State Ballet to Perform

The Lyceum Series will bring the State Ballet of Missouri to Northeast's stage at 8 p.m., Nov. 7, in Baldwin Auditorium. Free tickets for students, faculty and staff will be available beginning Nov. 4 at the Student Activities Board Office, SUB. Financial assistance for this presentation has been provided by the Missouri Arts Council, a state agency.

Reconstructed in 1980 under the artistic direction of Todd Bolender, internationally known dancer and choreographer, the State Ballet of Missouri has assembled a corps of dancers of exceptional talent and virtuosity. They will perform five ballets from their extensive repertoire: Grand Pas De Deux, Hongrois (from Raymonda), Flowers, Grand Tarantella, Classical Symphony and A La Fancax.

Flowers, which chronicles the roller coaster ride of Janis Joplin's life, is making its Kansas City debut at the State Ballet of Missouri. Just one year after Joplin's death in 1970, choreographer Alvin Ailey expressed his empathy for

Winners announced

David Miesner, junior finance major, is recognized by President Russell G. Warren for winning the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity Zollinger Scholarship. The scholarship is given to the Outstanding Sophomore Scholar within individual chapters. The award is based upon leadership positions and capabilities within Sigma Phi Epsilon and throughout campus and grade point average.

Introducing . . .

David Fortney

Instructor of Communication/Index and Echo Adviser

Media Center,
Student Union Building
785-4415

Experience:

- ◀ Editor of Soldier Magazine at the Pentagon
- ◀ Military correspondent and army officer at Vietnam

- ◀ General assignment reporter, copy editor, Latin American correspondent, and feature writer for the Chicago Tribune
- ◀ News editor, Radio Free Europe, Munich
- ◀ News editor of American Hospital Publishing
- ◀ Investigative reporter in Darmstadt, Germany
- ◀ Reporter and photographer, Kirkville Daily Express
- ◀ His first book, Mysterious Places, is coming out later this year

Education:

- ◀ University of Missouri School of Journalism Master of Arts in Journalism
- ◀ Northeast Missouri Teachers College Bachelor of Arts

What are your responsibilities as the Index and Echo adviser?

It is my responsibility to advise the students in putting out the publications and to oversee the whole process while teaching them as well. The idea is to make it clear that these are students' publications and I'm only their adviser—they decide what goes into the publications.

What are your goals for the year?

Instead of having a "college newspaper," it is our hope to have a newspaper of professional calibre for an audience that is interested in the college community, so we can also focus on how the outside community affects the college. A lot of college papers look like college papers, but we would rather have ours look like a professional paper.

With the Echo, I'd like to teach the students more about magazine writing because the Echo is basically a one-shot magazine.

I hope that I can get across to the students the personal excitement and fulfillment that can come with this kind of work.

How will your past experience help you here?

It lets me help the students see the relationship between what they are doing in class and what they will be doing out in the real world. I've spent 29 of the last 30 years working for newspapers and magazines, so I'm trying to help them see the important things they will need to know how to do to perform on the job. I think journalists, in many ways, are interpreters because they have to get information from experts and make it meaningful to the everyday reader. I also think that journalism could basically be defined as a continuing education, because a journalist has to keep learning new things all of his or her life. And I think that journalism fits in really well with what the University's mission is evolving toward right now, because journalists have to learn to synthesize materials from so many different fields and then translate them into meaningful terms for the reader.

What would you like readers of the Index and Echo to know?

A lot of readers don't understand what it's like to work for deadline. This field has really fast turn-overs. The reporters can't always write, re-write, and keep verifying information until they get it perfect—they have to get their stories in by deadline because news is perishable.

What is your most memorable experience in your career?

Well, actually there are two. One would be going to Brazil and writing about a floating hospital on the Amazon River and all the great things doctors from around the world are doing for free. This was an assignment from the Reader's Digest.

The second one would be covering an earthquake in Nicaragua. When I was working for the Chicago Tribune, the editor called me up when I was in Kirkville and said "Nicaragua is on fire. Do you want to cover it?" So, I had to figure out how to get there from here.

Smithereens Concert Set For Nov. 9

The Smithereens, who will appear in concert at 8 p.m. in Baldwin Auditorium on Nov. 9, officially began 11 years ago. Their three-chord electric guitar pop has been described as "impossibly winsome, memorable and rapturous without sacrificing Andy rock 'n' roll energy." The band has referred to their electrifying sound as "AC/DC meets the Beatles" due to their crunch of guitars over intense pop melodies.

