Sept. 9, 1991

▶ VOL. 15 NO. 4 ◀

Missouri Rep To Present Billy Bishop, Host Workshops

Canadian WWI flying ace Billy Bishop is played by Benjamin Evett in Missouri Repertory Theatre's production of "Billy Bishop Goes To War." The pianist in the background is Michael Deep, who also portrays Billy at an older age.

Northeast will open its 1991-92 Lyceum Series when Missouri Repertory Theatre presents the unique and humorous musical biography Billy Bishop Goes To War at 8 p.m., Sept. 19, in Baldwin Auditorium. Free tickets for students, faculty and staff will be available beginning Sept. 16 in the Student Activities Board Office, SUB.

The Rep will hold two workshops on campus Sept. 19 as well. At noon "An Actor Prepares" will be presented in the Acting Studio, Baldwin Hall 177. "Meet the Cast—A Panel Discussion with Cast and Crew" will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Baldwin Hall (178) Little Theatre. For more information about the workshops, contact John Schmor, assistant professor of drama, Baldwin Hall 101, 785-4519.

Northeast feels budget cutbacks

Northeast stands to receive $2,473,758 less than appropriated and budgeted for the 1991-92 year. Originally general revenue of $27,732,705 was appropriated for the University. The Governor vetoed 1 percent, then 5 percent was withheld in July, now another 3 percent may be withheld. Northeast's state funding for the 1990-91 year totaled $26,082,610. If all the proposed cuts materialize, the 1991-92 appropriation will be $25,258,947—almost $900,000 less than Northeast received last year.

The new withholding is tied to the desegregation of Kansas City schools. In 1988 the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the state's costs related to capital improvements in the Kansas City case would be limited to $150 million.

However, on Aug. 23, 1991, the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Missouri ordered the state to make additional payments. According to Tony Moulton, budget director for Gov. Ashcroft, an estimated additional $71.4 million will be required.

According to NMSU Controller Judy Mullins, the withholdings will cut the University's budget by $2,473,758. Mullins said that the University had planned for a 3 percent withholding, but it looks like an additional $1.6 million more than had been planned will have to be cut.

A Sept. 6, 1991 St. Louis Post-Dispatch article by David Aguillard indicated the cut is called a withholding because the money would be restored if revenue increased. "If carried out, the cuts could be made by Oct. 1," said Moulton.

For now, Northeast has put a freeze on equipment purchases. Mullins said the University will try to prevent any inconvenience to students, faculty and staff as much as possible.

"We are studying other options, and we are going to present them next week. Obviously, we're looking at the budget to see what savings we can find. . . . We're probably going to reduce operating budgets," Mullins said. "But," she added, "there are just possibilities."

Mullins said that Northeast will try to find the cuts where it will hurt the least, but that "it will hurt because we don't have a lot of fat." She said that students, faculty and staff need to understand that this is a very lean year.

BILLY BISHOP GOES TO WAR

Billy Bishop Goes To War is a lighthearted view of one man's experience in war and offers insights into the circumstances that make young warriors callused to their survival and ambivalent about their plight. Beneath the humor of Billy Bishop is a sensitivity about war and killing that is both touching and stirring.

Canada's most decorated war hero and Britain's second best "flying ace" William Avery Bishop was born in 1894 and raised in a small town in the province of Ontario. Playwright John Gray says Bishop was neither an outstanding student nor a leader, and is described best as a juvenile delinquent who became the toast of London.

After enlisting in the army for something to do, Bishop was often plagued by questionable mishaps. He spent many training days hospitalized, but was finally sent to Europe as part of the British cavalry, like many of the other Canadian boys who were recruited to fight against the Germans.

Bishop grew tired of his horse and the mud and saw flying as a way to end his struggle with both. Although he suggests in the play that he was never a great pilot, he nevertheless found ways to shoot down 72 enemy aircraft, one less than the top British ace. Such heroics earned Bishop a place in Canada's history books and a career commission with the Canadian armed services.

Missouri Repertory Theatre tour performances are made possible in part by funding from Missouri Arts Council, Mid-American Arts Alliance, Arts Midwest, Western States Arts Federation, North Carolina Arts Council and Hallmark Cards, Inc.

Changes in Meal Programs

Beginning this semester, Northeast students are making a choice between two meal plan options. Before, on-campus students and those off-campus students with Validine meal cards were limited to the 20-meal-per-week plan. This semester, both a 20-meal plan and a 15-meal plan are being offered for students. The 15-meal-per-week plan allows the student to miss any five meals per week. This will be helpful to those students who normally do not eat every meal, those who miss meals due to conflicts with meetings and other activities and those students who leave on weekends.

