association for her desire to teach communication on the secondary level.

Sigma Sigma Sigma Rocks for Philanthropy

During the week of Sept. 27, members of the sorority Sigma Sigma Sigma rocked in rocking chairs 24 hours a day for a week straight in order to raise money for the Robbie Page Memorial, which gives grants to programs for children's play therapy. A different fraternity paired with the girls for one-hour shifts, which took place by the fountain on the mall. Senior Kristen Sparks, with the help of Ben Moehle of Sigma Phi Epsilon, raised the top amount at a single shift with approximately $75. As of Oct. 4, the total amount raised for the week was $1033.39. Pictured from left to right are senior Zach Brune of Pi Kappa Phi and sophomore Shannon Colligan of Sigma Sigma Sigma.

FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS

Applications are now available for Foundation scholarships that have not yet been awarded for 2010-2011. They can be found online at <http://secure.truman.edu/support-s/> and are due by midnight Nov. 1. To learn more, go to <http://truman.edu> and click on "Student Life/Money/Foundation Scholarships." Applications for the majority of Foundation scholarships will be available in February for the 2011-2012 academic year.

FOUNDATION STUDY ABROAD SCHOLARSHIPS

Applications are available in the Center for International Education office (Kirk Building 114) for the Summer 2011 Foundation Study Abroad Scholarships. Ten $1,500 scholarships will be awarded based on financial need, statement of purpose and academic achievement. Applications are due in the CIE office by noon Jan. 28, 2011 and recipients will be notified by the end of February.

LEARNING TECHNOLOGIES ONLINE COURSES

Interested in taking all or part of your courses online? Schedule an appointment with an Instructional Designer in the Learning Technologies Team by calling 785.7750. By serving as a resource to expand and explore the pedagogical efficacy of new as well as tried-and-true instructional technologies, the Learning Technologies Team (LTT) endeavors to aid the already rich learning environment of Truman's classes.

ATHLETICS FOOD DRIVE

Truman's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee is conducting food drives at several upcoming Bulldog home games.

Fans are asked to bring a non-perishable food item or a monetary donation to a table at the event, which will qualify them for a drawing to win memorabilia from Bulldog athletic teams.

Upcoming events include:

- 7 p.m.
Oct. 20
Volleyball vs. Emporia State
- 12 p.m.
Oct. 24
Men's Soccer vs. Newman
- 12 p.m.
Oct. 30
Women's Soccer vs. Washburn
- 2 p.m.
Nov. 6
Swimming vs. Missouri State

The food drive is one of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee's yearly projects and takes place in conjunction with other MIAA schools.

All food collected will be donated to local food banks for the upcoming holiday season.

NOTES

A Peace Corps information session will take place at 7 p.m. Oct. 5 in the Student Union Building Alumni Room.

"Design, Fabrication and Test of a Microsatellite" will take place at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 6 in Magruder Hall 1000 as a part of the Physics Colloquium. The event will feature Henry J. Pernicka of the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering at the Missouri University of Science and Technology. Snacks will be provided five minutes before the talk.

Obi Nwakanma, professor of English and linguistics, will present "Aesop, or the Atlantic Sources of Greek Thought," for the Folklore Colloquium at 5:30 p.m. Oct. 6 in Ophelia Parrish 2113.

President Paino and Student Body President Isaac Robinson will be hosting budget town hall meetings at 7 p.m. Oct. 6 and Oct. 12 in the Centennial Hall Main Lounge and the Ryle Hall Main Lounge, respectively. Students will have the opportunity to hear the latest on the University's budget crisis, give opinions on how to best solve this problem and discuss any other issues.

The Student Health Center will be offering walk-in clinics for seasonal flu vaccines from 1-3 p.m. Oct. 7. The vaccine includes protection against the H1N1 virus. The cost is $15 and charges will be billed to the student's account. No insurance billing will be done and no appointments are required.

The Global Issues Colloquium will present "Juarez Doesn't Stop at the Border" at 7 p.m. Oct. 7 in Baldwin Hall 176.

The Environmental Campus Organization will sponsor "No Impact Man" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 7 in the Student Union Building Georgian Room A. Visit <http://noimpactproject.org> for more information about the program. Discount 2009 and 2010 Earth Week T-shirts will be available for $5.

Informational Meeting Scheduled for McNair Program

The McNair Program is one of eight TRIO programs funded by the U.S. Department of Education to provide students from disadvantaged backgrounds with effective preparation for doctoral studies. Specifically, it supports first-generation and low-income college students and students from groups that have been historically underrepresented in graduate education. Truman students interested in learning more about eligibility for, application to and benefits of the McNair Program are invited to attend one of the following meetings:

3 p.m. • Oct. 5

Student Union Building Conference Room 3000

2:30 p.m. • Oct. 6

Violette Hall 1400

Students are also invited to visit <http://mcnair.truman.edu> or contact Sarah Hass, program coordinator, for additional information. The deadline to submit McNair applications is Nov. 10.

CRITICAL LANGUAGE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM APPLICATION NOW OPEN

The United States Department of State has announced the scholarship competition for the 2011 Critical Language Scholarship (CLS) Program for overseas intensive summer language institutes in 13 critical need foreign languages. CLS institutes provide fully-funded group-based intensive language instruction and structured cultural enrichment experiences for 7-10 weeks for U.S. citizen undergraduate and graduate students. Interested applicants should review the full eligibility and application information on the CLS Program website at <http://clscholarship.org>. Arabic, Chinese, Persian, Russian and Japanese institutes have language prerequisites, described at <http://clscholarship.org/applicants.htm#prerequisites>. While there is no service requirement attached to CLS Program awards, participants are expected to continue their language study beyond the scholarship period, and later apply their critical language skills in their future professional careers. Students in all disciplines are encouraged to apply by the deadline of Nov. 15. To access the online application or for more information about the CLS Program, visit the CLS website at <http://www.clscholarship.org> or e-mail cls@caorc.org.

An exhibition featuring Truman faculty members Matthew Derezinski, James Jereb and Russell Nelson will be on display through Oct. 8 at the University Art Gallery. Hours are 8:30 a.m.-7 p.m. Mon.-Thurs., 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Fri. and noon-4:30 p.m. Sat.