Tickets for the concert are available in the SAB Office, SUB, for $16, general admission; $13 students, faculty and staff; and $11, SAB sticker holders. Mastercard and Visa will be accepted.

PROPOSITION

WHAT IS PROPOSITION B?

Proposition B is a plan that will provide $385 million for elementary and secondary education, higher education and job development programs in Missouri.

- ▶ $190 million for elementary and secondary education to be used to reduce class size, encourage parent involvement through the Parents as Teachers program, improve vocational education, increase aid for disabled and disadvantaged students and to ensure that all school districts will guarantee the basic skills of their graduates.
- ▶ $190 million for higher education to be used to repair and maintain buildings, fund financial aid and scholarship programs for students, purchase up-to-date laboratory and computer equipment, replace retiring faculty and strengthen graduate programs. It also improves statewide coordination of programs.
- ▶ $5 million for job development and training programs.

WHERE WILL THE MONEY COME FROM?

- ▶ A 3/8-cent state sales tax increase.
- ▶ A five-cent per pack increase in the cigarette tax and a 10 percent tax on other tobacco products.
- ▶ A 1.5 percent state corporate tax on corporations earning more than $100,000.
- ▶ A cap on income tax deductions. Proposition B would place a cap of $7,500 on the amount of federal income tax individuals can deduct when calculating state taxes. Joint filers would have a cap of $15,000. This has little impact on households with income levels below $60,000. Most of the revenue would be generated by households with income levels over $200,000.

For a family of four with a household income below $32,500 (the average Missouri income), Proposition B would actually lower state income taxes. This is because Proposition B increases the dependent deduction from $400 to $800. The average monthly cost will be $.42.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS?

- ▶ Smaller class sizes
- ▶ Additional money for the Parents As Teachers program
- ▶ Improved vocational education training
- ▶ Increased aid for disabled and disadvantaged students
- ▶ Funding for Children At Risk programs

WHAT DOES IT MEAN FOR NMSU?

Proposition B would provide needed resources at NMSU to:

- ▶ Fund financial aid and scholarship programs for students. (25,000 students who qualified for aid last year in Missouri were denied assistance due to lack of funds. In addition many scholarship programs received no funding from the state, resulting in no scholarships for students who qualified.)
- ▶ Repair and maintain buildings. (NMSU has $10 million in deferred maintenance and repair on educational buildings alone.)
- ▶ Recruit and retain top faculty.
- ▶ Strengthen NMSU programs that meet the state's most pressing needs.
- ▶ Purchase up-to-date laboratory and computer equipment.
- ▶ Make yet another significant advancement toward becoming the best undergraduate public university in the nation.
- ▶ Control increases in tuition costs.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN FOR THE STATE?

- ▶ Proposition B will strengthen the quality of education Missourians receive -- from kindergarten through graduate school.
- ▶ It will help Missouri compete in the emerging global economy by providing a pool of highly skilled, well-trained workers for existing business and industry and to attract new economic enterprises to the state.
- ▶ In other states that have made substantial commitments to funding education, the result has been an improvement in the economic health of the state and its ability to compete nationally and internationally.

WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP AS A MISSOURI RESIDENT?

VOLUNTEER! Education supporters across the state are being asked to join the campaign to inform voters about the benefits of Proposition B through efforts being organized by Quality Education, a group comprised of elementary, secondary and higher education and leaders from government and business. In the meantime, here's what you can do to get involved: ▶ First, make sure you are properly registered to vote. Deadline for voter registration is Oct. 16. ▶ Second, volunteer! ▶ Finally, VOTE ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5! And bring two or three friends with you to the polls!

"Passage of Proposition B will give Missouri the opportunity to become a national leader in providing quality education and in becoming an international competitor. Education and economic development are inseparable." —Russell G. Warren, President, Northeast Missouri State University

Career Expo 1991

Career Expo is scheduled from 3-6 p.m., Nov. 7, in the SUB. Students are encouraged to come to the CPC to research potential employers early! More than 120 employers will be attending to speak with all students about full-time employment, internships and career information. Plan on attending one of the Expo Tips workshops held from 4-4:30 p.m. on Oct. 31 and Nov. 5 in Violette Hall 120 for further information.