During the summer, a letter was sent to all students with Validines explaining the option and asking the students to decide between the two plans. Currently, 353 students are on the 15-meal plan. Students may switch between the plans at the end of the semester. The 15-meal plan costs $540, and the 20-meal plan costs $580.

Another change in the meal plans will occur after the completion of the food court, the Main Street Market, in the Student Union snack bar. Approximately one week after the food court opens, students will be allowed to use their Validines in the snack bar during certain hours of the day with a specific dollar limit. More information will be sent to students as renovation comes to completion.

Dennis Markeson, director of Professional Food Management, feels that students will appreciate the changes because they allow the students more choices and flexibility.

Notes

► The MORENET computer network is now available linking the 12 state-supported institutions of higher education in Missouri. MORENET is partially funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation and provides high-speed access to the INTERNET and BITNET. Using MORENET, faculty and staff can log-on to library catalogs at other campuses, send electronic mail via BITNET, subscribe to electronic magazines and access supercomputer resources. An on-site workshop on faculty use of MORENET will be held in late September. Information regarding this demonstration and other computer training seminars will be distributed to faculty in the near future.

► The Wesley Foundation is sponsoring a float trip Sept. 20-22. Interested persons should register by Sept. 13. The cost is $20 per person. For more information, call Wesley House at 665-2331.

► United Campus Ministries is sponsoring a progressive dinner Sept. 15. Interested persons should sign up at one of the campus houses by Sept. 10. The cost is $2 per person. For more information, call Wesley House at 665-2331.

► Applications are now available at the Student Senate Information Center, SUB, for Student Senate external positions including: Community Liaison, Undergraduate Council Representatives, Instructional Services Committee Representatives and Council on Teacher Education Representatives. These positions are open to any Northeast student. For more information, stop by the Information Center or contact Amy Enderle at 627-2528. Applications are due Sept. 10.

► S.T.A.R., Students to Assist Recruitment, is now accepting applications. S.T.A.R. volunteers spend one evening a week (usually 2 hours) in the Admission Office making phone calls to prospective students answering questions about Northeast. Applications may be picked up in the Admission Office, McClain Hall 205 and are due by Sept. 13. For more information, contact Maureen Brusca at 785-4336.

► The Tai Chi Club is offering beginning instruction in Cheung Man Ching form Tai Chi Wednesdays and Sundays, 8-9 p.m., Pershing Building 225, the Dance Studio. The cost is $10 per semester. For more information, contact Kimberly Tomes at 627-0405.

Professor Sheds "Light" On Assessment

Nationally known Harvard researcher Richard Light spoke on "How Students Learn in College" on Sept. 5. The workshop was sponsored by the Division of Education and the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Light gave three presentations throughout the day based upon "The Harvard Assessment Seminars," his three-year study of how college students learn.

Light's study is based upon interviews with 385 Harvard students which were conducted by a team of faculty members and other students. The students interviewed were asked questions about all aspects of college life such as "How do you study?" and "If you had a serious problem, what adult at Harvard would you turn to?"

The faculty at Harvard used information gained in the study to add to their classes. For example, during the study, Light found that most science students who regularly studied with other people in their class did better in the class and enjoyed the class more than did people who studied alone. Many science professors at Harvard then set up study groups and encouraged their students to attend them.

The interviewees also found that 85 percent of students prefer to have frequent tests or quizzes rather than having one or two major tests in their classes. This way, the learning is reinforced more often and their class grade does not depend upon one or two tests. In response to this, more professors at Harvard give their students more frequent assignments.

From the study, Light discovered that students who are involved in extracurricular activities perform better academically and are happier than students who are not involved. Students at Harvard are encouraged by their advisers to get involved with a non-academic organization because students who are involved in activities feel more involved with the campus.

In order to have a successful assessment program, according to Light, several things must take place. There must be both faculty and student involvement. Also, the college must learn to appreciate the small positive changes brought about by assessment, not just the major changes. Finally, the college must create an environment which encourages assessment and use the assessment to improve the quality of education.

Introducing ...

Lisa Sprague, Director of Safety and Security

Safety and Security
Building
785-4176

Professional Experience:

▶ Director of Public Safety (Stetson University - DeLand, Fla.), Police Department Lieutenant (Cornell University - Ithaca, N.Y.).

Education:

▶ University of Miami-Coral Gables, Fla., Bachelor of Science in Education/Counseling

What are your goals for the year?

My main goal for this year is to provide educational programs for students, faculty and staff. By this, we hope the university is more aware of what services Safety and Security offers. We want to be a part of the education process by teaching individual safety to everyone. We also hope to be more public relations-oriented by providing public safety pamphlets and information tables throughout the year.

What should our campus know more about?

First of all, since I have been here, I have noticed that there are a lot of bicycles on campus, and they should be registered. Many stolen or abandoned bikes are turned in to our office and if they aren't registered, we don't know who the owner is. Also, all stolen bikes should be reported when missing. Second, students should be aware that we do have an escort service on campus. I would like to see this utilized in the future.

As director, what are your responsibilities?

I am responsible for supervising the safety and security staff, the sexual assault officers, the residence safety patrol, the state fleet vehicles, the locksmith and university parking. (Parking isn't the most popular job, but somebody has to do it!) Since I've been here for only one month, I'm still discovering what my responsibilities are, too.

What new services will Safety and Security offer this year?

We have a new program with sexual assault officers. These officers are willing to talk to anyone who wants to know more about self-safety. They will also let individual students know what route to take if a student is assaulted or raped.

Notables

► Jim Barnes, professor of comparative literature, has received news that one of his long poems, "An ex-Deputy Sheriff Remembers the Eastern Oklahoma Murderers," will be set to music by Ronald Caltabiano, a New York composer. The piece is scheduled for presentation by a New York-based music ensemble, New Renaissance Chamber Artists, in the fall of 1992. In addition, seven of Barnes' poems are to be used in a song-cycle that Caltabiano is composing for New York tenor Paul Sperry and the Boston-based ensemble Alea III, for presentation late this year. Barnes gave a reading performance of several poems from his new book, The Saudust War, at the Writers' Coalition, Riverfront Series, in Kansas, Sept. 5.

► Robert Schnucker, professor of history and religion, gave two presentations at Juniata College in Huntington, Penn., Aug. 23. Schnucker spoke to the faculty and administration of the college on how they could improve their instruction so they can be more competitive in the academic marketplace. Schnucker was invited to speak by the Vice President for Academic Affairs at the college, who has been aware of Northeast's efforts in value-added education and assessment.

► John Ishiyama, assistant professor of political science, presented a paper titled "Electoral Rules, Political Party development and the transition from Authoritarianism: the case of democratization by collapse" at the panel "When does reform become revolution: the Socialist States" at the national meeting of the American Political Science Association in Washington, D.C., Aug. 28-Sept. 1. He also chaired a panel.

► Michael Kacir, testing coordinator, presented a session "The Outcomes Assessment Experience" at the Third Annual Midwest Professional Association of College Testing Programs (MPACT) Conference, Aug. 15, in Chicago. The session described how outcomes assessment impacts the life of the test center coordinator.

► Barb Krudop, senior accounting major from Hillsboro, Mo., was recently elected Sigma Tau Gamma National White Rose Queen at the Sigma Tau Gamma National Conclave in Chicago. Krudop is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and Cardinal Key. She has also been active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the NMSU diving team.

► Juliana Moore, assistant professor of flute, was one of five flutists invited to judge the International High School Soloist Competition sponsored by the National Flute Association in Washington, D.C., Aug. 22-25. She also judged the 1991 Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest in Austin, Texas, June 1-3. In addition, Moore served on the faculty of the Summer Flute Program at the University of Wisconsin at Whitewater in July.

► Pat Thornton, senior marketing major from Independence, Mo., was one of five finalists for the Sigma Tau Gamma Ellsworth C. Dent National "Man of the Year" Award. He is active in the Student Senate, Interfraternity Council, and the Index staff. Thornton has also chaired Greek Week and Alcohol Awareness Week.

► Joseph W. Rhoads, associate professor of industrial science, presented a paper "Professional Responsibilities/Attitudes" to the New Teachers Institute at the University of Missouri-Columbia, Aug. 1.

► The Instructional Technology Center (formerly Audio-Visual) has been awarded a $39,000 grant for the 1991-92 through the Missouri VIDEO grant program. Funds will be utilized to acquire a second satellite dish and upgrade video instruction facilities on campus. The VIDEO grant program provides funding to elementary and secondary schools as well as higher education institutions in Missouri, based on revenues from the sales tax on rentals of video tapes. The NMSU grant proposal was written by Carol Race, coordinator of the center.

► Betty McLane-Iles, associate professor of French, was elected for a third semester as convener of the French Section at their Aug. 29 meeting.

McLane-Iles returned last month from helping NMSU students in the exchange program she founded at Laval University in Quebec, Canada. Tim Farley, assistant professor of language and literature, was elected as the convener for the January 1992 meeting. Greg Stewart, assistant professor of French, and Ron Manning, assistant professor of foreign language, were welcomed to the section.

► Robert Schnucker, professor of history and religion, and book editor of The Sixteenth Century Journal, will be attending The Sixteenth Century Studies Conference will be held in Philadelphia, Oct. 17-19. For 22 years, Northeast has provided support for the organization and The Sixteenth Century Journal as well as being the home of the organization. Over 500 people will attend the conference and about a half-dozen members of the Northeast faculty are active in the organization. For more information, contact Robert Schnucker at 785-4665.