Notables

Benjamin Bennani, associate professor of English, and Catherine Warner Bennani, instructor of English, are co-authors of an article titled "No Ceremony for Men in the Sun: Sexuality, Personhood, and Nationhood in Leslie Marmon Silko's Ceremony and Ghassan Kanafani's Men in the Sun." The article is included in Critical Perspectives on Native American Literature, a book of essays from Three Continent Press, Washington D.C., 1992.

Marlow Ediger, professor of education, has had the following articles accepted for publication: "Criteria in the Higher Education Curriculum," in The Journal of Higher Education; "Professors as Advisors," in The College Student Journal; and "The Affective Dimension in Reading," in The Journal for Affec-tive Reading Education.

Karen Hirsch, assistant professor of education, presented a poster-session at the 1991 Rural Education Symposium. Her paper "Disability Rights and Independent Living Movements" was published in Reaching Our Potential: Rural Education in the 90's: Conference Proceedings by the National Rural Development Institute, 1991.

A review written by Ruth Towne, professor emeritus of history, on Bigger Than Life: The Creator of Doc Savage by Marilyn Cannady appears in the October 1991 issue of the Missouri Historical Review.

Upward Bound has received an additional $38,000 from the Department of Education to supplement their current grant for this fiscal year. As a result, the project will expand its services to three new area schools and will serve 17th additional students.

NMSU Places First in Forensics Tournament

Northeast Missouri State University won the novice debate division of the Virginia Craig Speech Tournament held Oct. 18-20 at Southwest Missouri State University, Springfield.

Kelly Rudd, sophomore undeclared major and Craig Schallert, freshman pre-law/political science major, defeated a team from Northwest Louisiana State University in the finals. The novice division is for those students in their first year of debate.

"Right now the Midwest is the most competitive debate region in the country," John Hart, director of forensics, said. "Winning this competitive of a tournament serves notice that our young debaters will be a force to be reckoned with."

In the varsity division, Erik Hansen, senior political science major, and Michael Blotevogel, sophomore political science major, were awarded an octofinalist trophy.

The Northeast debate team is currently ranked 25th in the nation, according to the Cross Examination Debate Association. This semester's debate topic is "Resolved: That U.S. colleges and universities have inappropriately altered educational practices to address issues of race or gender." Debate teams have to be prepared to debate both sides of the topic.

Earlier this semester, Northeast placed third in debate sweepstakes and third in overall sweepstakes at the University of Missouri-St. Louis Gateway Forensics Tournament held Oct. 4-6. Fifty-two schools participated in the tournament.

Hart was pleased with the team's finish at the St. Louis tournament. "UMSL had national calibre competition, so we are very happy with a third place debate and overall team finish," Hart said.

Sweepstakes awards are based on points awarded for every win by a contestant or team from each school.

Individual performances for Northeast included Troy Skinner, freshman political science major, who finished second in the Lincoln-Douglas debate and received an excellent rating in impromptu speaking. Heather Stanton, sophomore political science major, and Stephanie Bahleda, sophomore pre-law/English major, were quarterfinalists in novice debate competition. Stanton was also sixth place speaker in novice.

Northeast students also received awards at other tournaments this semester. At the Sunflower Debate Tournament, held at Johnson County Community College, Overland Park, Kansas, Shane Kapler, freshman psychology major, placed third in Programmed Oral Interpretation. Tracy Christeson, freshman undeclared major, placed fourth in Dramatic Interpretation and fourth in Poetry. Tim Neagelin, senior communication: speech major, placed sixth in both Dramatic Interpretation and Poetry. Steve Gillen, freshman undeclared major, Julie Sharp, junior communication: media major, finished sixth in Dramatic Duo.

At Loras College, Christeson finished second in Dramatic Interpretation and Juanita Williams, sophomore communication: media major, was awarded fifth place in Programmed Oral Interpretation.

the talented, tragic superstar by interweaving his own creative choreography with her music and the music of Pink Floyd in this unique piece.

This is the Ballet's 10th season of producing and presenting professional ballet, and their eighth performance on the Northeast campus. The company, formerly known as the Kansas City Ballet, was renamed the State Ballet of Missouri in 1986, due to an expanded scope of operations and the building of a performing calendar in St. Louis.

Notes

The Tylenol Scholarship Fund will award 10 $10,000 and 500 $1,000 scholarships on the basis of leadership activities, academic record and a clear statement of educational and career goals. Application deadline is Dec. 1. Application information is available in the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 100.

Renewable scholarships for full-time students interested in pursuing a career in graphic communications are available from the Graphic Arts Technical Foundation. Applications are available in the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 100. Application deadline is March 15.

The faculty associates and staff of Missouri North Residential College announce a call for papers for this year's Environmental Forum. They are seeking papers from NMSU faculty, staff and students that concentrate on an environmental issue, topic or theme. While presentations will be scholarly, they should not be overly technical. They will accept five papers to be read, one each, in the months of November, December, January, February and March of the 1991-92 academic year. Dates, times and locations will be announced at a future date. Presentations should be 30-40 minutes in length, with anticipated 20-30 minute question-and-answer period to follow. Proposals should be 150-250 words. All proposals will be read by the Environmental Forum Committee. An honorarium of $100 will be awarded for those proposals accepted for the forum. Proposals should be submitted to: Dr. Dana Delaware, college professor, Missouri North College, 106 Missouri Hall, NMSU. Deadline for submissions is Oct. 31.

Auditions will be held for the Northeast Concert Band during the week of Oct. 28. Rehearsals will begin Nov. 4. For more information, contact the band office at 785-4436.

Accounting majors may apply for scholarship awards of $250 to $5,000 from Independent Accountants International. Recipients must be enrolled full-time. Applications are available in the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 100. Application deadline is Feb. 28, 1992.

A $500 scholarship/summer internship program is available from the Missouri Department of Conservation for students majoring in some field of natural resource management, particularly for minority students. Information and applications are available in the Financial Aid Office, McClain Hall 100. Application deadline is March 1, 1992.

The NMSU Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of William Fitzsimmons, will present its Fall concert, at 8 p.m., Oct. 30, in Baldwin Auditorium. The program consists of the Overture to the Barber of Seville by Rossini, Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor by Bach as transcribed by Leopold Stokowski and the Howard Hanson Romantic Symphony. The concert is free and open to the public.

Proposition B Volunteer Recruitment and Mobilization Team reminds all faculty/staff volunteers to please return volunteer kit information to McClain Hall 106.

Applications for the Board of Governors Student Representative will be available beginning Nov. 4 in the Student Senate Office, SUB. Applications will be due on Nov. 13.

Certified notaries are being sought to assist the Student Voter Registration committee with absentee voting. Notaries interested in helping should contact Teri Brickey at 785-5705.

COMM 170 peer tutoring is being offered by Lambda Pi Eta speech communication society from 6-10 p.m., every Tuesday until the end of the semester, in Ophelia Parrish 116. Any COMM 170 student wanting to work on their speeches with upper-level communication students are encouraged to attend.

Game Fish Management BIOL 310 and Basic Aviation IS 390 are being offered during the Spring 1992 semester but were not listed in the schedule of classes. Game Fish Management is a two semester hour second block course. The instructor is Hollis Crawford; the class meets from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. The course covers major freshwater game fish, environmental requirements and harvest methods. This class may not be used as a biology elective only as an unrestricted elective. Basic Aviation is a three semester hour course. The instructor is Mark Thompson; the class meets from 7-10 p.m. Thursday. The course offers pre-flight instruction in civil air regulations, theory of flight, power plant and meteorology.

E-Mail Express, a faster service for faculty and students wishing to check their electronic mail, is now available at the Academic Computing Lab, Violette Hall 248. A terminal will be placed outside the lab for those persons wanting to check their electronic mail. This service is available during regular lab hours.

The 1991-92 Blue Key Student Phone Directories are on sale at the Campus Bookstore and Patty's University Bookstore. Cost is $2. Directories include on and off-campus phone numbers, a Kirksville map and coupons.

The Teacher Technology Center, Violette Hall 244, has extended hours. The Center will now be open from noon-5 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Applications for early retirement at the end of the current year should be filed before Nov. 30. This deadline applies to the original program for a single lump sum payment to be made in FY 1991-92. Applications for the optional program with supplemental payments to begin next year should be filed by April 30, 1992. For more information, contact the President's Office, McClain Hall 200.
